U.S. AIRMEN BREAK SUSTAINED FLIGHT RECORD

Today

Assorted Chinese Fights.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

FIERCE fighting, Chinese killing Chinese, in Shanghai, Hangchow, Nanking, Amoy and other places. China is having her Bolshevist scare yesterday's news tells of many Chinese killed on suspicion of being "red." They act quickly there, suspects searched for "red" literature, are immediately executed if literature is found.

NO reply yet from China about the demand for punishment, apologies and reparations sent by five big powers, including Uncle Sam. No trouble about apologies probably, they cost nothing. Punishment and reparations will be more difficult.

The great powers did not demand territorial concessions, or an additional grip on Chinese finances, an improvement on old methods.

BASEBALL started, officially, yesterday in the east, the great Babe Ruth appearing in right field and at bat.

At that news millions of hearts beat as one. Baseball, and the greatness of Ruth, are valuable because they make little boys physically ambitious. They would be more valuable if they made big boys play the game instead of watching others.

BERT ACOSTA and Clarence D. Chamberlain went up in their Bellanca monoplane yesterday carrying a 2,800 pound load to stay up 50 hours. This is in preparation for a flight from New York to Paris which would establish a world's record.

A SHORT time back, Lord Northcliffe paid $50,000 to the first man that ever flew the English channel.

In years to come airships above storms and clouds, about eight miles up, will circle the earth, dropping passengers at principal stops in smaller planes. Those great round-the-world airships will take on fuel and supplies from smaller planes, and come down for repairs, perhaps not once in a year. Eventually they will take wireless power from the earth. Then men will really fly.

ITALIAN radicals speak their minds in court, even in the shadow of death. Zaniboni, member of the Italian chamber, corresponding to a congressman in this country, accused of plotting to kill Mussolini, says: "I admit I planned to restore the government to the state by killing Mussolini, the imposter. I should have done it had I been arrested four hours later."

MUSSOLINI, not worried, says: "I refuse to be assassinated." and goes about his business exercising absolute power in accordance with his best

Acosta and Chamberlain Also Shatter American Time for Endurance Trip Without Refueling.

WATCHERS CHEER TWO CIVILIANS

Happiest Man of All Seems to be G. M. Bellanca, Designer and Builder of Famous Monoplane.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, MINEOLA, N. Y., April 14.—Two weary American aviators, Bert Acosta and Clarence D. Chamberlain, wrote history in the sky today when they established a new world's record for endurance flying in a Wright-Bellanca monoplane—51 hours, 11 minutes and 25 seconds.

They came down, amid the cheers of a great crowd that had assembled, at 12:42;05 this afternoon.

Prepare to Welcome Flyers.

At 6:45 o'clock this morning they passed the mark set by France in 1925 by Doruhuin and Landry — 45 hours, 11 minutes, 59 seconds.

At 10:30 a. m., the endurance flyers had only ten gallons of gasoline left. Two flyers soared close to the history-making Bellanca plane and displayed a painted sign reading:

"How much gas?"

Both Chamberlain and Acosta indicated with their fingers that ten gallons remained.

Ten gallons, it was explained, would enable the monoplane to remain in the air a little less than two hours longer.

Acosta and Chamberlain not only broke the world's record held by the French but earlier in their flight had passed the American record for sustained flight without refueling. That record was 36 hours, 4 minut s and 34 seconds made by Lieutenants Kelly and MacReady at Wilbur Wright field, Dayton, Ohio, in April, 1923. At 9:34:14 last night Acosta and Chamberlain beat that record.

Watchers at Roosevelt field cheered when at 6:43 this morning the two civilian aviators "crossed the deadline" and began hanging up a new mark for other airmen to shoot at.

The happiest man of all seemed to be G. M. Bellanca, the designer and builder of the Wright-engined monoplane that was droning above. He was warmly congratulated by Carl F. Schory, official judge of the flight.

Overhead Acosta and Chamberlain soared about steadily, and the monotonous, endless drone of the single Wright motor was music to the ears of Bellanca.

Flyer's Wife Among Watchers.

Among the watchers was Mrs. Chamberlain who has not taken a wink of sleep since her husband soared aloft.

Body of Man, 63, Slain With Hatchet Found in Dwelling

WORCESTER, Mass., April 14.—Apparently slain with a hatchet, the body of James Bobbis, alias Joseph Rabbitt, 63, was discovered today in a blood-spattered room in the attic of a two and one-half story dwelling house in the Quinsagimond district.

The motive of the murder and the time were complete mystery. No weapon was found and two families living below told police they did not hear any disturbance during the night.

GRAND JURORS TO VOTE COUNT AGAINST RINI

FOUR-DAY MEET

Patsy Anania Death Inquiry Most Important on List.

The Columbiana county grand jury, which will in all probability report late this afternoon, is expected to vote a murder indictment against Salvadore Rini, 27, of East Liverpool, in connection with the death of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, of Wellsville.

Whether an indictment will be returned against Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, wife of a Minneapolis confectioner, also under arrest, is problematical. Both Rini and the Chorgas woman are held in the county jail, the former without bond and the latter in default of $20,000 bond.

Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes, after submitting the state's evidence in the case against Rini, asked that he be indicted for murder in the first degree. If no indictment is returned against the Chorgas woman, Rini's sister-in-law, it is probable that she will be held as a material witness.

Rev. Fred Diddle Will Open Revival Service on Easter

Rev. Fred Diddle, Black Lick, Pa., and a former resident of East Liverpool, will open a series of revival meetings in the First Free Methodist church, Avondale and Minerva streets, Easter Sunday evening. Services will be held at 7:30 o'clock every evening during the week.

Rev. Mr. Diddle has been in the ministry for 13 years, being one of the denomination's most successful pastors. He is a son of T. C. Diddle, Minerva street.

SCORE OF MEN TRAPPED WHEN RISING CREEK FLOODS SHAFT

Wise Mine Near Oklahoma City Disaster Scene.

HOPE ABANDONED

Waters Reach Depth of 18 Feet, Blocking Rescuers.

HENRYETTA, Okla., April 14.—Twenty-seven miners in the old Wise Coal company mine near here were entombed today by the flood waters of McDonald creek, which broke over its banks and swept over a lowland section at the mouth of the mine.

The mine is being operated by the Eagle Picher Smelter company. Officials of the mine declared they believed the miners were all drowned.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 14.—Twenty-seven miners were believed drowned at the Wise mine at Henryetta, Oklahoma, near here today, when McDonald creek broke into the main shaft of the mine.

The first meagre reports from the mine stated the creek flooded the shaft where the men were working, and had risen to a depth of eighteen feet, making it impossible for rescue crews to enter.

Twenty-one men were in the mine at the time the river broke through, according to the report, and it was believed impossible for any of them to have escaped.

Since the water was reported still rising, definite information as to the fate of the victims could not be obtained and rescue work was impeded indefinitely.

Frederick G. Haney, 64, Dies; Funeral Services Monday

Frederick Grant Haney, 64, West Ninth street, died yesterday in the City hospital, after seven weeks' illness of complications of diseases.

Mr. Haney, who was born in Ironton, had been a resident here for many years. He was employed at plant No 6 of the Homer Laughlin China company, Newell.

He is survived by his widow, four sons and three daughters: Frederick, Earl, Judson, Darrell, Mrs. John Biggio, Steubenville; Mrs. John O'Neill, Midland, and Alma, residing in New Jersey.

Funeral services will be held in the home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in charge of Dr. J. G. Reinartz, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

DAVID F. POLLOCK, AGED 71, DIES

Houses are Destroyed as Tremors Alarm Residents of Santiago and Valparaiso — No Casualties Reported.

BUENOS AIRES, April 14.—A severe earthquake has shaken the city of Mendoza, according to reports received here.

Unconfirmed reports state that the Mendoza cathedral collapsed during the earthquake and that there were several deaths. No details have been received here.

Mendoza is a city of approximately 65,000 population, located not far from the borders of Chile and in the same general region as Santiego and Valparaiso where other earthquake shocks were reported today.

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 14.—Heavy earthquake shocks were felt early today in Santiago and Valparaiso. The tremors lasted a minute or more.

Many persons were injured, but no fatalities have been reported.

A number of houses were destroyed.

According to reports from Valparaiso the damage there was smaller than in this city.

Residents of Santiago were aroused from sleep by the quake and fled into the streets. There was much excitement among the population.

POLICE CAPTURE ALLEGED AUTO THIEF AFTER FOUR-MILE CHASE

William Steele, 20, Pennsylvania Avenue, Arrested in Dresden Avenue by Wellsville Patrolman.

Suspected, police say, of membership in an automobile theft ring which has been operating in East Liverpool and Wellsville, William Steele, 20, residing in Pennsylvania avenue, almost opposite the Clay Bank street car stop, was held in the jail today, following his capture in a four-mile chase beginning at Wellsville at 10:30 o'clock last evening.

Steele, who is charged with the theft of a car belonging to Mrs. Pearl Smith, 928 St. George street, surrendered to Patrolman John Cole of the Wellsville police force, near the Horn Switch, Dresden avenue, after the officer fired into the back of the car in which he is alleged to have been fleeing. Steele will be given a hearing tomorrow upon the return of Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley from Columbus.

The suspect is alleged to have taken the Smith machine, a 1927 model Whippet sedan, from its parking place in East Fifth street, near the S. J. Hamilton barber shop, at 8 o'clock last night. Mrs. Smith reported the theft at 9 o'clock.

GEORGE J. PHILLIPS, 75, CONTRACTOR, DIES IN WEST FOURTH STREET HOME

Assisted in Erection of St. Stephen's Church, Central School and Other Buildings.

George J. Phillips, 75, contracting stonemason, died today in his home, 133 West Fourth street, after a long illness.

Mr. Phillips, who was born in Virginia, had been a resident of East Liverpool for 50 years. He assisted in the erection of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, Central school and numerous other buildings.

He was a member of the Knights Tempiar, B. P. O., Elks, Maccabees and Episcopal church.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Bert Lowther, Wellsville, and four grandchildren.

Boy Scout Troop To Attend Church Services Tonight

Members of Troop 33, Boy Scouts of America, will attend tonight's pre-Easter service in the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, Park boulevard. Rev. Edgar A. Walker, pastor, will base his sermon on the Scout motto, "Be Prepared." Special music will be rendered by the church quartet.

Last night's service was largely attended, the pastor preaching on the subject, "Pitching the Tent Toward Sodom." A number of new members have been received into the church since the meetings started.

16-DAY EXCURSION TO NEW YORK

First of the 16-day excursions of the season to Atlantic City over the Pennsylvania lines left East Liverpool today. Tickets will be good returning until Saturday, April 30. The round trip fare from East Liverpool is $15.60. Pullman accommodations are available upon payment of the surcharge.

Mrs. S. E. Lovell Dies in Her Home In Franklin, Pa.

HUNDREDS FLEE HOMES AS FIRE SWEEPS PATH IN MORGANTOWN

CAUSE MYSTERY

Block in Downtown Business District is Damaged.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 14.—Three firemen were injured, several hundred persons were driven from their homes scantily clad, and damage estimated at more than $2,000,000 was done by a fire which swept the downtown business district here today.

Call Outside Firemen.

The firemen, Muriel Devaughn, Rollia Dutton and Paul McKinney, were burned and crushed when the walls of the six-story Strand theatre building, housing a theatre, offices and apartments, collapsed.

Fire departments were summoned from Uniontown, Fairmont and other neighboring cities and aid in battling the flames which were brought under control about 8 a. m.

The fire originated from an undetermined cause in the basement of Aaron Garlow department store, in High street. It rapidly swept this structure, the Shelby shoe store, then jumped to the four-story Morgantown hardware company building. Collapsing wall of this structure demolished two smaller buildings, and the flames spread to the Strand theatre building

The block in which the burned buildings were situated is said to carry the highest city fire insurance rate in West Virginia, due to the extreme fire hazard.

Several thousand people, attracted by the flames, watched the firemen battle the blaze for more than four hours.

Carroll, Collapsing On Way to Prison, Is Seriously Ill

GREENVILLE, S. C., April 14.—While continued improvement was noted in the condition of Earl Carroll throughout the morning, his condition is still serious, Dr. C. O. Bates, attending physician, said today.

At 11 o'clock the New York theatrical producer, who collapsed on his way to Atlanta to serve a prison sentence for perjury, was still in a state of coma.

Carroll has been unconscious for nearly 30 hours. He collapsed on the train about 8 o'clock yesterday morning, and was removed to a hospital here at noon.

WASHINGTON, April 14—A close watch on the condition of Earl Carroll, New York theatrical producer who collapsed on his way to Atlanta prison, is being maintained by the justice department, it was learned today.

Attorney General Sargent said that frequent reports are received on Carroll's health.

Government Move To Defer Trial in Oil Scandal Hit

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Efforts of the government to postpone the conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair and Albert B. Fall, growing out of the Teapot Dome lease, until next autumn, met with a temporary check today.

The government desired a postponement because of the continued absence from the United States of two of the principal figures in the case—H. M. Blackmer, chairman of the board of the Midwest Refining company, and James O'Neil, former president of the Prairie Oil & Gas company. They have been abroad for three years, leaving the country following the senate oil investigation.

Attorneys for Sinclair strenuously opposed the government's motion for postponement, and after a lenghty argument the court gave District Attorney Peyton Gordon, for the government, until 3 o'clock this afternoon to present more cogent reasoning for the continuance.

NINE CHURCHES, REPRESENTING SIX DENOMINATIONS, ANNOUNCE SPECIAL SERVICES ON GOOD FRIDAY

Good Friday services will be held in nine East Liverpool churches, representing six denominations. Several churches will also observe Holy Thursday with services of a special nature.

Services at the St. John's Lutheran church will be held at 7:45 o'clock tonight and tomorrow night and also at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Tonight's service will be preparatory to communion. Frederick E. Reinartz, son of the pastor and a theology student at Philadelphia, will make his first appearance in the pulpit, preaching on the subject, "At the Center of the Christian Faith."

Procession of the Blessed Sacrament was held in the St. Aloysius Catholic church at 8 o'clock this morning while Holy Hour will be observed at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Services for Good Friday include mass of the pre-sanctified at 8 p. m., and stations and veneration of the cross at 3 and 7:30 p. m. Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 8 a. m. Saturday.

At St. Ann's church, East End, of which Rev. J. L. Maurer is pastor, high mass was celebrated at 8 a. m. today, and a tenebrae service will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Mass of the pre-sanctified will be said at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow, following a sacred hour at 2 p. m. and another tenebrae service with lamentations and a sermon on "Judas" at 7:30 p. m. Holy Saturday will be observed with blessings of fire, paschal candle, baptismal font and high mass at 6 a. m.

Afternoon Services.

Good Friday services in St. Stephen's Episcopal church will begin at noon and continue until 3 p. m. The choir will sing the cantata, "Olivet at Calvary," Friday evening with Professor Ralph Jones, organist and choirmaster, in charge.

Downtown union services tonight will be held in the First Baptist Church, with Dr. Donald W. MacLeod preaching the sermon. Tomorrow night's service, the concluding one of the Holy Week observance will be conducted in the First United Presbyterian church, with Rev. Frederic A. Dean preaching.

The East End union service tonight will be held in the Second Presbyterian church, with Rev. L. J. Davison in the pulpit. Friday night's service will be held in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, with Rev. A. H. O'Brien in charge.

Services will also be held Friday evening in the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, Park boulevard, Rev. Edgar A. Walker delivering the sermon.

The Women's Home Missionary society will conduct services in the Orchard Grove Avenue Methodist Episcopal church between 2 and 3 p. m. tomorrow.

Choir To Sing Cantata.

At the First Methodist Episcopal church Good Friday will be observed with a program in charge of the Women's Home Missionary society beginning at 3 o'clock. Mesdames Thomas McCann and C. E. Barret will have charge. The music will be directed by Mrs. Homer J. Taylor. Mrs. Charles Larkins will speak on "The Message of the Cross," while Mrs. H. F. Laughlin will discuss "Our Lenten Offering." Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered by Dr. Frank G. Fowler, pastor, from 4 until 7:30 o'clock.

The church choir under the direction of Prof. H. F. Laughlin will render the cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Christ," by Dubois, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Forty voices will assist in the program, the soloists being Miss Grace McNutt, soprano; Rowland T. Kaufman, tenor, and Wilbur Glenn, baritone. Mrs. T. C. Flick will preside at the organ.

The program follows:

Introduction, "O, All Ye Who Travel," soprano solo.

First word, "Father Forgive Them," baritone and tenor solo with chorus.

Second word, "Verily, Thou Shalt Be," tenor and baritone duet with chorus.

Unconfirmed reports state that the Mendoza cathedral collapsed during the earthquake and that there were several deaths. No details have been received here.

Mendoza is a city of approximately 65,000 population, located not far from the borders of Chile and in the same general region as Santiego and Valparaiso where other earthquake shocks were reported today.

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 14.—Heavy earthquake shocks were felt early today in Santiago and Valparaiso. The tremors lasted a minute or more.

Many persons were injured, but no fatalities have been reported.

A number of houses were destroyed.

According to reports from Valparaiso the damage there was smaller than in this city.

Residents of Santiago were aroused from sleep by the quake and fled into the streets. There was much excitement among the population.

William Steele, 20, Pennsylvania Avenue, Arrested in Dresden Avenue by Wellsville Patrolman.

Suspected, police say, of membership in an automobile theft ring which has been operating in East Liverpool and Wellsville, William Steele, 20, residing in Pennsylvania avenue, almost opposite the Clay Bank street car stop, was held in the jail today, following his capture in a four-mile chase beginning at Wellsville at 10:30 o'clock last evening.

Steele, who is charged with the theft of a car belonging to Mrs. Pearl Smith, 928 St. George street, surrendered to Patrolman John Cole of the Wellsville police force, near the Horn Switch, Dresden avenue, after the officer fired into the back of the car in which he is alleged to have been fleeing. Steele will be given a hearing tomorrow upon the return of Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley from Columbus.

The suspect is alleged to have taken the Smith machine, a 1927 model Whippet sedan, from its parking place in East Fifth street, near the S. J. Hamilton barber shop, at 8 o'clock last night. Mrs. Smith reported the theft at 9 o'clock.

Pistol Shot Stops Driver.

A Chevrolet touring [illegible] reported stolen in Wellsville about the same time. Wellsville and East Liverpool police then exchanged reports.

HUNDREDS FLEE HOMES AS FIRE SWEEPS PATH IN MORGANTOWN

Block in Downtown Business District is Damaged.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 14.—Three firemen were injured, several hundred persons were driven from their homes scantily clad, and damage estimated at more than $2,000,000 was done by a fire which swept the downtown business district here today.

Call Outside Firemen.

The firemen, Muriel Devaughn, Rollia Dutton and Paul McKinney, were burned and crushed when the walls of the six-story Strand theatre building, housing a theatre, offices and apartments, collapsed.

Fire departments were summoned from Uniontown, Fairmont and other neighboring cities and aid in battling the flames which were brought under control about 8 a. m.

The fire originated from an undetermined cause in the basement of Aaron Garlow department store, in High street. It rapidly swept this structure, the Shelby shoe store, then jumped to the four-story Morgantown hardware company building. Collapsing wall of this structure demolished two smaller buildings, and the flames spread to the Strand theatre building

The block in which the burned buildings were situated is said to carry the highest city fire insurance rate in West Virginia, due to the extreme fire hazard.

Several thousand people, attracted by the flames, watched the firemen battle the blaze for more than four hours.

Carroll, Collapsing On Way to Prison, Is Seriously Ill

GREENVILLE, S. C., April 14.—While continued improvement was noted in the condition of Earl Carroll throughout the morning, his condition is still serious, Dr. C. O. Bates, attending physician, said today.

At 11 o'clock the New York theatrical producer, who collapsed on his way to Atlanta to serve a prison sentence for perjury, was still in a state of coma.

Carroll has been unconscious for nearly 30 hours. He collapsed on the train about 8 o'clock yesterday morning, and was removed to a hospital here at noon.

WASHINGTON, April 14—A close watch on the condition of Earl Carroll, New York theatrical producer who collapsed on his way to Atlanta prison, is being maintained by the justice department, it was learned today.

Attorney General Sargent said that frequent reports are received on Carroll's health.

Government Move To Defer Trial in Oil Scandal Hit

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Efforts of the government to postpone the conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair and Albert B. Fall, growing out of the Teapot Dome lease, until next autumn, met with a temporary check today.

The government desired a postponement because of the continued absence from the United States of two of the principal figures in the case—H. M. Blackmer, chairman of the board of the Midwest Refining company, and James O'Neil, former president of the Prairie Oil & Gas company. They have been abroad for three years, leaving the country following the senate oil investigation.

Attorneys for Sinclair strenuously opposed the government's motion for postponement, and after a lenghty argument the court gave District Attorney Peyton Gordon, for the government, until 3 o'clock this afternoon to present more cogent reasoning for the continuance.

Services for Good Friday include mass of the pre-sanctified at 8 p. m., and stations and veneration of the cross at 3 and 7:30 p. m. Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 8 a. m. Saturday.

At St. Ann's church, East End, of which Rev. J. L. Maurer is pastor, high mass was celebrated at 8 a. m. today, and a tenebrae service will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Mass of the pre-sanctified will be said at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow, following a sacred hour at 2 p. m. and another tenebrae service with lamentations and a sermon on "Judas" at 7:30 p. m. Holy Saturday will be observed with blessings of fire, paschal candle, baptismal font and high mass at 6 a. m.

Afternoon Services.

Good Friday services in St. Stephen's Episcopal church will begin at noon and continue until 3 p. m. The choir will sing the cantata, "Olivet at Calvary," Friday evening with Professor Ralph Jones, organist and choirmaster, in charge.

Downtown union services tonight will be held in the First Baptist Church, with Dr. Donald W. MacLeod preaching the sermon. Tomorrow night's service, the concluding one of the Holy Week observance will be conducted in the First United Presbyterian church, with Rev. Frederic A. Dean preaching.

The East End union service tonight will be held in the Second Presbyterian church, with Rev. L. J. Davison in the pulpit. Friday night's service will be held in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, with Rev. A. H. O'Brien in charge.

Services will also be held Friday evening in the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, Park boulevard, Rev. Edgar A. Walker delivering the sermon.

The Women's Home Missionary society will conduct services in the Orchard Grove Avenue Methodist Episcopal church between 2 and 3 p. m. tomorrow.

Choir To Sing Cantata.

At the First Methodist Episcopal church Good Friday will be observed with a program in charge of the Women's Home Missionary society beginning at 3 o'clock. Mesdames Thomas McCann and C. E. Barret will have charge. The music will be directed by Mrs. Homer J. Taylor. Mrs. Charles Larkins will speak on "The Message of the Cross," while Mrs. H. F. Laughlin will discuss "Our Lenten Offering." Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered by Dr. Frank G. Fowler, pastor, from 4 until 7:30 o'clock.

The church choir under the direction of Prof. H. F. Laughlin will render the cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Christ," by Dubois, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Forty voices will assist in the program, the soloists being Miss Grace McNutt, soprano; Rowland T. Kaufman, tenor, and Wilbur Glenn, baritone. Mrs. T. C. Flick will preside at the organ.

The program follows:

Introduction, "O, All Ye Who Travel," soprano solo.

First word, "Father Forgive Them," baritone and tenor solo with chorus.

Second word, "Verily, Thou Shalt Be," tenor and baritone duet with chorus.

PASTOR SCORES PREJUDICE SIN

Rev. L. J. Davison United Presbyterian Church Speaker.

Rev. L. J. Davison, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, of East Liverpool, who spoke last night at Holy Week services in the United Presbyterian church, condemned what he termed the common sin of race prejudice.

He took as his text the words of the prophet Ezekiel: "I Sat Where They Sat." Calling attention to the fact that Ezekiel was called to minister to a brokenhearted people and that he endeavored thus to enter into sympathy with their viewpoint he reminded his auditors of the perfect sympathy and understanding to be found in Jesus.

"After asserting that it is necessary to enter into a deeper and broader understanding of men he asked his hearers some questions illustrating his point.

"Are you able to see life from the window out of which the sick must look? Are you able to see life from the same viewpoint as that from which youth looks? Or from the standpoint of age? Do you endeavor to see the problems of life as they are seen by the man who has not had the same privileges as you have had?

Here he delivered a well-aimed blow at the common sin of race-prejudice. Finally, can you see life as the prodigal sees it? Do you unjustly and unmercifully condemn or do you endeavor to understand and help the poor fellow rising from the gutter or the girl who repents having sold her soul?"

Rev. Richard C. Sutton, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, Burgettstown, will speak tonight. He was a seminary classmate of the pastor, Rev. W. J. H. McKnight.

Levi Dallas Mercer, 75, lifelong resident of Hancock county, died yesterday in his home near Pughtown, after two years' illness of complication of diseases.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Martha P. Mercer, four sons and three daughters: Charles, Massillon; Forrest, East Liverpool; Faye, Pughtown; Everil, at home; Mrs. Harry Trover, Canton; Mrs. Edward Downard and Mrs. Alvin Cullen, of East Liverpool. He also leaves three brothers, H. G. Mercer, Chester; G. E. Mercer, Ada, O., and W. E. Mercer, Canton.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Pughtown Christian church. Burial will be made in the Flats cemetery, Pughtown.

PASTOR SCORES PREJUDICE SIN

Rev. L. J. Davison United Presbyterian Church Speaker.

Rev. L. J. Davison, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, of East Liverpool, who spoke last night at Holy Week services in the United Presbyterian church, condemned what he termed the common sin of race prejudice.

He took as his text the words of the prophet Ezekiel: "I Sat Where They Sat." Calling attention to the fact that Ezekiel was called to minister to a brokenhearted people and that he endeavored thus to enter into sympathy with their viewpoint he reminded his auditors of the perfect sympathy and understanding to be found in Jesus.

"After asserting that it is necessary to enter into a deeper and broader understanding of men he asked his hearers some questions illustrating his point.

"Are you able to see life from the window out of which the sick must look? Are you able to see life from the same viewpoint as that from which youth looks? Or from the standpoint of age? Do you endeavor to see the problems of life as they are seen by the man who has not had the same privileges as you have had?

Here he delivered a well-aimed blow at the common sin of race-prejudice. Finally, can you see life as the prodigal sees it? Do you unjustly and unmercifully condemn or do you endeavor to understand and help the poor fellow rising from the gutter or the girl who repents having sold her soul?"

Rev. Richard C. Sutton, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church Burgettstown, will speak tonight. He was a seminary classmate of the pastor, Rev. W. J. H. McKnight.

BIBLE WORKERS CLASS TO MEET

Mrs. A. Earl Wilson will be hostess to members of the Blue Bible Workers class of the First Christian church tonight in her home, 228 Church street. Business session will be followed by a social hour at which lunch will be served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Pearl Miller.

Plans will be made for the closing day of the attendance contest between the "Blues" and Reds" Sunday morning. Photograph will be taken of the class at 10:15. Special program is being arranged by C. G. Woods for morning and evening services. Decorations are in charge of the Christian Endeavor society. Members will meet Saturday night in the church. Harrison Smith is captain of the "Blues" forces, while Samuel Sayre is leading the "Reds."

CANTATA WILL BE GIVEN HERE

Program Scheduled for Sunday in Presbyterian Church.

STRAND OFFERS STAGE COMEDY

New York Hit Opens Strand Players' Run Monday.

"The Patsy," one of the real hits of the New York season last year, playing more than three hundred performances at the Booth theatre, is the play scheduled for opening production by the Strand Players at the Strand theatre begining Monday night. "The Patsy" is a comedy from the pen of Barry Conners, author of "Applesauce," "The Mad Honeymoon" and other popular successes, and its presentation by the local organization will undoubtedly be one of the most interesting events of the theatrical season in this city.

In slangology "The Patsy" means "The fall guy;" "the goat," that unfortunate person so often found in a home, or a business, who always gets the blame no matter whose the fault. In the Harrington household it is Patricia. She is the younger daughter of a typical American family. A sensitive, imaginative girl "Pat" is constantly harried by her socially ambitious mother and older sister. Her growth and individual unfoldment is stunted in every direction except in that of her father whose love and loyalty prove her eventual salvation. To make matters worse "Pat" is desperately in love with Tony her sister's finance. Even when Tony is jilted for a boy of greater financial and social prominence it doesn't make matters any easier for Pat, because her love is unrequited.

Urge Airplane for Liners.

That Atlantic liners carry small aeroplanes that could be dispatched when approaching port, to carry specially urgent mail and parcels, or even passengers, is being considered. It is argued that the plan would save much time. It has been demonstrated that aeroplanes can be launched from the confined decks of ships by the catapult system and can be guided without human beings on board to points 35 miles distant. It is expected that this range will shortly be increased to at least 100 miles. The plan has been brought before the attention of officials of steamship companies plying between this country and Europe and may be tried out in the near future.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

Hand-shaking Folly

It looks now as if presidential hand-shaking were in a fair way to be reduced to a sane minimum if not eliminated entirely. It is unfortunate that this reform could be effected only through actual injury to President Coolidge's wrist, which sustained a sprain at the army and navy reception in February. Yet suffering is sometimes more easily endured when good comes of it.

During the weeks of his enforced release from promiscuous hand-shaking duties, it seems to have occurred to various persons that there is no need to resume them to such unlimited extent as formerly prevailed. It was a democratic custom which may have been pleasant and easily carried out in former years. With the increase in our national population and the tremendous progress in transportation that makes it possible for vast hordes of that population to descend upon Washington, the pleasant custom has become a genuine burden to the chief executive. Only short-sighted and selfish citizens will bewail its passing.

One Benefit From The War

The war for democracy, for liberty of small countries, for lasting peace, was a failure, says a leading American minister.

"Democracy stands repudiated in two-thirds of Europe. In our own land it stands in need of apologists and defenders.

"Small countries are victimized even by the United States.

"There have been countless revolutions and wars since the World War ended. Europe is no further removed from the war spirit than she was in 1914."

Balancing benefits with losses, he says, we must admit that the war was not worth while. The ideals were right, but the method was wrong. War, we must conclude, solves no problems, but aggravates existing problems and creates new ones.

All of us probably feel that way occasionally in these disillusioning years.

Still, if things are as bad as the pessimistic minister says, at least it is something to have America sick of war and distrustful of all its claims. And there is considerable evidence that Europe is not far behind us in this feeling.

Nations still talk war, but hesitate to act. They do not plan big wars, or even plunge into little ones, so lightly as they used to. They no longer see glory in war, or expect profit from war.

Padlock For Theaters

"Those in charge of some of the plays now before the public," warns the New York district attorney, "had better go through them and cut out their filthy lines and scenes. And women in night clubs had better put on clothes."

The warning has teeth in it. The Empire state governor has signed the Wales "padlock bill," which authorizes the closing of places of entertainment and the prosecution of producers and actors when the licensing regulations are violated. It is explained as applying not only to nakedness but to any "obscene, indecent, immoral or impure drama, play, exhibition or entertainment," and it makes theatre owners responsible for the character of the entertainment in their houses.

This is drastic, but recent experience shows that drastic treatment is needed. When private censorship fails, public censorship must step in. When owners and managers of entertainment places will not do their own censoring, the police must do it. The devil is potent, but the general police power of a city or state can still make a pretty good showing against him.

Persecution

A motorist in Chatham, Ont., was arrested the other day and fined $5 for running on a flat tire, as if he were not having enough trouble already.

Fining a man for driving on a bad tire, and thereby making it worse, was obviously nobody's business but his own, and besides was calculated to benefit the tire industry.

In this enlightened country that driver would probably stop and fix his leaky tire for a couple of hours right in the middle of a busy thoroughfare. And nobody would arrest him for that, either, though some irate or absent-minded truck-driver might run over him.

Visitors' Money

Canadian visitors in the United States have been having trouble over their money. Several cases have turned up lately of perfectly respectable and responsible Canadian citizens, in various American cities, having their perfectly good currency refused by hotels and banks.

That currency is as sound as our own and sometimes is quoted above par, but it seems to make no difference to some provincial-mined bankers. The Canadian travelers have not only been humiliated but have been obliged to pay as high as 10 per cent discount to obtain American currency in exchange for their own, which is nothing less than robbery.

American visitors to Canada will testify that they have no such difficulty there. Reciprocity in this matter is the only decent way, and also the only good business way.

ENTERED FOR THE OPTIMISTS' PRIZE

Somebody said once that an optimist was a person who saw a great light shining where no light was and a pessimist was one who came along and blew it out. It's a good double-ended definition, too, as I think you will agree.

Here is a concrete definition of an optimist as embodied in a story told by Ty Cobb of a recruit who joined the Detroit Tigers once upon a time. The rookie didn't last many months in fast company. Before the season was well advanced he had gone back to the minor league whence he sprang, but he did linger on long enough to leave behind the impress of his sunny nature.

"This youngster had a great habit of keeping up a flow of gab that he thought would keep the club from being despondent," said Tyrus. "That line of stuff is all right, but it sounds better coming from an old campaigner than from a kid that hasn't shown that he can qualify. Still, nobody tried to discourage him and he staked the team to many a laugh.

"We had a series of five games with New York and the first went against us by something like 8 to 2. The next day we did a little better, but the score was 7 to 4. The kid thought there was some improvement even if we were licked. The third game saw us only two runs behind at the finish and in the fourth we ran second, but not far behind—one run.

"The last game brought an awful wallop—11 to 2, I think it was—and it didn't look as though the optimist would have any sweetness left in his system. But he marched in to get his shower, flung his glove aside, rubbed his hands and said:

"Well, boys, we can't expect to win 'em all!"

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

From Dolls To Dynamite.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—A by-product of the lumber industry which has a wide variety of uses, ranging all the way from dolls to dynamite and including linoleum and wall paper, has become of increasing importance in this country in recent months, largely through the efforts of the National Committee on Wood Utilization of the Department of Commerce. It is doubly important in that it not only eliminates a waste but utilizes something that has hitherto been regarded as a liability. Also its increased production in the United States will make it no longer necessary for American manufacturers to send abroad for it in considerable quantities.

It is wood flour, not as yet found available for pastry or breakfast foods, but with scientists constantly finding new uses for it there is no telling where they will reach their limit.

Wood flour is made from nothing more than sawdust, shavings, and other mill waste, which American mill operators for the most part have been spending money to get rid of because it clutters up their plants and is a fire hazard as well.

European lumber manufacturers, on the other hand, learned long ago what they could do with this waste material. They have been converting it into wood flour, exporting it to this country at the rate of approximately 12,000,000 pounds a year, paying duty on it, and evidently selling it at a profit.

It has been claimed for European wood flour that it has certain advantages over the domestic articles, but this is questioned by our government experts. They say that with increased experience and care in the selection of raw material on the part of American manufacturers a domestic product should be turned out that is in every way equal to the product of foreign mills. Its production in this country has been limited to a very few companies, but it is said that it now gives promise of becoming an important industrial product and a profitable economic solution for the disposal of a waste that has been a source of worry and expense.

Wood Substances Similar.

The wood substance of various species of trees differs very little in composition, says Harry H. Steidle, research assistant of the Committee on Wood Utilization. The wood substance of hickory is not unlike that of popular, the chief difference in the two species being in the physical structure of the material. However, there are certain infiltrations of gums and resins in some woods, and in others certain coloring, that preclude their use as wood flour for some products.

Spruce, fir, and pine are the chief woods used in Europe to produce the highest grades of wood flour. Similar species are represented by our true fire, white pines, and spruces. Little investigation has been undertaken regarding the suitability of American species for the manufacture of wood flour, but it is said that the wood of maple, ash, white birch, and basswood, in addition to the species now in use, should be capable of producing a good grade of flour, since they are entirely devoid of resin and possess the necessary light color.

In Europe wood flour is ground chiefly by stone mills which are an adaptation of the old burr stone mills used for the grinding of wheat and other grains. Another type of mill is the steel burr roller mill, consisting of a series of corrugated steel rollers, each succeeding roller having teeth of increasing fineness. The rollers are closely set and revolve in opposite directions at different rates of speed. This type of mill is largely used for the conversion of sawdust.

Among patented devices of American manufacture is a wood pulverizer for the conversion of shavings, sawdust, and hogged wood. The material is fed through a hopper into a grinding chamber in which a high-speed wheel operates and is pulverized by the action of the grinding wheel against the sides of the chamber which is lined with a grinding surface.

One of the features of this machine is the absence of screening apparatus. The material is drawn from the grinder by a current of air, which is regulated so that the slower the air current, the finer the flour that is drawn off.

Uses of Wood Flour.

Approximately 20,000,000 pounds of wood flour is used annually in the manufacture of linoleum in this country. It is employed chiefly for inlaid types, although it is also used in smaller proportions mixed with cork flour for battleship and printed linoleums.

Both imported and domestic flours are used. The imported product is somewhat finer than the domestic, but is less uniform in its properties and is not as light in color as the best grades of domestic manufacture. Generally speaking the latter is preferred by the linoleum industry by reason of its uniformly light color, fluffy and slightly fibrous nature, and unvarying quality. Furthermore, the users are

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 14.—New York is often more snooty than London. Many have found that gazing through the lorgnette or monocle at the Brahmins adds to the feeling of self-importance. They immediately become the center of much patronizing.

It is noticed that the haughtiest customer in an exclusive shop often receive the most consideration and as a result there is a large section of Manhattan that will have no contact with life save through the butler. They flatten their A's and don the high hat.

Snobbishness is not confined to aristocracy or to sundry silk-stocking cognescenti whose grandads peddled polecat skins, half soled their breeches with leather or were killed in tavern brawls. Sudden wealth spawns the majority of snobs.

Frequently one finds families who have lived for years in tenement drudgery who suddenly discover that with wealth they cannot stand the rigors of winter and flee to Florida at the first touch of snow. And a few weeks later they splatter the photogravures, posed on the beach sand

"Paper Collar Joe," once observed that with a silk hat and British drawl he could live on Fifth Avenue in plenty as long as he lived. Manhattan responds to snobbishness, whereas Main street would give it an equine haw-haw.

Cafes with the most superior sort of aloofness receive the greatest patronage. The haughtiest actress in town is the most courted. And a former shipping clerk who acquires manners of a grandee invariably gets choice tables in suppe rclubs.

Snobbishness is not a general New York idea. It is not found among people who really count, but it has often catapulted a mediocrity into the Horse Shoe Circle.

A young lady was asked to chaperone at a bachelor apartment dinner the other evening. While waiting for the guests she visited his curio room and in a playful moment snapped a pair of handcuffs on her wrists. She then showed him what she had done. He paled and called a locksmith, and it was daylight before the handcuffs had been filed off. He had lost the key.

Five years ago a handcuffed prisoner on way to Sing Sing slipped from his guard in the Grand Central station. All his old haunts were fine combed and it was not until ten days later he was found squatting along the library wall with both hands bandaged and in a heavy sling. The bracelets had not been removed. He was wating for the hue and cry to die down before having them expertly removed. In the meantime he was capitalizing his calamity by picking up extra change as a beggar.

New York today for its size has fewer street beggars than any city. So many medicants exposed as living in hotel grandeur made a public usually generous, sold and sterile. Most professional beggars in the metropolis have turned to trickier pursuits. The old gag of appearing in shabby clothes to display a spurious union card receives only appraising disdain. New Yorkers have been trained to satisfy a request for money to buy food by inviting the supplicent to a restaurant and standing by until the food is eaten. Then such beggars are assured of all they can eat but nothing else. The haven for mendicants on Bleecker street, known as "Beggar's Roost" has been deserted for more than a year.

The beggar has found that with good clothes he can edge into another startum of society, spin a sudden hard luck yarn, borrow here and there and pass on to another set of victims.

Hand-shaking Folly

It looks now as if presidential hand-shaking were in a fair way to be reduced to a sane minimum if not eliminated entirely. It is unfortunate that this reform could be effected only through actual injury to President Coolidge's wrist, which sustained a sprain at the army and navy reception in February. Yet suffering is sometimes more easily endured when good comes of it.

During the weeks of his enforced release from promiscuous hand-shaking duties, it seems to have occurred to various persons that there is no need to resume them to such unlimited extent as formerly prevailed. It was a democratic custom which may have been pleasant and easily carried out in former years. With the increase in our national population and the tremendous progress in transportation that makes it possible for vast hordes of that population to descend upon Washington, the pleasant custom has become a genuine burden to the chief executive. Only short-sighted and selfish citizens will bewail its passing.

One Benefit From The War

The war for democracy, for liberty of small countries, for lasting peace, was a failure, says a leading American minister.

"Democracy stands repudiated in two-thirds of Europe. In our own land it stands in need of apologists and defenders.

"Small countries are victimized even by the United States.

"There have been countless revolutions and wars since the World War ended. Europe is no further removed from the war spirit than she was in 1914."

Balancing benefits with losses, he says, we must admit that the war was not worth while. The ideals were right, but the method was wrong. War, we must conclude, solves no problems, but aggravates existing problems and creates new ones.

All of us probably feel that way occasionally in these disillusioning years.

Still, if things are as bad as the pessimistic minister says, at least it is something to have America sick of war and distrustful of all its claims. And there is considerable evidence that Europe is not far behind us in this feeling.

Nations still talk war, but hesitate to act. They do not plan big wars, or even plunge into little ones, so lightly as they used to. They no longer see glory in war, or expect profit from war.

Padlock For Theaters

"Those in charge of some of the plays now before the public," warns the New York district attorney, "had better go through them and cut out their filthy lines and scenes. And women in night clubs had better put on clothes."

The warning has teeth in it. The Empire state governor has signed the Wales "padlock bill," which authorizes the closing of places of entertainment and the prosecution of producers and actors when the licensing regulations are violated. It is explained as applying not only to nakedness but to any "obscene, indecent, immoral or impure drama, play, exhibition or entertainment," and it makes theatre owners responsible for the character of the entertainment in their houses.

This is drastic, but recent experience shows that drastic treatment is needed. When private censorship fails, public censorship must step in. When owners and managers of entertainment places will not do their own censoring, the police must do it. The devil is potent, but the general police power of a city or state can still make a pretty good showing against him.

Persecution

A motorist in Chatham, Ont., was arrested the other day and fined $5 for running on a flat tire, as if he were not having enough trouble already.

Fining a man for driving on a bad tire, and thereby making it worse, was obviously nobody's business but his own, and besides was calculated to benefit the tire industry.

In this enlightened country that driver would probably stop and fix his leaky tire for a couple of hours right in the middle of a busy thoroughfare. And nobody would arrest him for that, either, though some irate or absent-minded truck-driver might run over him.

Your feet may be so swollen and inflamed that you think you can't go another step. Your shoes may feel as if they are cutting right into the flesh. You feel sick all over with the pain and torture and pray for quick relief. What's to be done?

Two or three applications of Moone's Emerald Oil and in fifteen minutes the pain and soreness disappears. A few more applications at regular intervals and the swelling reduces.

And as for Soft Corns and Callouses a few applications each night at bed time and they just seem to shrivel right up and scale off.

No matter how discouraged you have been with powders, footbaths or other applications, if you have not tried Emerald Oil then you have something to learn.

It's a wonderful formula—this combination of essential oils with camphor and other antiseptics so marvelous that thousands of bottles are sold annually for reducing varicose or swollen veins.

EAST END LARGE CROWD ATTENDS MEET

Sermon Delivered Here Last Night by Rev. D. W. MacLeod.

"The supreme task of ministers is to preach Jesus Christ to the world," declared Dr. Donald MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at the union Holy week service in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church last evening. His subject was "The Cross of Christ."

The initial prayer was made by W. T. House with Dr. F. A. Dean, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, making the invocation. The pastor, Rev. George C. Westlake, presided.

A duet, "Christ is Risen," was sung by Messrs. Bernie Miller and Carl Warning. The choir was directed by Mrs. Robert Wirth. A spirited song service preceded the night's discourse.

Deprecating the tendency of modern preachers to emphasize the life rather than the death of Christ, Dr. MacLeod stressed the need of the latter viewpoint as the chief fact in the Christian economy. His text were Paul's words to the Corinthians: "I am determined not to know anything save Christ crucified."

Four reasons for stressing the Cross were held by Paul, he said. "Christ declared the Cross should be through his mission," he averred. It was not forced upon the Christ. He chose it. The Lord's Supper in the bread and juice of the grape utilized typified this end of earthly life for him. He taught His deciples that such typified the Cross.

"The Cross in the second place yielded the things necessary to human needs. It revealed in letters of fire the desperate needs of the human soul."

Dr. MacLeod gave a denunciation of the awfulness of sin, indicating the wide grief which in its nature separated those indulging in it from God.

"The Cross," he went on, "alone reveals the incalculable value of the human soul. By the lifting of the Cross we are constantly reminded of the soul's value. God considered man worth saving 'For He so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish."

Tonight's meeting will be in the Second Presbyterian church when Rev. L. J. Davison, of the First United Presbyterian church, will preach.

"TIN HATS" SCREEN WINNER

Conrad Nagel Stars in Picture at American.

When the Armistice was signed, the whole world cheered — and gave a long, pent-up sigh of relief. At least almost the whole world did.

But there were a few, a very few men who were just the least bit disappointed and disgusted to think they never had an opportunity to get into the argument. It is about these few that Edward Sedgwick spun his yarn, "Tin Hats," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture coming to the American theatre tomorrow for a two-day run.

The story concerns three doughboys, one a rich man's son, played by Conrad Nagel, another a New York yegg, drafted into the service, played by George Cooper, and the third the American son of a St. Louis Dutch brewer, played by Bert Roach. These three arrive in the front line trenches just in time to hear the referee announce that "That's all there is, there isn't any more."

However, the plot thickens when they are sent into Germany with the Army of Occupation, and their subsequent adventures make the war look like the Saturday Evening Strawberry Festival, back in Pawtucket.

Claire Windsor as Elsa Von Bergen, a titled German girl, is the heroine of the story, and with Nagel supplies the love interest. Tom O'Brien remembered for his work as "Bull" in "The Big Parade," plays the part of a tough top sergeant. Lew Lipton did the adaptation, and Donald Lee the continuity.

"TIN HATS" SCREEN WINNER

Conrad Nagel Stars in Picture at American.

When the Armistice was signed, the whole world cheered — and gave a long, pent-up sigh of relief. At least almost the whole world did.

But there were a few, a very few men who were just the least bit disappointed and disgusted to think they never had an opportunity to get into the argument. It is about these few that Edward Sedgwick spun his yarn, "Tin Hats," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture coming to the American theatre tomorrow for a two-day run.

The story concerns three doughboys, one a rich man's son, played by Conrad Nagel, another a New York yegg, drafted into the service, played by George Cooper, and the third the American son of a St. Louis Dutch brewer, played by Bert Roach. These three arrive in the front line trenches just in time to hear the referee announce that "That's all there is, there isn't any more."

However, the plot thickens when they are sent into Germany with the Army of Occupation, and their subsequent adventures make the war look like the Saturday Evening Strawberry Festival, back in Pawtucket.

Claire Windsor as Elsa Von Bergen, a titled German girl, is the heroine of the story, and with Nagel supplies the love interest. Tom O'Brien, remembered for his work as "Bull" in "The Big Parade," plays the part of a tough top sergeant. Lew Lipton did the adaptation, and Donald Lee the continuity.

WHY FAT IS DISAPPEARING

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS:

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. One day a girl who had formerely worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

ALICE, and her baby daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. They all start for California with De Brissac, who suggests books for Hattie to read to "form her mind." On the train she meets

HENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man. De Brissac makes love to Hattie as part of her training for screen work and Hattie seems powerless to resist him. She refuses to go with him on his yacht away from her family, however. O'Malley, to whom she becomes engaged, advises her to try to get work at another studio and invites a lawyer to look over her contract with De Brissac. A rival studio gives her a part and she goes to work for them.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO.

It soon became evident that Mr. Mortimer assumed skill in all who worked for him. What would he say to her when he discovered that she didn't know her job? For she didn't. She didn't know much of anything. De Brissac had coaxed and cajoled, had stung and then patiently guided. But this man merely told her what emotion she had to express, expecting her promptly to express it. She didn't know how; hardly, indeed, heard him. She had never been trained to attentiveness. He would give her lines, offhand, to be uttered before the camera; but she couldn't keep them in her head.

At noon he led aside and bluntly asked what her experience had been. This by an old English stairway. She wondered how the carpenters could make it look like elaborately carved wood. It wasn't anything of the sort. She knew they knocked these sets together in no time at all—a day, or two, or three.

He said—"Sit down here. Now tell me, what did you do before this de Brissac picture?"

"I worked in a printing shop, wrapping magazines."

"You weren't in pictures?"

"No, sir."

"Nor on the stage?"

"No sir."

"No experience at all, eh?"

"Well—no sir."

"But good God, when I undertook to pay you a hundred and fifty dollars a week, I did suppose that you" . . . he kicked angrily at the tread. "So I've got to take time every day for two months teaching you the things I'm paying you to know."

Her head dropped downward. She couldn't lift it.

"Just stop and think what this means. You're selling for a high price something you haven't got. You're getting money under false pretences. Oh my God, can we wonder that outsiders say we picture men are a pack of damn fools? . .. . Well, what're we going to do about it?"

She was crying now, but got out huskily the words—

"I don't know."

"What did de Brissac hire you for, anyway? Just as a type? Has he gone off his head? . . . Oh, well, go and get some lunch and come ready to learn something. Crying isn't going to help us if I can get anything at all out of you. If I can't it'll make a lovely picture.

That was how the gulf between them first opened up. From day to day it widened. And as her sense of failure deepened it seized on her immature faculties like a paralysis. There were scenes on that set, as the days and weeks went by, that she could live through only because her spirit was benumbed. It became, in a defensive instinctive way, calloused. She worked on, because she had to work on. She couldn't speak at home of her failure, couldn't let them see, as she now confusedly saw, the day drawing swiftly nearer on which her salary would stop. They'd never offer her another job here. Even though she was learning a little, doing her best every day, doggedly fighting it out, she couldn't please Mr. Mortimer. She was the wrong kind for him. And she could never go back to Earthwide. They'd hardly forgive her for jumping her contract and leaving a lawyer to tie up the loose ends. She was afraid to meet any of them, even on the street.

It would have helped if she could have had some little information of the progress on the other picture. De Brissac had promised to make her, and she still deeply believed in him. But no on spoke of it. She watched feverishly the notes and announcements of pictures in the newspapers and eagerly bought and read the picture magazines. But there was never a word. She couldn't understand it. The fantastic thought came that they might have suppressed it as a punishment to her. In such moments she quite forgot all it had cost. And she hardly dared speak about it to Henry. She even began, as fantastically, to fear that they might some day release the picture just to exhibit her little self to the whole world for the imposter she was.

Henry, for that matter, needed cheering nearly as much as she. The San Francisco men delayed endlessly. He was beginning to dream of raising the capital in New York. There, after all, was the real money. And she blindly encouraged him. The only small thrill in life for her these days arose from the knowledge that she could cheer him. A girlish ideal of marriage, of the helpmate, was her support.

One morning they went out on location in Pasadena. On the way back they stopped at Frank's Restaurant, in Beverly, three limousines full of them, for lunch. De Brissac was there.

Hattie couldn't eat. She couldn't enjoy a friendly tone of the crowded room . .. . Charlie Chaplin, in make-up and costume chatting vivaciously with Rob Wagner, outlining with a deft little rush of pantomine a play he meant to write one day (she caught a phrase of it here and there)—Agnes Ayres and Lila Lee and May MacAvoy talking from table to table—Conrad Nagel and Jack Holt eating the clawless lobster of the Coast—solemn authors from the East sitting at an end table with the Screen-Writers Guild—at other tables Sir Gilbert Parker and Edward Knoblock and Somerset Maugham—it seemed almost a village scene, everybody knowing everybody else, a gay picture of oddly painted faces and costumes exquisite and grotesque and of friends moving from this table to that for a brief visit, all stared at by a few family parties of Iowans . .. . for there, with two other of the Earthwide directors, sat de Brissac.

She had to fight down a tendency to flush. His hand was all right, though she thought she saw a white scar across the back. He smoked his cigarette with his old easy grace, laughed in his offhand way. He even gave her a careless nod across the room. As if nothing had happened. She felt afraid. Her one thought was to get out without having to speak to him. She couldn't do that. But she couldn't leave before the others in the Plantagenet party, and he managed to catch up with her as she was opening the screen door.

He said then—perfectly de Brissac, without a flutter of the nerves (her pulse was racing like mad)—"You haven't tied up with Mortimer for more than one picture, have you Hattie? . . . No? .. . . Well, don't."

That was all. It puzzled her. He turned to light a cigarette at the gas flame on the counter, and let her go.

The Super-Six Principle freed to the limit

Fast Get-away

and performance so smooth that only a stop watch shows how swift

The smoothness with which the Super-Six glides from standing start to high speed is totally different from the violent lunge with which high powered cars usually get under way.

And so in all it does there is such effortless ease that driver and passengers hardly realize how great is their performance supremacy.

The smooth, silent and elastic flow of power from the released Super-Six principle has set a new standard of unusual performance. At any speed and for any distance you demand you will never feel the slightest effort is exerted by motor or chassis.

You may never require such speed or power. But it is important that this ability results from absolute smoothness and freedom from vibration. The over-capacity means reserve ability for any task. It means minimum wear and repair need. It means easy riding without fatigue.

Until you ride in the Hudson Super-Six there is a motoring thrill you never can know.

Eight milk producers, whose product is alleged to have exceeded the 60,000 bacteria count provided by state statutes, were forbidden to make further deliveries in East Liverpool by health board officials today.

Samples collected from distributors showed milk delivered here by these producers to contain bacteria counts ranging as high as 250,000.

These producers cannot be reinstated until barns are renovated and cleaned and milk from their herds has been found to be satisfactory to health board officials.

Names of offenders were not made public.

It Really Happened

EVERYONE loves a good story. But how tame and unreal a fiction story is compared with a story that really happened!

The most fascinating characters are those that actually live—people such as we see around us every day. The most dramatic events are those that unfold on the stage of life—events often so thrilling, so strange that we are amazed when we realize that they are true.

Every month True Story Magazine prints 16 or more powerful, gripping, heart-touching narratives lifted right out of life itself. Its stories of love and marriage, of success and failure, of temptation and struggle, of laughter and tears have made this great magazine the favorite with over eight million readers. You, too, will enjoy it. True Story for May is now on the newsstands—price only a quarter. Get your copy today.

More "Inlets" for Electrical Services

YOU read much about electrical conveniences in the home, you see the newest appliances at the stores, your friends tell you how fine they are.

You, too, want to enjoy the benefits of modern electrical services. The extent to which you may enjoy them depends entirely upon the number of "inlets" in your home. No room can be completely furnished without having at least three wall or base plugs.

In the living room, provision must be made for floor lamps, table lamps, radio, vacuum cleaner. In the dining room, the table needs "inlets" for percolator, toaster, waffle iron and other appliances.

Ask the attendant at the lamp counter in our office to show you an ideal arrangement for electrical "inlets" in the modern home.

Eight milk producers, whose product is alleged to have exceeded the 60,000 bacteria count provided by state statutes, were forbidden to make further deliveries in East Liverpool by health board officials today.

Samples collected from distributors showed milk delivered here by these producers to contain bacteria counts ranging as high as 250,000.

These producers cannot be reinstated until barns are renovated and cleaned and milk from their herds has been found to be satisfactory to health board officials.

Names of offenders were not made public.

FRANK NEILSON RELIEF FUND TOTALS $741.25

MAN IN HOSPITAL

Contributions on Deposit in First National Bank.

The Frank Neilson relief fund reached the $741.25 mark today with the addition of $102 received during the past week in donations and from the sale of tickets.

The fund will be used in caring for the wife and eight children of the Bell school house potter, who is in the City hospital suffering from a broken back sustained in a mine cave-in about six weeks ago.

Donations, which have been received at the First National bank, depository for the funds, and at the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters headquarters, are as follows:

It Really Happened

EVERYONE loves a good story. But how tame and unreal a fiction story is compared with a story that really happened!

The most fascinating characters are those that actually live—people such as we see around us every day. The most dramatic events are those that unfold on the stage of life—events often so thrilling, so strange that we are amazed when we realize that they are true.

Every month True Story Magazine prints 16 or more powerful, gripping, heart-touching narratives lifted right out of life itself. Its stories of love and marriage, of success and failure, of temptation and struggle, of laughter and tears have made this great magazine the favorite with over eight million readers. You, too, will enjoy it. True Story for May is now on the newsstands—price only a quarter. Get your copy today.

More "Inlets" for Electrical Services

YOU read much about electrical conveniences in the home, you see the newest appliances at the stores, your friends tell you how fine they are.

You, too, want to enjoy the benefits of modern electrical services. The extent to which you may enjoy them depends entirely upon the number of "inlets" in your home. No room can be completely furnished without having at least three wall or base plugs.

In the living room, provision must be made for floor lamps, table lamps, radio, vacuum cleaner. In the dining room, the table needs "inlets" for percolator, toaster, waffle iron and other appliances.

Ask the attendant at the lamp counter in our office to show you an ideal arrangement for electrical "inlets" in the modern home.

AUTHORITIES TAKE STAND IN HEWITT TRIAL

Youth Charged With Killing Woman and Child.

BRUTAL CRIME

Widower Overcome With Emotion and Sorrow.

JEFFERSON, O., April 14.—Scratches, reported to have been observed on the face of Floyd Hewitt, 16 year-old Conneaut boy, the morning after Mrs. Fred Brown and her son, Fred, Jr., 5, were murdered in their home in North Conneaut, played a prominent part in the testimony of W. A. Fillinger, Conneaut policeman, in the trial of the youth here today.

Fillinger was sent to the scene of the double crime shortly after it was committed, last February.

JEFFERSON, O., April 14.—County officials will take the stand today in the trial of Floyd Hewitt, 16, charged with the murder of Fred Brown, Jr., 5, at Conneaut last February. Among those who will be called to testify are the coroner, sheriff and two police officers.

A pathetic scene was enacted late yesterday when Fred Brown, Sr., father of the murdered boy, told of returning from his work on the night of February 14, to find his wife, Celia Brown, and his little son, brutally beaten to death with a poker and baseball bat. Tears welled from the eyes of many in the courtroom during the bereaved man's recital, and he, himself was overcome with emotion and sorrow.

Witness Breaks Down.

With tears streaming down his cheeks, Brown told of finding his wife dead. Continuing his story he tried to tell of the finding of his son in the basement of the Brown home, but broke down completely, sobbing: "Oh, God, my poor little boy didn't have a chance."

The defendant, Hewitt, however, sat apparently unmoved during Brown's testimony, and showed little interest when the iron stove poker and baseball bat were introduced as exhibits by the state. He seemed more interested in the time of day, glancing at a watch worn on his wrist, at frequent intervals.

Hewitt is also under indictment charged with the killing of Mrs. Brown, but is being tried first on the charge of slaying the boy.

"Mental Incapability" Defense.

Prosecutor C. B. Cook, declaring that alienists may play but a small part in the trial, says he intends to base the state's case upon Hewitt's confession, made shortly after the double crime was committed and later repudiated, and also upon a button which was found near the scene of the murder which is alleged to have been ripped from a coat worn by the accused youth.

The defense expects to prove that Hewitt is "mentally incapable," saying that the confession could have been obtained from "any ten year old boy." Alienists are expected to appear for the defense in an attempt to prove that Hewitt, although 16 years old and of husky build, has the mind of a ten year old child.

One Man Killed, Three Others Hurt In Fire and Blast

CLEVELAND, April 14.—One man is dead here today and three others are suffering severe burns as the result of an explosion and fire late Wednesday, which wrecked the lacquer plant of the Patterson-Sargent Paint and Varnish company, causing estimated ramage of $20,000.

James E. Maurer, 35, died in a hospital following the blast. Simon Lucas, 56, at Lakeside hospital, may die as the result of burns about the head and body, and Milroy Mcgary, 23, and John Miller, 44, are both in the hospital with serious burns about the head and body.

Auto Thief Nabbed

Patrolman Cole took up a position near Second street, Wellsville, to watch for the Wellsville car which he believed might be headed for East Liverpool or Lisbon. Shortly after 10 o'clock the Whippet car, headed in the direction of East Liverpol, passed. Cole immediately identified it as the stolen car.

In another automobile he gave chase, but the driver evidently realizing that he was being followed, sped toward East Liverpool. After the machine turned from West Eighth street into Dresden avenue, Cole opened fire with his revolver. The bullet passed through the spare tire and glanced off the back of the body near the gas tank.

Chevrolet Car Abandoned.

Steele, frightened, police said, stopped the machine and offered no resistance when Cole placed him under arrest. Police say that he admitted the theft of the car.

Captain Conley, assisted by Chief Fultz, of the Wellsville police department and Mayor Fogo, continued their investigation into the thefts today.

The Chevrolet car stolen in Wellsville was located shortly before noon in the vicinity of Knoxville, Jefferson county, where it had been abandoned

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 14—Heavy selling of oil stocks at the beginning of trading today resulted in further declines in prices of the well-known issues in the Independent Oil group. Weakness in Marland, Phillips and Pan-American was accompanied by reports that these companies might not earn their dividends in the second quarter of the year. Due to the dropping of the bottom out of the crude oil markets.

The motor stocks and utility issues were able to make some progress in the upward direction, while the high-priced specialties like commercial solvents surged forward in a brilliant new advance. General Motors, Hudson and Chrysler were the leaders in the rally in motor shares. United States Steel was in demand around 171, and the Independent Steel shares sold at fractionally higher prices. Consolidated gas continued the advance inaugurated in Wednesday's late session.

Student Dies of Sleeping Sickness.

COLUMBUS, April 14.—Funeral services were being arranged here today for Charles Edwin Carlton, 24, of Columbus, a senior law student at Ohio State university, who succumbed to an attack of sleeping sickness which developed two weeks ago. He would have graduated in June from the law school.

CHINESE ARMY FIRES UPON U. S. GUNBOAT NOA

COLLEGE CLOSED

Conservative Forces Appear in Control in Shanghai.

PEKING, April 14. — Northern troops on the bank of the Yangtse river fired upon the United States gunboat Noa, the American sailors returning the fire with machine guns according to information received here today. The Noa is now anchored about a mile above Nanking.

American Consul Jenkins at Canton reported he was unsuccessful in settling the strike in that city. The Christian college at Canton is closing indefinitely.

Fifty Americans remain in the interior of Kwantung and about 100 in Canton and vicinity, nearly all being men.

Many Killed in Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, April 14.—Although there have been many killed and wounded during the past three days in the Nationalist raids against the extremists, the conservative forces today appeared to be in control, but the situation was still menacing.

Nationalist headquarters declare that the action taken against the extremists in disarming them and in firing on them when they gave battle was necessary for the restoration of peace and order in Shanghai.

It is impossible accurately to estimate the toils of the three days' intermittent fighting between the two factions of the Nationalist party, but conservative foreign observers believe there has been at least 250 killed and probably twice that number wounded. Many of the deaths occurred when mobs attempted to storm the headquarters of the Nationalist armies to regain the arms which had been taken from the irregulars.

Penghu Reported Captured.

The military situation in the north is still more or less obscure although reports of the capture of Penghu by the northerners and their continued advance are received here.

Chiang Kai Shek's proposed parleys with the extremists in the Nationalist ranks appear unlikely to materialize. Thus far the extremists have not appeared in Nanking for the conferences and it now seems probable that there may be two Nationalists governments created, one by the extremists in Hankow and one by Chiang Kai Shek in Shanghai.

In view of the military reverses suffered by the Nationalists in the north there are many who anticipate an agreement between Chiang and the northern leaders.

Powers Await Note Answer.

LONDON, April 14.—Awaiting reply to the powers' notes of protest against the Nanking incidents, Great Britain has instituted an exchange of diplomatic messages relative to sanctions to be taken in event the powers' notes are rejected.

Official advices to the foreign office today indicated that the powers may be placed in a difficult position by receiving two distinct replies to their protest. Eugene Chen, foreign minister in the Hankow government, is reported ready to send separate replies, striving to win the favor of France, Italy and Japan and defying the United States and Great Britain. At the same time Chaing Kai-Shek is reported to be ready to offer punishment to those found guilty of the Nanking incidents. Both replies are expected either tomorrow or Saturday.

DONAHEY VETOE WILL BE FINAL

No Measures to be Passed Over Governor's Head.

COLUMBUS, O., April 14.—Majority members of the Ohio senate and house of representatives today apparently were supporting the announced policy of Republican leaders of both legislative branches that no measures are to be passed over Governor Vic Donahey's veto this session.

If this procedure is adhered to, legislative activities at the close of this session will be marked contrast to that characterizing previous sessions when numerous measures were passed over Donahey's veto.

In accordance with a joint agreement reached by Republican members, the senate and house are scheduled to recess tonight until next Wednesday when they will return for two or three days and then recess for 10 days, or two weeks. The work of this session then would be completed at a session lasting a day or two.

Today's legislative calendars call for completion of the work of enacting the major financial program by passing the Aigler and Kumler bills in the house and the Sullivan and Norton bills in the senate.

Seven Husky Gobs In Novel Revue At Ceramic Theatre

Burlesque on Female Sex Will be Featured in Conjunction With Picture, "God Gave Me Twenty Cents."

Herbert Crawley's revue, a burlesque on the female sex, presenting seven husky gobs who saw service in the World war, is the stage offering in conjunction with the picture, "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," at the Ceramic theatre today, tomorrow and Saturday.

NEW ORLEANS during the Mardi Gras! Crowds run riot. Street parades. Beautiful floats. Grotesque figures. Confetti. Music. Dancing. Laughter. Drinking. Romance. Drama. Intrigue, Noise. Gayety. Mardi Gras!

There you have the background against which Herbert Brennon has faithfully transcribed a story of the New Orleans Mardi Gras, "God Gave Me Twenty Cents." A ship has docked and the men have joined the merry-makers. Up the street, laughing, singing, shouting. They pause before a restaurant. Seeing a shy little girl waiting on table, the mob's leader runs in, takes her in his arms, enthrones her on a float and they continue through the town.

It is late when he leaves the child at her door and it is the first time either of them have ever known what it is to love. Five days pass, six—and they are married. She, of the pensive look; and he, of the roistering sailor crew.

The seventh day arrives. The boat is about to leave harbor. He goes to a cafe to say goodbye before returning for a last word with his wife. Cassie enters. She is hard, hard as steel; but steel bends, and he is the only one ever to enter her heart. Her man—married, and going away. She wants, asks, taunts, begs to go with him. Finally, before all his fellows, she dares him to match his luck against hers. She'll toss two dimes in the air. Should both show heads, Cassie goes. If not, she stays.

The coins spin and drop. Both are—but why try to describe what happens? "God Gave Me Twenty Cents" is heralded as one of the season's finest dramas. Louis Moran, Lya de Putti, Jack Mulhall and William Collier Jr., are featured.

Rev. B. R. Johnson's Sermon.

"Unless humanity suffers there can be no genuine obedience to God's will" affirmed Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ at Holy week service in the First United Presbyterian church last evening. "The ministry of pain is an outstanding and necessary requirement in the soul's development in righteousness," he said. His subject was "The Christ of the Cross Today."

In attendance was perhaps the largest assemblage of the present series of downtown union meetings. Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the Baptist church, presided in the absence of Rev. L. J. Davison, the pastor, who had been called to preach in Chester.

The invocation and the benediction were given by Rev. John F. Dimit, pastor of the Methodist Protestant church.

The preliminary musical service was in charge of Prof. John C. Ussher, choral director. With Miss Wilma Warner, he sang, "God's Supreme Grace."

Eloquently and illuminatingly, Rev. Mr. Johnson depicted the suffering of Christ on the cross. He contrasted the easy life that could have been His had he not put behind Him the temptation to undergo the rigors of the crucifixion. "The Christ spared not Himself," he declared. "He did not do as mankind so frequently elects—follow the easier way. He accepted the attendant sufferings of the supreme sacrifice that He might acquire and assimilate in the degree necessary the maximum results of entire obedience of the Father's will.

"Eschewing earthly ambition with emoluments that included a kingdom He chose the pilgrimage that offered suffering, pain, shame, sorrow, humiliation, mocking, Gethsemane, Golgotha and the tomb. We, earth-born, walk the life of least resistence We turn our abilities to that which has material rewards. We will not waste our talents on what is held to be trivial.

Victory of Cross.

"Who accepts the duties of the ministry and the call to mission fields in these days as Christ did in refusing worldly honors tells Salan 'Get thee behind me.'

Man does not have to live to fulfill the reason for his existence. It well may be that his function in the highest analysis may be to die. We, seated in the warm security of our churches, may haphazardly affirm that the missionaries in China should be withdrawn from their stations in this the hour of trial. But they like the Christ who refused to enter, on occasion, Jerusalem, may feel that their hour for so doing has not yet come. Like Martin Luther, once he had taken a definite stand, they can not now retract."

Rev. Mr. Johnson declared that the church of the living God needed the conviction and the stability that assumes the responsibility of the Cross. "It is not he who makes the loudest noise in singing hosannas but they who in the daily tasks of life meets these responsibilities in the spirit of the Master no matter what their crosses may be who vouchafe to themselves the benefits accruing from the Christ sacrifice," he said.

That the victory of the Christ was really had in the garden of Gethsemane and not on the cross was asserted by Rev. Mr. Johnson. "The victory comes to all of us in the hour of decision," he said. "Not at the interval of pain always is this conquering consummated."

The suffering, silent and forgiving Christ was depicted by the speaker as among the impressing features of the crucifixion. "We as did Christ learn through pain, " he averred. "He suffered for the cruelty of the world. He despised shame for you and me. Unless we suffer we can not obey. There is a pain attached to all work in which there is accomplishment. If dumb brutes, following the pain of training, learn to obey their masters how much more should we in our earthly suffering catch the idea of thorough obedience to the Heavenly Father!"

Ability of Christ to Forgive.

The incomparable ability of Christ to forgive, not His friends, but His enemies, was emphasized by Rev. Mr. Johnson. "Though spit upon in the hour of His death, as result of their venom against Him, He prayed that they might be forgiven. When a friend forgives a friend the act is fine but to forgive an enemy who has encompassed one's end stands out as transcendent spiritual development."

How the Christ maintained a silence that indicated the depths of His spiritual nature in that He made no effort to resent the untoward and cruel treatment accorded Him was pointed out. "Led like a sheep to the slaughter He opened not His mouth. He answered them nothing. He refused them a supernatural sign. There are people like that today who demand that Christianity be bulwarked by some superstitious act. They would have a demonstration of supernatural power ere they will believe. But the power of the Christ is not in the Mount Carmel incidents of life. That occurrence had no real sense of victory for Elijah, for he was forced to flee thereafter. He found that God was not in the wind, the fire or the earthquake that ensued at his hiding, but rather in the still, small voice of the Most High.

Every church man and woman must learn that it is not by power or might, but in the silent, unseen forces God's transforming capabilities work in the human soul. In a duty thus performed is there a consciousness of God's spirit working within the changing soul. The sense of victory will come, not in the loud voice, but doing that which the spirit in a small voice tells us to perform.

"When the Messiah was being sung at Queen Victoria's coronation and the words were reached by the massive choir singing it: 'And He Shall reign forever and forever' the queen, though expected to sit, rose and lifted the crown from her head in deference to her Lord and King.

"In the face and light of the Cross we, too, His followers, acknowledge by our lives Him, the suffering, forgiving and silent Christ."

Airmen Break Record

"It's too wonderful!" she exclaimed when the world's record was broken. She could hardly contain herself.

Throughout the night the flyers caught catnaps on empty gasoline tanks, but neither had a good sleep. Now and then airplanes containing newspapermen and photographers soared up close to them and exchanged greetings through megaphones. Big flood lights and a rotating beacon were shot up from the flying field to guide the flyers to the landing place in event trouble might suddenly develop. But none did.

"Everything running fine," was the last word from the flyers. And conditions this morning were perhaps better than at any time during the flight.

The present flight of Acosta and Chamberlain is in the nature of a test preparatory to their hopping off on a New-York-to-Paris flight. It was estimated that if they flew in a straight line instead of ceaselessly circling above Mineola and vicinity the two airmen could have reached Paris by 9:30 o'clock last night, Constantinople by 6:30 this morning and Leningrad by 9:30 this morning.

PREDICTS NAVAL PARLEY FAILURE

WASHINGTON, April 14.—American efforts to accomplish further naval disarmament, through the three-power conference to start at Geneva in June, will likely prove unsuccessful, Representative Thomas S. Butler (R.) of Pennsylvania, chairman of the house naval affairs committee, predicted today after a visit to the White House.

Helps a Painful Aching Back.

Lumbago and a stiff, aching back suggest at once the need of a good diuretic to stimulate kidney secretions and rid the system of troublesome poisons that cause the distressing aches. Mrs. Black of Petersburg, Va., says: "Before I took Foley Pills diuretic, I could not stoop over nor raise up without great pain. Now since taking them I have none." Ask for Foley Pills diuretic. A prompt improvement will amply repay you. Satisfaction guaranteed. Sold everywhere.

Find Loot Taken from Bank.

VAN WERT, O., April 14.—With the finding of $3100 in bills by two boys near a water tank at Ohio City, authorities today believed that the robbery of the Farmers and Citizens' bank at Payne, Pauling county, would be promptly cleared up.

The boys found the money hidden near a railroad water tank, and turned it over to authorities, according to information here.

LADIES and gentlemen getting divorces in Paris would have been interested to hear a New York supreme court judge say two days ago, "Some day those ladies and gentlemen will find that they are not divorced at all. Some estate coming into court will raise and settle the question. A Gould divorce in Paris, apparently upheld in the United States courts, means nothing, because in that case Paris had been for years the last-established domicile of that husband and wife."

A CONFERENCE of college students has decided against trial marriage, quite solemnly, by a vote of 15 to 7. Wise Providence has decided against it by a vote of about 100 to 0.

When the seven young gentlemen who think they believe in trial marriage fall in love, they will know positively the marriage they plan is to last forever, would detest the theory of a trial, and insult anybody suggesting it.

Or if not, they would not be worth marrying.

COMMANDER UDET, greatest German flyer left over the war, will fly in a gliding plane without any engine from a mountain peak in Bavaria, 2,000 feet high.

This means literally tobogganing from the top of a mountain to the valley below on thin air. It would astonish those long dead and buried that used to smile at the poem describing Darius Green and his flying machine.

COUNTY AGENT KIWANIS GUEST

Floyd Lower, Lisbon, Explains Work of Farm Bureau.

Work of the Columbiana county farm bureau and kindred agencies were discussed by Floyd Lower, Lisbon, county extension agent, at the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club in Larkins' annex, Market street, today.

The speaker was introduced by John E. Newell, Chester, second vice-president, who presided. Plans for the three-club meeting which will be held at East Palestine on April 26, at which Col. Carmi A. Thompson of Cleveland, will speak, were outlined.

"Agriculture is one of the basic industries of the country today," said Lower, "and none of those basic industries can prosper unless the others prosper, also.

"Fifty years ago the farmer produced everything for his table except salt, pepper and coffee; when he built a house he bought only nails and window glass; for his wearing apparel, thread, buttons and leather boots were purchased. Today things are vastly different.

"Granges have been formed for a fraternal purpose. These organizations have been largely instrumental in the establishment of rural free delivery, parcels post and other legislation which has been a benefit to the rural community.

"The farm bureau is a business organization which co-operates with the granges to help the farmers. In this county the farm bureau was organized six years ago. This organization heads market associations to assist the farmer in selling his products. In this county we have a dairy, live stock and wool marketing organization."

TORNADO-TORN TOWN IN TEXAS BURIES DEAD

Revised Estimates Place Storm Fatalities at 90.

44 IDENTIFIED

Panhandle District Fears Blow From Twister.

ROCK SPRINGS, Texas, April 14.—Rock Springs today resumed the melancholy task of burying its dead, victims of Tuesday's tornado.

Some estimates place the death list as close to 90, when a final checkup is completed, although only 44 bodies have been identified. A number of persons are unaccounted for and some of the injured are not expected to live.

Burial preparations were of the crudest sort, dynamite being used to blast holes in the little cemetery wherein the bodies were laid.

Night brought a cessation of the funerals, which started late yesterday, and the tired residents, worn out from their experiences and the heavy tasks they had performed through the preceding night and day, stood in little groups on what was left of Main street.

Buried as Found.

The dead were buried as they were found, there being no time to prepare the bodies.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 14.—Five of the injured brought here on trains from Rock Springs last night, succumbed today to the fearful wounds they received in the tornado which wrecked that little town Tuesday night. Many more are in a critical condition, and at least five more of the seriously injured were not expected to survive the day.

Sixty-nine victims are in the hospitals here. One of the injured, Jim Bouriand, died enroute. Of the dead, 49 have been identified.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 14.—Citizens living in Texas' Panhandle were on "pins and needles" today, in drear fear that a death dealing tornado, such as the one that wiped out the little village of Rock Springs, 120 miles south of here, Tuesday night, might strike their own town.

Five Towns Report Storms.

Storm conditions prevailed today over the entire district, centering in the extreme southeastern part of the state. A series of disturbances of the dreaded twister type, were reported from many places. No heavy loss of life occurred, but property damage was heavy, the reports state.

Hebron, Palestine, Belton, Temple and Fort Worth were some of the towns reporting storms of cyclonic proportions late yesterday. One child was killed at Fort Worth and considerable property damage was done.

AUTHORITIES TAKE STAND IN HEWITT TRIAL

Youth Charged With Killing Woman and Child.

BRUTAL CRIME

Widower Overcome With Emotion and Sorrow.

JEFFERSON, O., April 14.—Scratches, reported to have been observed on the face of Floyd Hewitt, 16-year-old Conneaut boy, the morning after Mrs. Fred Brown and her son, Fred, Jr., 5, were murdered in their home in North Conneaut, played a prominent part in the testimony of W. A. Fillinger, Conneaut policeman, in the trial of the youth here today.

Fillinger was sent to the scene of the double crime shortly after it was committed, last February.

JEFFERSON, O., April 14.—County officials will take the stand today in the trial of Floyd Hewitt, 16, charged with the murder of Fred Brown, Jr., 5, at Conneaut last February. Among those who will be called to testify are the coroner, sheriff and two police officers.

A pathetic scene was enacted late yesterday when Fred Brown, Sr., father of the murdered boy, told of returning from his work on the night of February 14, to find his wife, Celia Brown, and his little son, brutally beaten to death with a poker and baseball bat. Tears welled from the eyes of many in the courtroom during the bereaved man's recital, and he, himself was overcome with emotion and sorrow.

Witness Breaks Down.

With tears streaming down his cheeks, Brown told of finding his wife dead. Continuing his story he tried to tell of the finding of his son in the basement of the Brown home, but broke down completely, sobbing: "Oh, God, my poor little boy didn't have a chance."

The defendant, Hewitt, however, sat apparently unmoved during Brown's testimony, and showed little interest when the iron stove poker and baseball bat were introduced as exhibits by the state. He seemed more interested in the time of day, glancing at a watch worn on his wrist, at frequent intervals.

Hewitt is also under indictment charged with the killing of Mrs. Brown, but is being tried first on the charge of slaying the boy.

"Mental Incapability" Defense.

Prosecutor C. B. Cook, declaring that alienists may play but a small part in the trial, says he intends to base the state's case upon Hewitt's confession, made shortly after the double crime was committed and later repudiated, and also upon a button which was found near the scene of the murder which is alleged to have been ripped from a coat worn by the accused youth.

The defense expects to prove that Hewitt is "mentally incapable," saying that the confession could have been obtained from "any ten year old boy." Alienists are expected to appear for the defense in an attempt to prove that Hewitt, although 16 years old and of husky build, has the mind of a ten year old child.

One Man Killed, Three Others Hurt In Fire and Blast

CLEVELAND, April 14.—One man is dead here today and three others are suffering severe burns as the result of an explosion and fire late Wednesday, which wrecked the lacquer plant of the Patterson-Sargent Paint and Varnish company, causing estimated ramage of $20,000.

James E. Maurer, 35, died in a hospital following the blast. Simon Lucas, 56, at Lakeside hospital, may die as the result of burns about the head and body, and Milroy Mcgary, 23, and John Miller, 44, are both in the hospital with serious burns about the head and body.

Auto Thief Nabbed

Patrolman Cole took up a position near Second street, Wellsville, to watch for the Wellsville car which he believed might be headed for East Liverpool or Lisbon. Shortly after 10 o'clock the Whippet car, headed in the direction of East Liverpol, passed. Cole immediately identified it as the stolen car.

In another automobile he gave chase, but the driver evidently realizing that he was being followed, sped toward East Liverpool. After the machine turned from West Eighth street into Dresden avenue, Cole opened fire with his revolver. The bullet passed through the spare tire and glanced off the back of the body near the gas tank.

Chevrolet Car Abandoned.

Steele, frightened, police said, stopped the machine and offered no resistance when Cole placed him under arrest. Police say that he admitted the theft of the car.

Captain Conley, assisted by Chief Fultz, of the Wellsville police department and Mayor Fogo, continued their investigation into the thefts today.

The Chevrolet car stolen in Wellsville was located shortly before noon in the vicinity of Knoxville, Jefferson county, where it had been abandoned

Johnson Tonsorial Parlor Features 24 Haircut Styles

Twenty four different styles of haircuts and trims, in fact practically anything that milady's tonsorial demands or taste dictate, are available at the Johnson hair cutting parlor, an exclusive establishment for women and children, which was recently opened in the Loomis building, directly over Herche's drug store, Dresden avenue and Sixth street.

His category of bobs includes the Swirl, Frisco, Swanson, Boyish, Pineapple, Persian, Evening Dress, Hollywood, French Rolling, Girlish, Coiling, Sweetheart, Mannish, Peacock, Side Part and Swedish, as well as the New York shingle, Boyish Pomp, Paris Rave and the Chicago Trim.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 14—Heavy selling of oil stocks at the beginning of trading today resulted in further declines in prices of the well-known issues in the Independent Oil group. Weakness in Marland, Phillips and Pan-American was accompanied by reports that these companies might not earn their dividends in the second quarter of the year. Due to the dropping of the bottom out of the crude oil markets.

The motor stocks and utility issues were able to make some progress in the upward direction, while the high-priced specialties like commercial solvents surged forward in a brilliant new advance. General Motors, Hudson and Chrysler were the leaders in the rally in motor shares. United States Steel was in demand around 171, and the Independent Steel shares sold at fractionally higher prices. Consolidated gas continued the advance inaugurated in Wednesday's late session.

CHINESE ARMY FIRES UPON U. S. GUNBOAT NOA

COLLEGE CLOSED

Conservative Forces Appear in Control in Shanghai.

PEKING, April 14. — Northern troops on the bank of the Yangtse river fired upon the United States gunboat Noa, the American sailors returning the fire with machine guns according to information received here today. The Noa is now anchored about a mile above Nanking.

American Consul Jenkins at Canton reported he was unsuccessful in settling the strike in that city. The Christian college at Canton is closing indefinitely.

Fifty Americans remain in the interior of Kwantung and about 100 in Canton and vicinity, nearly all being men.

Many Killed in Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, April 14.—Although there have been many killed and wounded during the past three days in the Nationalist raids against the extremists, the conservative forces today appeared to be in control, but the situation was still menacing.

Nationalist headquarters declare that the action taken against the extremists in disarming them and in firing on them when they gave battle was necessary for the restoration of peace and order in Shanghai.

It is impossible accurately to estimate the toils of the three days' intermittent fighting between the two factions of the Nationalist party, but conservative foreign observers believe there has been at least 250 killed and probably twice that number wounded. Many of the deaths occurred when mobs attempted to storm the headquarters of the Nationalist armies to regain the arms which had been taken from the irregulars.

Penpu Reported Captured.

The military situation in the north is still more or less obscure although reports of the capture of Penpu by the northerners and their continued advance are received here.

Chiang Kai Shek's proposed parleys with the extremists in the Nationalist ranks appear unlikely to materialize. Thus far the extremists have not appeared in Nanking for the conferences and it now seems probable that there may be two Nationalists governments created, one by the extremists in Hankow and one by Chiang Kai Shek in Shanghai.

In view of the military reverses suffered by the Nationalists in the north there are many who anticipate an agreement between Chiang and the northern leaders.

Powers Await Note Answer.

LONDON, April 14.—Awaiting reply to the powers' notes of protest against the Nanking incidents, Great Britain has instituted an exchange of diplomatic messages relative to sanctions to be taken in event the powers' notes are rejected.

Official advices to the foreign office today indicated that the powers may be placed in a difficult position by receiving two distinct replies to their protest. Eugene Chen, foreign minister in the Hankow government, is reported ready to send separate replies, striving to win the favor of France, Italy and Japan and defying the United States and Great Britain. At the same time Chaing Kai-Shek is reported to be ready to offer punishment to those found guilty of the Nanking incidents. Both replies are expected either tomorrow or Saturday.

DONAHEY VETOE WILL BE FINAL

No Measures to be Passed Over Governor's Head.

COLUMBUS, O., April 14.—Majority members of the Ohio senate and house of representatives today apparently were supporting the announced policy of Republican leaders of both legislative branches that no measures are to be passed over Governor Vic Donahey's veto this session.

If this procedure is adhered to, legislative activities at the close of this session will be marked contrast to that characterizing previous sessions when numerous measures were passed over Donahey's veto.

In accordance with a joint agreement reached by Republican members, the senate and house are scheduled to recess tonight until next Wednesday when they will return for two or three days and then recess for 10 days, or two weeks. The work of this session then would be completed at a session lasting a day or two.

Today's legislative calendars call for completion of the work of enacting the major financial program by passing the Aigler and Kumler bills in the house and the Sullivan and Norton bills in the senate.

Seven Husky Gobs In Novel Revue At Ceramic Theatre

Burlesque on Female Sex Will be Featured in Conjunction With Picture, "God Gave Me Twenty Cents."

Herbert Crawley's revue, a burlesque on the female sex, presenting seven husky gobs who saw service in the World war, is the stage offering in conjunction with the picture, "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," at the Ceramic theatre today, tomorrow and Saturday.

NEW ORLEANS during the Mardi Gras! Crowds run riot. Street parades. Beautiful floats. Grotesque figures. Confetti. Music. Dancing. Laughter. Drinking. Romance. Drama. Intrigue. Noise. Gayety. Mardi Gras!

There you have the background against which Herbert Brennon has faithfully transcribed a story of the New Orleans Mardi Gras, "God Gave Me Twenty Cents." A ship has docked and the men have joined the merry-makers. Up the street, laughing, singing, shouting. They pause before a restaurant. Seeing a shy little girl waiting on table, the mob's leader runs in, takes her in his arms, enthrones her on a float and they continue through the town.

It is late when he leaves the child at her door and it is the first time either of them have ever known what it is to love. Five days pass, six—and they are married. She, of the pensive look; and he, of the roistering sailor crew.

The seventh day arrives. The boat is about to leave harbor. He goes to a cafe to say goodbye before returning for a last word with his wife. Cassie enters. She is hard, hard as steel; but steel bends, and he is the only one ever to enter her heart. Her man—married, and going away. She wants, asks, taunts, begs to go with him. Finally, before all his fellows, she dares him to match his luck against hers. She'll toss two dimes in the air. Should both show heads, Cassie goes. If not, she stays.

The coins spin and drop. Both are—but why try to describe what happens? "God Gave Me Twenty Cents" is heralded as one of the season's finest dramas. Louis Moran, Lya de Putti, Jack Mulhall and William Collier Jr., are featured.

Rev. B. R. Johnson's Sermon.

"Unless humanity suffers there can be no genuine obedience to God's will" affirmed Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ at Holy week service in the First United Presbyterian church last evening. "The ministry of pain is an outstanding and necessary requirement in the soul's development in righteousness," he said. His subject was "The Christ of the Cross Today."

In attendance was perhaps the largest assemblage of the present series of downtown union meetings. Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the Baptist church, presided in the absence of Rev. L. J. Davison, the pastor, who had been called to preach in Chester.

The invocation and the benediction were given by Rev. John F. Dimit, pastor of the Methodist Protestant church.

The preliminary musical service was in charge of Prof. John C. Ussher, choral director. With Miss Wilma Warner, he sang, "God's Supreme Grace."

Eloquently and illuminatingly, Rev. Mr. Johnson depicted the suffering of Christ on the cross. He contrasted the easy life that could have been His had he not put behind Him the temptation to undergo the rigors of the crucifixion. "The Christ spared not Himself," he declared. "He did not do as mankind so frequently elects—follow the easier way. He accepted the attendant sufferings of the supreme sacrifice that He might acquire and assimilate in the degree necessary the maximum results of entire obedience of the Father's will.

"Eschewing earthly ambition with emoluments that included a kingdom He chose the pilgrimage that offered suffering, pain, shame, sorrow, humiliation, mocking, Gethsemane, Golgotha and the tomb. We, earth-born, walk the life of least resistence We turn our abilities to that which has material rewards. We will not waste our talents on what is held to be trivial.

Victory of Cross.

"Who accepts the duties of the ministry and the call to mission fields in these days as Christ did in refusing worldly honors tells Salan 'Get thee behind me.'

Man does not have to live to fulfill the reason for his existence. It well may be that his function in the highest analysis may be to die. We, seated in the warm security of our churches, may haphazardly affirm that the missionaries in China should be withdrawn from their stations in this the hour of trial. But they like the Christ who refused to enter, on occasion, Jerusalem, may feel that their hour for so doing has not yet come. Like Martin Luther, once he had taken a definite stand, they can not now retract."

Rev. Mr. Johnson declared that the church of the living God needed the conviction and the stability that assumes the responsibility of the Cross. "It is not he who makes the loudest noise in singing hosannas but they who in the daily tasks of life meets these responsibilities in the spirit of the Master no matter what their crosses may be who vouchafe to themselves the benefits accruing from the Christ sacrifice," he said.

That the victory of the Christ was really had in the garden of Gethsemane and not on the cross was asserted by Rev. Mr. Johnson. "The victory comes to all of us in the hour of decision," he said. "Not at the interval of pain always is this conquering consummated."

The suffering, silent and forgiving Christ was depicted by the speaker as among the impressing features of the crucifixion. "We as did Christ learn through pain," he averred. "He suffered for the cruelty of the world. He despised shame for you and me. Unless we suffer we can not obey. There is a pain attached to all work in which there is accomplishment. If dumb brutes, following the pain of training, learn to obey their masters how much more should we in our earthly suffering catch the idea of thorough obedience to the Heavenly Father!"

Ability of Christ to Forgive.

The incomparable ability of Christ to forgive, not His friends, but His enemies, was emphasized by Rev. Mr. Johnson. "Though spit upon in the hour of His death, as result of their venom against Him, He prayed that they might be forgiven. When a friend forgives a friend the act is fine but to forgive an enemy who has encompassed one's end stands out as transcendent spiritual development."

How the Christ maintained a silence that indicated the depths of His spiritual nature in that He made no effort to resent the untoward and cruel treatment accorded Him was pointed out. "Led like a sheep to the slaughter He opened not His mouth. He answered them nothing. He refused them a supernatural sign. There are people like that today who demand that Christianity be bulwarked by some superstitious act. They would have a demonstration of supernatural power ere they will believe. But the power of the Christ is not in the Mount Carmel incidents of life. That occurrence had no real sense of victory for Elijah, for he was forced to flee thereafter. He found that God was not in the wind, the fire or the earthquake that ensued at his hiding, but rather in the still, small voice of the Most High.

Every church man and woman must learn that it is not by power or might, but in the silent, unseen forces God's transforming capabilities work in the human soul. In a duty thus performed is there a consciousness of God's spirit working within the changing soul. The sense of victory will come, not in the loud voice, but doing that which the spirit in a small voice tells us to perform.

"When the Messiah was being sung at Queen Victoria's coronation and the words were reached by the massive choir singing it: 'And He Shall reign forever and forever' the queen, though expected to sit, rose and lifted the crown from her head in deference to her Lord and King.

"In the face and light of the Cross we, too, His followers, acknowledge by our lives Him, the suffering, forgiving and silent Christ."

Airmen Break Record

"It's too wonderful!" she exclaimed when the world's record was broken. She could hardly contain herself.

Throughout the night the flyers caught catnaps on empty gasoline tanks, but neither had a good sleep. Now and then airplanes containing newspapermen and photographers soared up close to them and exchanged greetings through megaphones. Big flood lights and a rotating beacon were shot up from the flying field to guide the flyers to the landing place in event trouble might suddenly develop. But none did.

"Everything running fine," was the last word from the flyers. And conditions this morning were perhaps better than at any time during the flight.

The present flight of Acosta and Chamberlain is in the nature of a test preparatory to their hopping off on a New-York-to-Paris flight. It was estimated that if they flew in a straight line instead of ceaselessly circling above Mineola and vicinity the two airmen could have reached Paris by 9:30 o'clock last night, Constantinople by 6:30 this morning and Leningrad by 9:30 this morning.

PREDICTS NAVAL PARLEY FAILURE

WASHINGTON, April 14.—American efforts to accomplish further naval disarmament, through the three-power conference to start at Geneva in June, will likely prove unsuccessful, Representative Thomas S. Butler (R.) of Pennsylvania, chairman of the house naval affairs committee, predicted today after a visit to the White House.

Helps a Painful Aching Back.

Lumbago and a stiff, aching back suggest at once the need of a good diuretic to stimulate kidney secretions and rid the system of troublesome poisons that cause the distressing aches. Mrs. Black of Petersburg, Va., says: "Before I took Foley Pills diuretic, I could not stoop over nor raise up without great pain. Now since taking them I have none." Ask for Foley Pills diuretic. A prompt improvement will amply repay you. Satisfaction guaranteed. Sold everywhere.

Find Loot Taken from Bank.

VAN WERT, O., April 14.—With the finding of $3100 in bills by two boys near a water tank at Ohio City, authorities today believed that the robbery of the Farmers and Citizens' bank at Payne, Pauling county, would be promptly cleared up.

The boys found the money hidden near a railroad water tank, and turned it over to authorities, according to information here.

LADIES and gentlemen getting divorces in Paris would have been interested to hear a New York supreme court judge say two days ago, "Some day those ladies and gentlemen will find that they are not divorced at all. Some estate coming into court will raise and settle the question. A Gould divorce in Paris, apparently upheld in the United States couris, means nothing, because in that case Paris had been for years the last-established domicile of that husband and wife."

A CONFERENCE of college students has decided against trial marriage, quite solemnly, by a vote of 16 to 7. Wise Providence has decided against it by a vote of about 100 to 0.

When the seven young gentlemen who think they believe in trial marriage fall in love, they will know positively the marriage they plan is to last forever, would detest the theory of a trial, and insult anybody suggesting it.

Or if not, they would not be worth marrying.

COMMANDER UDET, greatest German flyer left over the war, will fly in a gliding plane without any engine from a mountain peak in Bavaria, 2,000 feet high.

This means literally tobogganing from the top of a mountain to the valley below on thin air. It would astonish those long dead and buried that used to smile at the poem describing Darius Green and his flying machine.

COUNTY AGENT KIWANIS GUEST

Floyd Lower, Lisbon, Explains Work of Farm Bureau.

Work of the Columbiana county farm bureau and kindred agencies were discussed by Floyd Lower, Lisbon, county extension agent, at the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club in Larkins' annex, Market street, today.

The speaker was introduced by John E. Newell, Chester, second vice-president, who presided. Plans for the three-club meeting which will be held at East Palestine on April 26, at which Col. Carmi A. Thompson of Cleveland, will speak, were outlined.

"Agriculture is one of the basic industries of the country today," said Lower, "and none of those basic industries can prosper unless the others prosper, also.

"Fifty years ago the farmer produced everything for his table except salt, pepper and coffee; when he built a house he bought only nails and window glass; for his wearing apparel, thread, buttons and leather boots were purchased. Today things are vastly different.

"Granges have been formed for a fraternal purpose. These organizations have been largely instrumental in the establishment of rural free delivery, parcels post and other legislation which has been a benefit to the rural community.

"The farm bureau is a business organization which co-operates with the granges to help the farmers. In this county the farm bureau was organized six years ago. This organization heads market associations to assist the farmer in selling his products. In this county we have a dairy, live stock and wool marketing organization."

TORNADO-TORN TOWN IN TEXAS BURIES DEAD

Revised Estimates Place Storm Fatalities at 90.

44 IDENTIFIED

Panhandle District Fears Blow From Twister.

ROCK SPRINGS, Texas, April 14.—Rock Springs today resumed the melancholy task of burying its dead, victims of Tuesday's tornado.

Some estimates place the death list as close to 90, when a final checkup is completed, although only 44 bodies have been identified. A number of persons are unaccounted for and some of the injured are not expected to live.

Burial preparations were of the crudest sort, dynamite being used to blast holes in the little cemetery wherein the bodies were laid.

Night brought a cessation of the funerals, which started late yesterday, and the tired residents, worn out from their experiences and the heavy tasks they had performed through the preceding night and day, stood in little groups on what was left of Main street.

Buried as Found.

The dead were buried as they were found, there being no time to prepare the bodies.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 14.—Five of the injured brought here on trains from Rock Springs last night, succumbed today to the fearful wounds they received in the tornado which wrecked that little town Tuesday night. Many more are in a critical condition, and at least five more of the seriously injured were not expected to survive the day.

Sixty-nine victims are in the hospitals here. One of the injured, Jim Bourland, died enroute. Of the dead, 49 have been identified.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 14.—Citizens living in Texas' Panhandle were on "pins and needles" today, in drear fear that a death dealing tornado, such as the one that wiped out the little village of Rock Springs, 120 miles south of here, Tuesday night, might strike their own town.

Five Towns Report Storms.

Storm conditions prevailed today over the entire district, centering in the extreme southeastern part of the state. A series of disturbances of the dreaded twister type, were reported from many places. No heavy loss of life occurred, but property damage was heavy, the reports state.

Hebron, Palestine, Belton, Temple and Fort Worth were some of the towns reporting storms of cyclonic proportions late yesterday. One child was killed at Fort Worth and considerable property damage was done.

Alternates — Hazel Fitzsimmons, Fredericktown school; Charles Hickman, Bell school; Eugene Pugh, No. 9 school.

Fifth and Sixth Grades.

Winners — Vera Lyons, Calcutta school; Ruth Foy, Fredericktown school; Dorothy Green, Calcutta school.

Repaid By a Rapid Improvement.

F. M. Platte, Sec'y, Switchmen's Union, Peoria, Ill., talks: "Two bottles of Foley Pills diuretic removed all symptoms of my kidney trouble, stopping backache and pains, dizziness and floating specks, correcting irregular kidney action and clearing secretions. Foley Pills have my heartiest recommendation." Months of cold and damp weather put a heavy strain on the kidneys. Help them today with Foley Pills diuretic. A quick improvement will amply repay you. Satisfaction guaranteed. Ask you Druggist for Foley Pills diuretic. Sold everywhere.

"Dear, I want you to know now that S. S. S. has been used for over 100 years—it is made from fresh roots and herbs—growing children sometimes need a tonic, as do their elders—it is helping you, and I want you to take it regularly before each meal."

Try S. S.S . and you will be surprised how quickly your appetite improves. If you are tired, run-down and listless you owe it to yourself and family to give S. S. S. a trial. It helps Nature build up red blood corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the body is nourished. S. S. S. is time-tried and reliable, and is unequalled for restoring strength and vitality.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

That "Kruschen" Feeling?

It's the Little Daily Dose that Does it

Grandpa In High Spirits This Morning

Start the day the Kruschen way and you won't have to envy Grandpa's health and spirits; you'll be enjoying them yourself.

Just drop two little tablets of Kruschen into your breakfast cup of coffee or tea every morning, and before a week is past you'll hardly know yourself for the same person.

It's the little daily dose that does it—and it means no trouble and little expense. The tablets dissolve instantly and you can't taste them.

Did you ask if all this improvement in health and spirits is possible? Of course it is! Science endorses it. Common sense proves it.

Man in his wild state enjoyed the same unflagging energy that you marvel at in wild animals and young children. Then came civilization, lack of fresh air and exercise, unnatural feeding, anxieties, overwork . . . all tending to deprive the system of certain mineral salts without which health is in real danger.

The six salts in Kruschen are identical with Nature's vital salts. They give back natural health to those who lead unnatural lives. They expel all the clogging waste matter that accumulates in the system of everyone who leads an indoor life.

A new sense of health and fitness—"that Kruschen feeling"—will be yours, day in, day out.

Tasteless in Tea or Coffee

Drop 2 tablets in your breakfast cup every morning—1 tablet for children. It's the little daily dose that does it.

Kruschen Salts

Good Health for a Trifle a Day

Kruschen Salts may well be called the Universal Medicine. It is the biggest selling proprietory medicine in Great Britain. In Germany, Holland, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, South America and Canada the sales are enormous—there's a reason—it's the little daily dose that does it. 60 Tablets—60 Cents, at all druggists.

After a week of taking Kruschen Salts you begin to feel an unaccustomed sense of exhilaration—physical and mental. You are healthier. A new driving power within you impels you to tackle your work and your play with a vigor that surprises both yourself and your associates. You become, in fact, an entirely new being, cheery, energetic, self-reliant; and you look back upon the old days of slackness and depression as upon a bad dream which the morning light has dispelled.

WELLSVILLE CHURCHES WILL OBSERVE GOOD FRIDAY

"CRUCIFIXION" TO BE RENDERED BY ONE CHOIR

Dr. George H. Birney Will Speak on "Unforgivable Sin."

AFTERNOON MEET

Easter Pageant, "The Dawning," Will be Featured.

Special services in observance of Good Friday will be held in Wellsville churches tomorrow. Appropriate music will feature the majority of the programs while pastors, in their subjects, will discuss the Easter theme.

In the First Methodist Episcopal church the augmented [choir] under "The Crucifixion," by Sir John Stainer, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. G. D. Lowary, organist, and Miss Jean Fogo, pianist, will be accompanists, and Mrs. A. J. Stallsmith the director.

Immediately after the program, Dr. George Hugh [Birney], conducting services in the Methodist Episcopal church, will speak on the subject, "The Unforgivable Sin."

The musical program follows:

"And They Came to Gethsemane"—Tenor solo, James McQueen.

"The Agony in the Garden"—Bass solo, Mr. Kriter and tenor solo, Rowland Smith.

"Processional to Calvary"—Chorus and tenor solo, Ralph Merriman.

"And When They Were Come"—Soprano solo, Mrs. Eugene Turner.

"The Mystery of Humiliation"—Chorus.

"He Made Himself of No Reputation"—Alto solo, Miss Jennie Adams.

"God So Loved the World"—Chorus.

"Father Forgive Them"—Solo, James McQueen.

"So Thou Liftest Thy Petition"—Alto and tenor, Mrs. Ted Swearingen, Ray Alton.

"The Mystery of Intercession"—Chorus.

"And One of the Malefactors"—Male chorus.

"When Jesus Saw His Mother"—Tenor, Harold Driggs; bass, Mr. Kretser.

"The Appeal of the Crucified"—Chorus.

"After This Jesus Knowing All Things Were Now Accomplished"—Tenor, Ray Alton.

Rev. Edward J. Gracey, pastor of the Immaculate Conception church, announces the following order of services:

Mass of the pre sanctified at 8 a. m. Services between 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon; and services in the evening at 7:30 o'clock, with a sermon on "The Passion." Father Gracey's sermon subject tonight will deal with "The Blessed Sacrament."

Holy Week observance in the First Methodist Protestant church will be continued tomorrow night with services at 7:30 o'clock in charge of the pastor, Rev. L. C. Momberg. His sermon theme will be "The Day of Sorrow and Suffering." There will be special music at services both tonight and tomorrow night.

In the First Christian church, Good Friday services will be featured by the presentation of an Easter pageant, "The Dawning," in which there are approximately 40 speaking parts. The pageant will be repeated on Sunday.

Rev. D. Porter Williams, of East Palestine, will occupy the pulpit of the Second Presbyterian church tomorrow night for the last of the special Holy Week services prior to Easter Sunday. Rev. H. C. Foster of the Bethel Presbyterian church will speak tonight.

John Jobling Ill.

John Jobling of Akron, who suffered a stroke Sunday, was moved yesterday to the home of a daughter, Mrs. George Wilson, Commerce street. His condition is said to be serious.

Mr. Jobling was a former East Liverpool pottery worker.

BASEBALL LOT TO BE FENCED

Local City League Club Lays Plans for Season.

Definite steps toward the construction of a fence to inclose Nicholson Park, near Eighteenth street, and the completion of other arrangements preliminary to the opening of the City Industrial Baseball league, featured a conference of officers and members of the Wellsville Nash Motors club, the Wellsville entry in the circuit, here last night.

The club decided to start construction work on the proposed fence as soon as possible in order that the playing field will be in shape for the opening contests of the campaign, which will be launched Saturday, May 7.

The cost of the fence will run the club in the proximity of $1,000, a large part of which, according to officers, has been raised through the sale of advertising space.

Samuel Hannum, local druggist, is president of the club and C. J. Kraus, garage owner, is secretary-treasurer. Roy Nicholson and J. C. Armstrong, joint managers, are progressing rapidly in the task of lining up a strong squad for the season. Most of last year's performers will be back on the roster, as well as probably a number of new men.

OPEN NAZARENE REVIVAL MEETS

Large crowds attended the opening services of the revival of the Church of the Nazarene, Third and Main streets, last night.

Rev. B. H. Pocock, pastor of the Chester Nazarene church, spoke on the subject, "The Valley of Dry Bones."

The revival services will continue for two weeks. A class of new members will be received into the church on Sunday evening.

A candy treat will be given the children on Sunday afternoon at the close of Sunday school sessions, according to announcement by Rev. J. A. Stewart, pastor.

Victor Edgar, of East Liverpool, will lead song services during the revivals, while music will be furnished by the Hutchinson quartet, the Nazarene Male quartet and other musicians.

FRANKLIN PASTOR TO PREACH HERE

Rev. C. B. Kirby, of Franklin, Pa., will preach tomorrow evening at services in the Free Methodist church, Seventeenth street, Rev. L. C. Andre, pastor, announced today.

Rev. Kirby preached at revival services in the local church shortly before Christmas of last year.

Special music will be a feature of Friday's services.

SALINEVILLE

The combined choirs of United Presbyterian and Presbyterian churches will render the sacred cantata, "Easter Praise," by Carrie B. Adams, in the Presbyterian church, on Easter Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. The program follows: Prelude, "Onward Christian Soldiers," Mrs. S. B. Larkins; "Sing Aloud Unto God Our Strength," choir; "Therefore My Heart is Glad," Allen Maple; "Thou Wilt Show Me the Path of Life," choir; "For If We Believe," Mrs. David Wilkie; "Joy Cometh in the Morning," trio, Mrs. Nell Hutson, Miss Pauline James and David Wilkie; "Let Thy Will Be Done," Miss Fae Smith; "The Stone Which the Builders Refused," David Wilkie; "Lift Up Your Heads, O Ye Gates," choir; "I Will Extol Thee," Boice James; "The Day of Ressurrection," choir; "Behold I show you a Mystery," Pressly S. Hart; "Christ the Lord is Risen Again," choir; offertory, "The Palms," Mrs. S. B. Larkins; "Blessed Be the Lord," final, chorus; invocation, Rev. Ross S. Wilson; benediction, Rev. W. S. Martin; organist, Mrs. S. B. Larkins; director, Mr. R. W. Daley. A silver offering will be taken to defray expenses.

Mrs. W. S. Martin, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Mary J. Horne, and her sister, Mrs. C. L. Baker, in Washington county, Pa., returned home Monday.

Mrs. Elizabeth George of Washington street has returned home after visiting her daughter, Mrs. Louis Perkins, at Cuyahoga Falls.

Miss Lou Henderson is reported on the sick list at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Blanche Hanly, Main street.

Mrs. Ruth Wilson and children of Malvern, are spending the week with Mrs. Wilson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Henderson.

Rev. W. S. Martin was a dinner guest Sabbath in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Henderson, Water street.

The Gideon Bible class of the Presbyterian church met in regular session Tuesday evening at the home of Boice James. Devotional service was conducted by Rev. W. S. Martin. President Blaine Patterson had charge of the business session. A special committee was appointed to secure a moving picture at the Graubner opera house in the near future, including Paul James, chairman, Arthur Lewis and William Eason. The proceeds will be added to the pipe organ fund. Mrs. James served lunch, assisted by her daughter, Louise. Games, stunts and music featured the social hour. Those receiving prizes were B. S. Patterson, Paul James, Arthur Lewis, Harry Webb and James McCormick.

Mr. and Mrs. John Vine and daughter, Ethel, Charles Bowser, from North Canton, and Miss Lillian Witwer, of Greentown, were Sunday guests of Attorney and Mrs. S. E. McCormick, Main street.

Mrs. Meda Smith has returned after visiting friends in Steubenville.

Mrs. Jetta McCormick, who has been confined to her home for several weeks with a broken ankle, was visiting her sister, Miss Ida Madison, Monday.

The Women's Christian Temperance union of Salineville held their regular meeting Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Grace Wallace. The program was in charge of Mrs. Eva Henderson, and the president, Mrs. H. B. Haverfield, had charge of the business session. The hostess served lunch.

Mrs. Jesse Raffle has returned home from the Youngstown hospital where she underwent an X-ray examination.

PLAN PLOWING DEMONSTRATION

County Agent Floyd Lower announced today that a plowing demonstration, in connection with corn borer control work would be given on the D. M. Smith farm, located between Highlandtown and Salineville and on the Wellsville-Salineville improved road at 1:30 o'clock next Saturday afternoon. The demonstration will be in charge of Mr. Lower, and it will be shown how farmers can make use of the farm equipment they now have for this particular character of work. Large crowds have witnessed the plowing demonstrations given on other farms throughout the county during the last week.

IRONDALE

T. A. White of New Somerset visited home folks Saturday.

Misses Anna McLain and Maude McMahan were East Liverpool visitors Saturday.

The Dorcas Bible class of the M. E. church were entertained at the home of Mrs. Bertha Eakin Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. L. X. Johnston visited relatives in Cadiz Sunday.

The Irondale Civic club will hold its regular meeting at the high school building Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Jenkins lodge No. 471, F. & A. M., will hold a special communication Thursday evening. The F. C. degree will be conferred.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES A STEWART

FILIPINO'S REPRESENTATIVE CONTINUES TO URGE FREEDOM

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Are the Philippines fit for independence?

"That depends on whose standard you test fitness by," answered Pedro Guevara, one of the Filipinos' two "resident commissioners" in Washington.

PEDRO GUEVARA

A commissioner's job is similar to a territorial delegate's. He sits in congress but he can't vote.

"As you define fitness here in the United States," continued Don Pedro, "no, I don't suppose we're fit for independence. But then, you see, according to our Filipino standard, you're not fit for independence in the United States."

THE commissioner read, as if absent mindedly, a few headlines from a Washington newspaper he held in his hand.

"'Reed Soon to Take Slush Fund 'all Again,' 'Millionaire Caught in Bootleg Ring,' 'Evangelist Sees Nation's Downfall,' 'Chicago Disarms Following Tuesday's Election,' 'Child Murderer Condemned,' 'Three Dead From Poison Booze,' 'Oil Magnate Faces Jail,' 'Stuffed Pennsylvania Ballot Boxes Charged.'

"No country would enjoy independence," commented Senor Guevara, 'if it had to leave it to some other country to decide whether its people were fit for independence or not."

BUT 70 per cent of the Philippines' trade is with the United States.

"That's just it," complained the commissioner.

"So long as we're a dependency of the United States, our trade's largely restricted to what we can do with Americans.

"If we were independent, and could shape our own laws, we'd undertake to keep all the trade we have now with the United States, and to develop a lot more, with Great Britain and Germany and France and Spain and the rest of Europe, and Asia—such as we had even in the bad days of Spanish rule, but have lost today."

BUT an independent Filipino nation might be gobbled by Japan.

"As a member in good standing of the League of Nations," rejoined Don Pedro, "Japan could hardly find an excuse for grabbing us if we were independent.

"It's true that the Japanese probably will attempt it, if ever they have trouble with the United States and we're still an American dependency.

"That's one of the dangers our connection with the United States exposes us to."

"AND at any rate," insisted the commissioner, "we surely are entitled to one of two things:

"1. To independence, or

"2. To become part of the United States in the full sense of the word.

"If independence is denied to us, we ask statehood."

"HOW," queried Senor Guevara, "would you like us as a state—a different people, a different language, a different race, 10,000 miles away?

"We'd have two senators. Our population would give us around 10 representatives. We'd hold the balance of power. The United States wouldn't govern us. We'd govern the United States.

"Caramba! It's impossible!

"All right. You can't give us statehood. Then, in all fairness, you must grant us independence.

"It seems to me so just a request that I don't see how you can long refuse."

Old Canvas Brings $325,000.

Much interest is being taken in European art circles over the story of the finding of the Romney portrait of Lord Nelson, for which the British government is said to have offered $325,000. Bernard Finnegan, the discoverer, is employed in a grocery establishment in Dublin. He purchased some years ago a few "odds and ends" from a workman, now dead, who was excavating ruins at Kilmainham Castle, paying a few dollars for the lot. He preserved a dirty piece of canvas about 12 inches square, and when he read of the recent court action about a Romney substitute and saw a photograph of the missing picture, he showed his canvas to an expert. The expert recognized it and got in touch with others who sold it to the government.

Germany Has Flatiron Block.

Hamburg's new skyscraper is built along the lines of the famous Flatiron building in New York. At one corner the structure resembles the prow of a huge ship. Another feature is an elevated sidewalk. Upper floors of the building have promenades on the outside to be used by workers in the offices. The building is said to be the nearest approach in Germany to the American skyscraper.

Don't Squeeze Blackheads —Dissolve Them

Squeezing out blackheads makes large, ugly pores. The safe and sane way to get rid of these blemishes is to dissolve them. Get two ounces of Calonite powder from your druggist, sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth, rub over the blackheads, and every one, big or little, will disappear at once.

"Heavens! Not a Drop!"

When Mother is Alarmed!

CONSTIPATION, biliousness, coated tongue, feverish headache, sick stomach—then is the time when mother relies upon Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. "My son had been constipated and bilious since birth. At the age of five he had such an attack of sour stomach and bad breath I had to take him out of kindergarten. It was then I gave him Syrup Pepsin. He improved from the first dose and soon was back to school completely restored and healthier than he had ever been before. It is a great comfort to have a medicine for children in which we can have such implicit confidence." (Name and address sent on request.)

Wins Confidence of Old Folks

Old people are charmed by the gentle, kindly action of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. No pain, gripe or depressing "flushing" of the bowels. Just an easy movement and the fine feeling of restful comfort. There's seldom any real sickness in the home that learns to use Syrup Pepsin at the first sign of coated tongue, fever, biliousness, headache and such troubles due to constipation. Recommended in a million homes. Sold by all druggists.

Rev. Edward J. Gracey, pastor of the Immaculate Conception church, announces the following order of services:

Mass of the pre sanctified at 8 a. m. Services between 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon; and services in the evening at 7:30 o'clock, with a sermon on "The Passion." Father Gracey's sermon subject tonight will deal with "The Blessed Sacrament."

Holy Week observance in the First Methodist Protestant church will be continued tomorrow night with services at 7:30 o'clock in charge of the pastor, Rev. L. C. Momberg. His sermon theme will be "The Day of Sorrow and Suffering." There will be special music at services both tonight and tomorrow night.

In the First Christian church, Good Friday services will be featured by the presentation of an Easter pageant, "The Dawning," in which there are approximately 40 speaking parts. The pageant will be repeated on Sunday.

Rev. D. Porter Williams, of East Palestine, will occupy the pulpit of the Second Presbyterian church tomorrow night for the last of the special Holy Week services prior to Easter Sunday. Rev. H. C. Foster of the Bethel Presbyterian church will speak tonight.

John Jobling Ill.

John Jobling of Akron, who suffered a stroke Sunday, was moved yesterday to the home of a daughter, Mrs. George Wilson, Commerce street. His condition is said to be serious.

Mr. Jobling was a former East Liverpool pottery worker.

BASEBALL LOT TO BE FENCED

Local City League Club Lays Plans for Season.

Definite steps toward the construction of a fence to inclose Nicholson Park, near Eighteenth street, and the completion of other arrangements preliminary to the opening of the City Industrial Baseball league, featured a conference of officers and members of the Wellsville Nash Motors club, the Wellsville entry in the circuit, here last night.

The club decided to start construction work on the proposed fence as soon as possible in order that the playing field will be in shape for the opening contests of the campaign, which will be launched Saturday, May 7.

The cost of the fence will run the club in the proximity of $1,000, a large part of which, according to officers, has been raised through the sale of advertising space.

Samuel Hannum, local druggist, is president of the club and C. J. Kraus, garage owner, is secretary-treasurer.

Roy Nicholson and J. C. Armstrong, joint managers, are progressing rapidly in the task of lining up a strong squad for the season. Most of last year's performers will be back on the roster, as well as probably a number of new men.

OPEN NAZARENE REVIVAL MEETS

Large crowds attended the opening services of the revival of the Church of the Nazarene, Third and Main streets, last night.

Rev. B. H. Pocock, pastor of the Chester Nazarene church, spoke on the subject, "The Valley of Dry Bones."

The revival services will continue for two weeks. A class of new members will be received into the church on Sunday evening.

A candy treat will be given the children on Sunday afternoon at the close of Sunday school sessions, according to announcement by Rev. J. A. Stewart, pastor.

Victor Edgar, of East Liverpool, will lead song services during the revivals, while music will be furnished by the Hutchinson quartet, the Nazarene Male quartet and other musicians.

FRANKLIN PASTOR TO PREACH HERE

Rev. C. B. Kirby, of Franklin, Pa., will preach tomorrow evening at services in the Free Methodist church, Seventeenth street, Rev. L. C. Andre, pastor, announced today.

Rev. Kirby preached at revival services in the local church shortly before Christmas of last year.

Special music will be a feature of Friday's services.

CRASH AFTERMATH

James Weston and Charles Green Also Sue.

Three suits growing out of automobile accidents have been filed in municipal court.

An action for $1,500 damages for personal injuries growing out of a traffic accident, east of the Second Baptist church, Pennsylvania avenue, on December 16, 1926, has been filed by Thomas W. Causey, Pennsylvania avenue, against Clarence Hanna, Dixonville.

While enroute from his home to the street car stop, Causey claims that he was struck by an automobile driven by Hanna. As a result of the accident he alleged that he spent eight days in the City hospital suffering from a concussion of the brain and injuries to his back and legs. He charged that when injured he was receiving $4.34 per day at the Chester tin mill and that his injuries are of a permanent nature.

The suit was filed by Brookes and Thompson, Causey's counsel.

James Weston, Anderson Boulevard, is seeking $100 for damages alleged to have been done to his Chevrolet sedan, when struck by a Ford coupe driven by Lloyd Barnes Maplewood avenue, on the Park Way road between Thompson Park and East End early in the morning of April 6, 1927.

The Weston machine, driven by Leonard Weston, was headed north of the Park Way road, travelling, it is claimed, about 10 miles an hour when the crash occurred. As a result of the collision the running board, fenders, apron, and hub cap were demolished, and the frame and axle bent, it is alleged.

The suit was filed by Cochran and Crawford representing the plaintiff.

Charles Green, through his attorney, Frank E. Grosshans, has brought an action for $75 damages against William H. Finley, 635 Avondale street, for the repairs t his automobile, due to a collision near the corner of Fifth and Jefferson streets, March 22, 1927. Finley, it is claimed, was driving his Oldsmobile in Fifth street at an "excessive rate of speed" when the he crashed into Green's Ford coupe. The radiator, wheels and tires on the plaintiff's car were damaged, it is charged.

William Rodgers, insurance dealer, of 1414 Pennsylvania avenue, has been named defendant in a suit for $321 damages brought by Donald Glass, Wellsville, as the result of an automobile crash near the Fisher bakery, Pennsylvania avenue, November 19, 1926.

In his petition, filed by Attorney W. A. O'Grady, Wellsville, Glass claims that he was driving in a westerly direction on Pennsylvania avenue about 6:30 p. m. when Rodgers, alleged to have been traveling on the left side of the road, headed in an apposite direction, crashed into him. Rodgers is represented by Attorney W. H. Vodrey.

It was a keen, frosty morning, and the stout elderly gentleman on his way to catch the early train stepped on the slippery footpath on the street and immediately fell, and was propelled by his weight down the steep incline. A young lady who was coming out of her gate was overturned by the onrushing body, sat upon him, and was carried toward the foot of the hill. As they reached the railway station at the end of their rapid journey, the gentleman panted, "You get off, miss I stop here."

Mother! Now You Know How To Help Your Puny, Weak Child

It's Your Duty to Aid Him To Grow Strong, Active and Sound in Body and Mind.

That little boy or girl of yours—that doesn't weigh enough — that isn't strong—has no appetite—lacks vigor and is perhaps backward, listless and timid.

What are you going to do with him?

Have you ever heard of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets sugar coated and as easy for ailing children to take as candy?

Every druggist in America sells them—60 tablets, 60 cents—and the supremely good combination of upbuilding agents surely does help the sickly, run down, puny, frail little ones.

No need to give him any more nasty Cod Liver Oil—McCoy's Tablets, rich in vitamines, are made to take the place of that good but evil smelling, stomach upsetting medicine, and they surely do.

Try them as directed for 30 days, mother; and if at the end of that time you are not delighted with the improvement in your dear little one, get your money back.

You can get them at any druggist and remember, too, they are fine for thin, run down, underweight men and women who need more flesh, strength, vigor and vitality. Demand McCoy's—the original and genuine.

We recommend this paint because

WE made this test ourselves. Deliberately soiling a wall painted with Velour finish, we cleaned it with soap, water and a sponge. After the wall had thoroughly dried, we looked it over carefully and there wasn't a trace of the marks left. That's why we are so enthusiastic about Devoe Velour Finish.

No need to give him any more nasty Cod Liver Oil—McCoy's Tablets, rich in vitamines, are made to take the place of that good but evil smelling, stomach upsetting medicine, and they surely do.

Try them as directed for 30 days, mother; and if at the end of that time you are not delighted with the improvement in your dear little one, get your money back.

You can get them at any druggist and remember, too, they are fine for thin, run down, underweight men and women who need more flesh, strength, vigor and vitality. Demand McCoy's—the original and genuine.

WE made this test ourselves. Deliberately soiling a wall painted with Velour finish, we cleaned it with soap, water and a sponge. After the wall had thoroughly dried, we looked it over carefully and there wasn't a trace of the marks left. That's why we are so enthusiastic about Devoe Velour Finish.

Complete Organization of City Recreation Baseball Loop

14 SOFT BALL OUTFITS JOIN NEW CIRCUIT

Berths are Available for Two Additional Teams.

Organization of the Review-Tribune's City Recreation baseball league was completed last night at a meeting of team representatives at the newspaper office.

Fourteen clubs from all parts of the city, as well as several from Newell formally obtained membership in the organization, and, as a result of the large number of teams, it was decided by the respective managers to split the whole into two divisions, or two eight-team circuits.

This, necessarily, will mean that two more clubs will be added to the official roster.

While one Chester combine and one more East End team from the Laughlin plant there are considering affiliating with the double circuit, the first two applications for the vacant berths probably will be accepted by the league.

Membership now includes:

Northside, Printers, Heimies, Brian Clothiers, Smith News, Y. M. C. A., Homer Laughlin, Bulger Drugs, National Furniture, Laughlin Acmes, Ohio Power, K. T. K. Decorators, Roselawns and Laughlin, East End.

The league season will be launched as soon as possible, following the filing of eligibility lists, entry fees, and the drafting of rules by the rules committee.

Although the game will be made to conform as much as possible to the national pastime, several changes will be necessary because of the difference in equipment and style of play.

Principally, these changes will shorten the distance of the base lines from 90 to approximately 60 feet, and the pitcher's lane to approximately 30 or 35 feet. With the exception of minor details, the game, in other respects, is much similar to organized baseball.

The league elected F. J. Wise as president and T. F. Scheffer as secretary- treasurer.

T. F. Scheffer, N. F. Lorah, Joseph Dickey and Floyd Beckett were appointed to the rules committee. This committee will meet Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. to draft regulations for the season.

On next Wednesday night, the league representatives will convene again at the newspaper office to file eligibility lists, which probably will be limited to 15 players each, submit entry fees and complete other arrangements prior to actual play.

The Yankees booted the Mackmen again, 10 to 4. Simmons got four hits for the losers, while Koenig collected five safeties and fielded brilliantly for the winners.

High Squad to Lose Four Regulars; Win 14, Drop Nine During 1926-27 Season

Sitting—Dick Larkins, Francis McConville, James Hamilton (captain), Elmer English (captain-elect 1927-28.)

Standing—Tommy Maley, student manager, Norman Ankrim, A. Todd, Bloor, Wildblood, Coach N. F. Lorah.

WITH six out of the above group of nine high school basketballers graduating this spring, it appears that next year's cage selections will have to be made largely from the Reserves.

Center English, captain-elect of the 1927-28 combine, is the only regular who will report for duty next fall. Captain Jim Hamilton of this year's squad, Forward Bill McKeever, Center Todd, Guard Francis McConville, Guard Dick Larkins, and Forward Norman Ankrim will don the Blue and White no more.

But what a likely looking bunch of Reserves to pick from, all juniors next year, too.

Wildblood, who played a great many games at forward this year, will be one of next year's best bets. Bloor, of this year's squad, also will be back, as well as Lewis.

In addition, from the Reserves there will be Harry McConville and Dyke to help out "Elmo" English, and Witherow, Feit and Small as forwards. The guards may be culled from among Menge, Deems, Skidmore, Crawford, Bailey and Nease.

Seven of these lads, along with Lindell, another promising chap, comprised the Buckeyes' team that won intermediate honors in the recent tourney at Washington, Pa. The outfit included Wildblood, Witherow, McConville, Skidmore, Feit, Small and Bailey.

Win 14 Out of 23.

Coach N. F. Lorah's squad copped 14 games out of the 23 played during the season and won their only clash outside of regular high school ranks, with the Elks, or a total of 15 out of 24.

Three road games, to start off the season, proved rather disastrous, the locals dropping games to Rocky River, John Marshall and Canton McKinley, although, in all justice, it must be said they were far from peak strength, several members of the squad being unable to make the Cleveland journey.

They complied a total of 768 points or 33.4 points per game, against 602, or 26.17 points per games, by their opponents.

E. L. H. S. 18, John Marshall 19*.
E. L. H. S. 24, Rocky River 43*
E. L. H. S. 26, Canton McKinley 36*.

OTTAWA HOCKEY SQUAD CHAMPS

OTTAWA, Ont., April 14.—The Ottawa Senators are the new champions of the Hockey world. They clinched the Stanley cup by defeating the Boston Bruins, 3 to 1, for the second time here last night in the final game of the series. Denneny made two goals while the Bruins were unable to solve Ottawa's defense until the last minute of play.

A general fistic battle, in which members of the Bruins were prominent, occurred near the end of the game, and after the contest was over Referee Jerry Laflamme was knocked down.

TILDEN 'DONE' SAY EXPERTS

Don't Expect Bill to Reach Wimbledon Finals.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 14.—William T. Tilden, the modern Diogenes with a lantern for a jaw, is all washed up and ready for the sexton, according to pained observers who have watched our Will leaping heavily from court to court in the south. One of them claimed today that Will wouldn't even reach the finals at Wimbledon, provided he was sufficiently ill advised as to go through with his trip abroad; another predicted that the young man's entire comeback program was out like an ex-window.

These are dubious reports, indeed, and their most interesting feature is that you are not compelled to believe them. After observing Will fixedly over a period of years, the writer finds that great satisfaction may be derived from taking nothing for granted about him.

However, if one cares to accept the reports at face value, one also must accept the fact that the Davis cup really is going on a long journey this time and that probably a Frenchman will hold our national championship in singles for the second successive year. Unless Tilden returns as the old dominant personality, the downfall of the American dynasty in lawn tennis is inevitable.

Richards has turned square; Johnston no longer can give you one hundred per cent at will; William is an in-and-outer but usually out when you want him and the others are just young fellows trying to get along.

Favor Tilden's Whims.

The tennis association, conscious of the fact that, without Tilden, American prestige must be prepared to absorb one on the Van Dyke, has put in an active winter placating Will's every whim, even to his flair for the drama. Have the boys been wasting their kind attention, of which they have none too much?

Advices from practical tennis men answer in the affirmative. They say that Will's demountable knee, which dismounted gracefully in the last Davis cup matches and failed to seek the saddle again during the ensuing national championships, is getting no better rapidly. They say that, in consequence, Will no longer is the sprightly buck and wing performer of other years; that, in fact, he is quite slow. In conclusion, they claim that his confidence has been impaired.

The Robins outbatted the Braves, but lost, 4 to 2, because of stupid baserunning. Brooklyn also broke out into a rash of errors at inopportune moments.

Chicago May Be Site For Next Big Battle

Financial Possibilities There Discussed by Tunney's Pilot and Promoter Jim Mullen.

After assuring Gibson it would be possible to finance the affair in Chicago, either at Soldiers' field or in one of the baseball parks Mullen was told to go ahead and "sign up the best opponent in the heavyweight division.

Gibson said the recent ruling of the New York commission which voids all of Tunney's contracts with Tex Rickard, makes the champion a free agent. After the conference with Mullen, Gibson said:

"A heavyweight championship bout for Chicago would be a big boost for boxing in the middle west. I am sure Tunney will agree to defend his title any place where his price is met."

ZANGE REFEREE IN CAGE TILT

Will Work Elks-Midland Benefit Clash Friday.

Charles J. "Dim" Zange, old Central league referee, will handle the main bout between the Midland Collegians and the East Liverpool Elks tomorrow night in the high school auditorium.

The clash, the final basketball battle of the season here, will be a benefit for Frank Neilson, pottery worker, who is a patient in the city hospital as a result of injuries sustained some time ago in a mine accident.

A fund is being raised throughout the city for Neilson and his family and the entire proceeds of Friday's game will be added to it.

Zange has not worked any basketball games for a long while, but nevertheless knows the game from stem to stern.

With Jess Haines of the Cardinals yielding only two hits, the Cubs curled up and died on the small end of a 5 to 0 score. Thevenow led the attack on Blake with three hits.

Buick MOTOR CARS

A 37-30

How far will your car go before the miles begin to tell?

If you buy a new car every 10,000 miles or so, almost any car will give you satisfactory results.

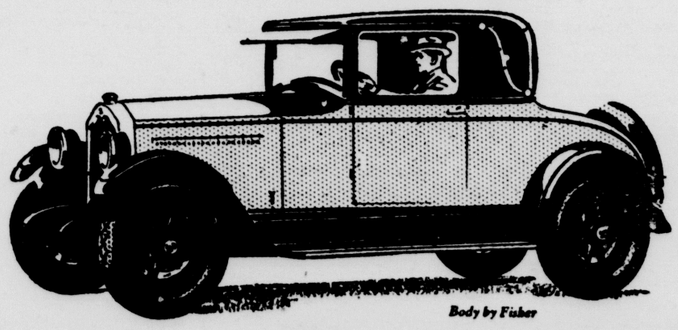

But if you want the same fine service on through the second, third and the many following tens of thousands of miles, buy a Buick!

Accurate tests at the great Proving Ground of General Motors, where all cars are driven and examined, show Buick's sturdy structure and powerful Valve-in-Head Engine still gaining in efficiency at the point in miles where other cars are distinctly on the down grade.

The unremitting care in Buick design, the constant tests at the Proving Ground, the unceasing quest for better performance—these are responsible for Buick's superior efficiency.

Savings resulting from enormous volume production make possible this extensive research as well as the superior construction for which Buick is internationally famous. Buick cars are built for greater satisfaction to their owners.

HOSKINSON WINS PITCHERS' DUEL

Hoskinson and Simcox staged a pretty mound duel yesterday afternoon at the Chester school ball lot as the Straight Angles defeated the Centrals, 5 to 4, in a league contest.

League Standing.

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Right Angles	5	1	.833
Central Angles	2	4	.333
Straight Angles	2	4	.333

Rain held the other teams idle.

Buick

A 37-30

How far will your car go before the miles begin to tell?

If you buy a new car every 10,000 miles or so, almost any car will give you satisfactory results.

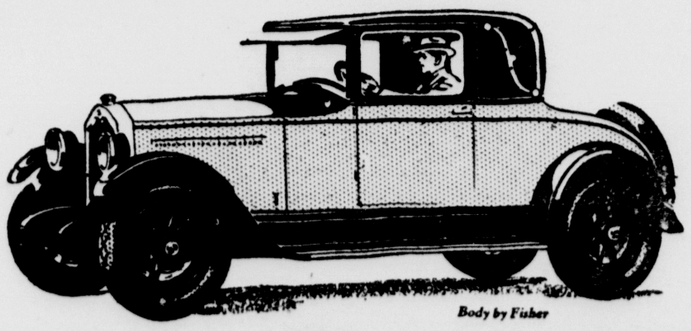

But if you want the same fine service on through the second, third and the many following tens of thousands of miles, buy a Buick!

Accurate tests at the great Proving Ground of General Motors, where all cars are driven and examined, show Buick's sturdy structure and powerful Valve-in-Head Engine still gaining in efficiency at the point in miles where other cars are distinctly on the down grade.

The unremitting care in Buick design, the constant tests at the Proving Ground, the unceasing quest for better performance—these are responsible for Buick's superior efficiency.

Savings resulting from enormous volume production make possible this extensive research as well as the superior construction for which Buick is internationally famous. Buick cars are built for greater satisfaction to their owners.

Buy a Buick for years of exceptional service.

COUPES

$1195 TO $1925

All prices are f. o. b. Flint, Mich., government tax to be added. Buick delivered prices are lower because the smallest possible handling charge has been established by the Buick factory.

The G. M. A. C. financing plan, the most desirable, is also available.

Review-Tribune Radio Program

(Compiled by United Press)

FRIDAY, APRIL 15

(GOOD FRIDAY)
VERSATILE LIGHT OPERA STARS
Instead of opera comique, the National Light Opera Company will present tonight Rossini's "Stabat Mater." Adele Parkhurst, soprano, Frances Paperte, mezzo-soprano, George O'Brien, tenor, Theodore Webb, baritone, and Jack Oakley, basso, together with the orchestra under Cesare Sodero, will exhibit their versatility in the noted oratorio. WEAF, WRC, WGY and KSD will broadcast, beginning at 10:30 p.m., Eastern.

NOTICE TO OWNERS OF PROPERTY TO BE ASSESSED.
The following named owners of the property, bounding and abutting upon the herein designated proposed improvement, and the owners of the property hereinafter designated, are hereby notified that on the 17th day of March, 1927, the Council of the City of East Liverpolo, Ohio, duly passed Resolution Number 403, to improve Thompson Avenue from where the paving now ends on Thompson Avenue across Watson Avenue and on through the Bradshaw Property to the improvement on Vine Street by grading and paving the same with brick on a concrete foundation or with sheet asphalt on a concrete foundation or with brick on a slag foundation or re-enforced concrete or concrete to the full width of the same and by constructing therein all necessary concrete curbs, retaining walls, sewers, ditches, bridges, gutters and drains and doing everything else necessary or essential to make and complete said improvement, as provided for and indicated in and on the general plans, specifications, estimates and profiles, heretofore adopted and approved for improvement of said street, bounded and described as set forth in said Resolution Number 403, and in accordance with said plans, specifications, estimates and profiles, on file in the Office of the Director of Public Service.
That the whole cost of said improvement, less one-fiftieth thereof and the cost of intersections, shall be assessed by the foot frontage upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit:
All lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said proposed improvement, which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specially benefitted by said improvment; and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of the preliminary and other surveys, and of printing and publishing the notices, resolutions and ordinances required, and the serving of said notices, the cost of construction, together with interest on bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures.
By return made by the Assistant Clerk of Council, said owners not being residents of Columbiana County or not having been found and said properties are as follows:

To Those Who Suffer Stomach Distress, Gas and Indigestion

Druggist Makes This Offer

Money Back If One Bottle of Dare's Mentha Pepsin Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used.

You can be so distressed with gas and fullness and bloating from an over-worked, abused or weak stomach that you think your heart is going to stop beating.

Your stomach may be so distended that your breathing is short and gaspy.

You think perhaps you are suffocating.

You are dizzy and pray for quick relief—what's to be done?

Just one tablespoonful of Dare's Mentha Pepsin and speedily the gas disappears, the pressing on the heart ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally.

Oh! What blessed relief; but why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have them at all?

With this wonderful medicine you can overcome dyspepsia, or that condition of faulty digestion that keeps the stomach in constant rebellion and one bottle will prove it.

Over 6000 bottles sold in one small New Jersey town last year—and the best druggists the country over concede that its phenomenal sales are due to the fact that most cases are promptly relieved. Ask for Dare's Mentha Pepsin, a pleasant to take health-building stomach elixir that all druggists and regular pharmacists anywhere in America guarantee.

In the manufacture of explosives wood flour has its greatest usefulness as a constituent of dynamite. Nitroglycerine in its natural state is extremely sensitive to shock and dangerous to handle, and is, therefore barred from transportation on common carriers. But when diluted with carbon carriers such as wood flour, and oxygen carriers such as sodium and ammonium nitrate, this sensitiveness is greatly reduced, and the mixtures are known as dynamite.

Miners, quarrymen, and other users have learned to associate light color with fresh, high-quality dynamite, hence the wood flour used in the manufacture thereof must be light in color. This is unfortunate, it is pointed out, because many species of slightly colored woods could be made into equally good wood flour. The demand for light colored dynamite is cited as an example of custom and prejudice overruling facts.

One of the new industries requiring wood flour as a raw material is the manufacture of Bakelite, from which pipe bits and sparkling amber-like beads are made. Bakelite is also used in radio dials, cementing material around incandescent electric bulbs, and automobile ignition blocks, radiator caps, level balls, etc.

Wood flour is increasingly used in the making of oatmeal wall papers, and the colored flour is likewise used in the manufacture of velvel wall papers.

Chief among the other uses of the flour is its application as a filler in the manufacture of composite materials which vary widely in their consistency and properties. The more important application of these synthetic compounds includes their manufacture into unbreakable dolls—which have saved a heartbreak for many a little mother — brush backs, candlesticks, checkers, bowling balls, toys, graphophone records and countless other objects.

Various kinds of grinding machines are being perfected in this country for the manufacture of wood flour, and there seems no valid reason for American mill operators to waste their waste, so to speak, when it can be turned to profit.

U.S. AIRMEN BREAK SUSTAINED FLIGHT RECORD

Today

Assorted Chinese Fights.
Up Rose Babe Ruth.
Can't Worry Mussolini.
Not Divorced At All.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

FIERCE fighting, Chinese killing Chinese, in Shanghai, Hangchow, Nanking, Amoy and other places. China is having her Bolshevist scare yesterday's news tells of many Chinese killed on suspicion of being "red." They act quickly there, suspects searched for "red" literature, are immediately executed if literature is found.

NO reply yet from China about the demand for punishment, apologies and reparations sent by five big powers, including Uncle Sam. No trouble about apologies probably, they cost nothing. Punishment and reparations will be more difficult.

The great powers did not demand territorial concessions, or an additional grip on Chinese finances, an improvement on old methods.

At that news millions of hearts beat as one. Baseball, and the greatness of Ruth, are valuable because they make little boys physically ambitious. They would be more valuable if they made big boys play the game instead of watching others.

BERT ACOSTA and Clarence D. Chamberlain went up in their Bellanca monoplane yesterday carrying a 2,800 pound load to stay up 50 hours. This is in preparation for a flight from New York to Paris which would establish a world's record.

A SHORT time back, Lord Northcliffe paid $50,000 to the first man that ever flew the English channel.

In years to come airships above storms and clouds, about eight miles up, will circle the earth, dropping passengers at principal stops in smaller planes. Those great round-the-world airships will take on fuel and supplies from smaller planes, and come down for repairs, perhaps not once in a year. Eventually they will take wireless power from the earth. Then men will really fly.

ITALIAN radicals speak their minds in court, even in the shadow of death. Zaniboni, member of the Italian chamber, corresponding to a congressman in this country, accused of plotting to kill Mussolini, says: "I admit I planned to restore the government to the state by killing Mussolini, the imposter. I should have done it had I been arrested four hours later."

MUSSOLINI, not worried, says: "I refuse to be assassinated," and goes about his business exercising absolute power in accordance with his best

Acosta and Chamberlain Also Shatter American Time for Endurance Trip Without Refueling.

WATCHERS CHEER TWO CIVILIANS

Happiest Man of All Seems to be G. M. Bellanca, Designer and Builder of Famous Monoplane.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, MINEOLA, N. Y., April 14.—Two weary American aviators, Bert Acosta and Clarence D. Chamberlain, wrote history in the sky today when they established a new world's record for endurance flying in a Wright-Bellanca monoplane—51 hours, 11 minutes and 25 seconds.

They came down, amid the cheers of a great crowd that had assembled, at 12:42;05 this afternoon.

Prepare to Welcome Flyers.

At 6:45 o'clock this morning they passed the mark set by France in 1925 by Doruhuin and Landry — 45 hours, 11 minutes, 59 seconds.

At 10:30 a. m., the endurance flyers had only ten gallons of gasoline left. Two flyers soared close to the history-making Bellanca plane and displayed a painted sign reading:

"How much gas?"

Ten gallons, it was explained, would enable the monoplane to remain in the air a little less than two hours longer.

Acosta and Chamberlain not only broke the world's record held by the French but earlier in their flight had passed the American record for sustained flight without refueling. That record was 36 hours, 4 minut s and 34 seconds made by Lieutenants Kelly and MacReady at Wilbur Wright field, Dayton, Ohio, in April, 1923. At 9:34:14 last night Acosta and Chamberlain beat that record.

Watchers at Roosevelt field cheered when at 6:43 this morning the two civilian aviators "crossed the deadline" and began hanging up a new mark for other airmen to shoot at.

The happiest man of all seemed to be G. M. Bellanca, the designer and builder of the Wright-engined monoplane that was droning above. He was warmly congratulated by Carl F. Schory, official judge of the flight.

Overhead Acosta and Chamberlain soared about steadily, and the monotonous, endless drone of the single Wright motor was music to the ears of Bellanca.

Flyer's Wife Among Watchers.

Among the watchers was Mrs. Chamberlain who has not taken a wink of sleep since her husband soared aloft.

Body of Man, 63, Slain With Hatchet Found in Dwelling

WORCESTER, Mass., April 14.—Apparently slain with a hatchet, the body of James Bobbits, alias Joseph Rabbitt, 63, was discovered today in a blood-spattered room in the attic of a two and one-half story dwelling house in the Quinsagimond district.

The motive of the murder and the time were complete mystery. No weapon was found and two families living below told police they did not hear any disturbance during the night.

GRAND JURORS TO VOTE COUNT AGAINST RINI

FOUR-DAY MEET

Patsy Anania Death Inquiry Most Important on List.

The Columbiana county grand jury, which will in all probability report late this afternoon, is expected to vote a murder indictment against Salvadore Rini, 27, of East Liverpool, in connection with the death of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, of Wellsville.

Whether an indictment will be returned against Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, wife of a Minneapolis confectioner, also under arrest, is problematical. Both Rini and the Chorgas woman are held in the county jail, the former without bond and the latter in default of $20,000 bond.

Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes, after submitting the state's evidence in the case against Rini, asked that he be indicted for murder in the first degree. If no indictment is returned against the Chorgas woman, Rini's sister-in-law, it is probable that she will be held as a material witness.

Rev. Fred Diddle Will Open Revival Service on Easter

Rev. Fred Diddle, Black Lick, Pa., and a former resident of East Liverpool, will open a series of revival meetings in the First Free Methodist church, Avondale and Minerva streets, Easter Sunday evening. Services will be held at 7:30 o'clock every evening during the week.

Rev. Mr. Diddle has been in the ministry for 13 years, being one of the denomination's most successful pastors. He is a son of T. C. Diddle, Minerva street.

SCORE OF MEN TRAPPED WHEN RISING CREEK FLOODS SHAFT

Wise Mine Near Oklahoma City Disaster Scene.

HOPE ABANDONED

Waters Reach Depth of 18 Feet, Blocking Rescuers.

HENRYETTA, Okla., April 14.—Twenty-seven miners in the old Wise Coal company mine near here were entombed today by the flood waters of McDonald creek, which broke over its banks and swept over a lowland section at the mouth of the mine.

The mine is being operated by the Eagle Picher Smelter company. Officials of the mine declared they believed the miners were all drowned.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 14.—Twenty-seven miners were believed drowned at the Wise mine at Henryetta, Oklahoma, near here today, when McDonald creek broke into the main shaft of the mine.

The first meagre reports from the mine stated the creek flooded the shaft where the men were working, and had risen to a depth of eighteen feet, making it impossible for rescue crews to enter.

Twenty-one men were in the mine at the time the river broke through, according to the report, and it was believed impossible for any of them to have escaped.

Since the water was reported still rising, definite information as to the fate of the victims could not be obtained and rescue work was impeded indefinitely.

Earthquake Shocks Rock Two Cities In Chile; Many Injured

Houses are Destroyed as Tremors Alarm Residents of Santiago and Valparaiso — No Casualties Reported.

BUENOS AIRES, April 14.—A severe earthquake has shaken the city of Mendoza, according to reports received here.

Unconfirmed reports state that the Mendoza cathedral collapsed during the earthquake and that there were several deaths. No details have been received here.

Mendoza is a city of approximately 65,000 population, located not far from the borders of Chile and in the same general region as Santiego and Valparaiso where other earthquake shocks were reported today.

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 14.—Heavy earthquake shocks were felt early today in Santiago and Valparaiso. The tremors lasted a minute or more.

Many persons were injured, but no fatalities have been reported.

A number of houses were destroyed.

According to reports from Valparaiso the damage there was smaller than in this city.

Residents of Santiago were aroused from sleep by the quake and fled into the streets. There was much excitement among the population.

William Steele, 20, Pennsylvania Avenue, Arrested in Dresden Avenue by Wellsville Patrolman.

Suspected, police say, of membership in an automobile theft ring which has been operating in East Liverpool and Wellsville, William Steele, 20, residing in Pennsylvania avenue, almost opposite the Clay Bank street car stop, was held in the jail today, following his capture in a four-mile chase beginning at Wellsville at 10:30 o'clock last evening.

Steele, who is charged with the theft of a car belonging to Mrs. Pearl Smith, 928 St. George street, surrendered to Patrolman John Cole of the Wellsville police force, near the Horn Switch, Dresden avenue, after the officer fired into the back of the car in which he is alleged to have been fleeing. Steele will be given a hearing tomorrow upon the return of Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley from Columbus.

The suspect is alleged to have taken the Smith machine, a 1927 model Whippet sedan, from its parking place in East Fifth street, near the S. J. Hamilton barber shop, at 8 o'clock last night. Mrs. Smith reported the theft at 9 o'clock.

Pistol Shot Stops Driver.

A Chevrolet touring [illegible] reported stolen in Wellsville about the same time. Wellsville and East Liverpool police then exchanged reports.

HUNDREDS FLEE HOMES AS FIRE SWEEPS PATH IN MORGANTOWN

Block in Downtown Business District is Damaged.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 14.—Three firemen were injured, several hundred persons were driven from their homes scantily clad, and damage estimated at more than $2,000,000 was done by a fire which swept the downtown business district here today.

Call Outside Firemen.

The firemen, Muriel Devaughn, Rollia Dutton and Paul McKinney, were burned and crushed when the walls of the six-story Strand theatre building, housing a theatre, offices and apartments, collapsed.

Fire departments were summoned from Uniontown, Fairmont and other neighboring cities and aid in battling the flames which were brought under control about 8 a. m.

The fire originated from an undetermined cause in the basement of Aaron Garlow department store, in High street. It rapidly swept this structure, the Shelby shoe store, then jumped to the four-story Morgantown hardware company building. Collapsing wall of this structure demolished two smaller buildings, and the flames spread to the Strand theatre building

The block in which the burned buildings were situated is said to carry the highest city fire insurance rate in West Virginia, due to the extreme fire hazard.

Several thousand people, attracted by the flames, watched the firemen battle the blaze for more than four hours.

Carroll, Collapsing On Way to Prison, Is Seriously Ill

GREENVILLE, S. C., April 14.—While continued improvement was noted in the condition of Earl Carroll throughout the morning, his condition is still serious, Dr. C. O. Bates, attending physician, said today.

At 11 o'clock the New York theatrical producer, who collapsed on his way to Atlanta to serve a prison sentence for perjury, was still in a state of coma.

Carroll has been unconscious for nearly 30 hours. He collapsed on the train about 8 o'clock yesterday morning, and was removed to a hospital here at noon.

WASHINGTON, April 14—A close watch on the condition of Earl Carroll, New York theatrical producer who collapsed on his way to Atlanta prison, is being maintained by the justice department, it was learned today.

Attorney General Sargent said that frequent reports are received on Carroll's health.

Government Move To Defer Trial in Oil Scandal Hit

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Efforts of the government to postpone the conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair and Albert B. Fall, growing out of the Teapot Dome lease, until next autumn, met with a temporary check today.

The government desired a postponement because of the continued absence from the United States of two of the principal figures in the case—H. M. Blackmer, chairman of the board of the Midwest Refining company, and James O'Neil, former president of the Prairie Oil & Gas company. They have been abroad for three years, leaving the country following the senate oil investigation.

Attorneys for Sinclair strenuously opposed the government's motion for postponement, and after a lenghty argument the court gave District Attorney Peyton Gordon, for the government, until 3 o'clock this afternoon to present more cogent reasoning for the continuance.

PASTOR SCORES PREJUDICE SIN

Rev. L. J. Davison United Presbyterian Church Speaker.

Rev. L. J. Davison, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, of East Liverpool, who spoke last night at Holy Week services in the United Presbyterian church, condemned what he termed the common sin of race prejudice.

He took as his text the words of the prophet Ezekiel: "I Sat Where They Sat." Calling attention to the fact that Ezekiel was called to minister to a brokenhearted people and that he endeavored thus to enter into sympathy with their viewpoint he reminded his auditors of the perfect sympathy and understanding to be found in Jesus.

"After asserting that it is necessary to enter into a deeper and broader understanding of men he asked his hearers some questions illustrating his point.

"Are you able to see life from the window out of which the sick must look? Are you able to see life from the same viewpoint as that from which youth looks? Or from the standpoint of age? Do you endeavor to see the problems of life as they are seen by the man who has not had the same privileges as you have had?

Here he delivered a well-aimed blow at the common sin of race-prejudice. Finally, can you see life as the prodigal sees it? Do you unjustly and unmercifully condemn or do you endeavor to understand and help the poor fellow rising from the gutter or the girl who repents having sold her soul?"

Rev. Richard C. Sutton, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, Burgettstown, will speak tonight. He was a seminary classmate of the pastor, Rev. W. J. H. McKnight.

STRAND OFFERS STAGE COMEDY

New York Hit Opens Strand Players' Run Monday.

"The Patsy," one of the real hits of the New York season last year, playing more than three hundred performances at the Booth theatre, is the play scheduled for opening production by the Strand Players at the Strand theatre begining Monday night. "The Patsy" is a comedy from the pen of Barry Conners, author of "Applesauce," "The Mad Honeymoon" and other popular successes, and its presentation by the local organization will undoubtedly be one of the most interesting events of the theatrical season in this city.

In slangology "The Patsy" means "The fall guy;" "the goat," that unfortunate person so often found in a home, or a business, who always gets the blame no matter whose the fault. In the Harrington household it is Patricia. She is the younger daughter of a typical American family. A sensitive, imaginative girl "Pat" is constantly harried by her socially ambitious mother and older sister. Her growth and individual unfoldment is stunted in every direction except in that of her father whose love and loyalty prove her eventual salvation. To make matters worse "Pat" is desperately in love with Tony her sister's finance. Even when Tony is jilted for a boy of greater financial and social prominence it doesn't make matters any easier for Pat, because her love is unrequited.

Urge Airplane for Liners.

That Atlantic liners carry small aeroplanes that could be dispatched when approaching port, to carry specially urgent mail and parcels, or even passengers, is being considered. It is argued that the plan would save much time. It has been demonstrated that aeroplanes can be launched from the confined decks of ships by the catapult system and can be guided without human beings on board to points 35 miles distant. It is expected that this range will shortly be increased to at least 100 miles. The plan has been brought before the attention of officials of steamship companies plying between this country and Europe and may be tried out in the near future.

Hand-shaking Folly

It looks now as if presidential hand-shaking were in a fair way to be reduced to a sane minimum if not eliminated entirely. It is unfortunate that this reform could be effected only through actual injury to President Coolidge's wrist, which sustained a sprain at the army and navy reception in February. Yet suffering is sometimes more easily endured when good comes of it.

During the weeks of his enforced release from promiscuous hand-shaking duties, it seems to have occurred to various persons that there is no need to resume them to such unlimited extent as formerly prevailed. It was a democratic custom which may have been pleasant and easily carried out in former years. With the increase in our national population and the tremendous progress in transportation that makes it possible for vast hordes of that population to descend upon Washington, the pleasant custom has become a genuine burden to the chief executive. Only short-sighted and selfish citizens will bewail its passing.

One Benefit From The War

The war for democracy, for liberty of small countries, for lasting peace, was a failure, says a leading American minister.

"Democracy stands repudiated in two-thirds of Europe. In our own land it stands in need of apologists and defenders.

"Small countries are victimized even by the United States.

"There have been countless revolutions and wars since the World War ended. Europe is no further removed from the war spirit than she was in 1914."

Balancing benefits with losses, he says, we must admit that the war was not worth while. The ideals were right, but the method was wrong. War, we must conclude, solves no problems, but aggravates existing problems and creates new ones.

All of us probably feel that way occasionally in these disillusioning years.

Still, if things are as bad as the pessimistic minister says, at least it is something to have America sick of war and distrustful of all its claims. And there is considerable evidence that Europe is not far behind us in this feeling.

Nations still talk war, but hesitate to act. They do not plan big wars, or even plunge into little ones, so lightly as they used to. They no longer see glory in war, or expect profit from war.

Padlock For Theaters

"Those in charge of some of the plays now before the public," warns the New York district attorney, "had better go through them and cut out their filthy lines and scenes. And women in night clubs had better put on clothes."

The warning has teeth in it. The Empire state governor has signed the Wales "padlock bill," which authorizes the closing of places of entertainment and the prosecution of producers and actors when the licensing regulations are violated. It is explained as applying not only to nakedness but to any "obscene, indecent, immoral or impure drama, play, exhibition or entertainment," and it makes theatre owners responsible for the character of the entertainment in their houses.

This is drastic, but recent experience shows that drastic treatment is needed. When private censorship fails, public censorship must step in. When owners and managers of entertainment places will not do their own censoring, the police must do it. The devil is potent, but the general police power of a city or state can still make a pretty good showing against him.

Persecution

A motorist in Chatham, Ont., was arrested the other day and fined $5 for running on a flat tire, as if he were not having enough trouble already.

Fining a man for driving on a bad tire, and thereby making it worse, was obviously nobody's business but his own, and besides was calculated to benefit the tire industry.

In this enlightened country that driver would probably stop and fix his leaky tire for a couple of hours right in the middle of a busy thoroughfare. And nobody would arrest him for that, either, though some irate or absent-minded truck-driver might run over him.

Visitors' Money

Canadian visitors in the United States have been having trouble over their money. Several cases have turned up lately of perfectly respectable and responsible Canadian citizens, in various American cities, having their perfectly good currency refused by hotels and banks.

That currency is as sound as our own and sometimes is quoted above par, but it seems to make no difference to some provincial-mined bankers. The Canadian travelers have not only been humiliated but have been obliged to pay as high as 10 per cent discount to obtain American currency in exchange for their own, which is nothing less than robbery.

American visitors to Canada will testify that they have no such difficulty there. Reciprocity in this matter is the only decent way, and also the only good business way.

ENTERED FOR THE OPTIMISTS' PRIZE

Somebody said once that an optimist was a person who saw a great light shining where no light was and a pessimist was one who came along and blew it out. It's a good double-ended definition, too, as I think you will agree.

Here is a concrete definition of an optimist as embodied in a story told by Ty Cobb of a recruit who joined the Detroit Tigers once upon a time. The rookie didn't last many months in fast company. Before the season was well advanced he had gone back to the minor league whence he sprang, but he did linger on long enough to leave behind the impress of his sunny nature.

"This youngster had a great habit of keeping up a flow of gab that he thought would keep the club from being despondent," said Tyrus. "That line of stuff is all right, but it sounds better coming from an old campaigner than from a kid that hasn't shown that he can qualify. Still, nobody tried to discourage him and he staked the team to many a laugh.

"We had a series of five games with New York and the first went against us by something like 8 to 2. The next day we did a little better, but the score was 7 to 4. The kid thought there was some improvement even if we were licked. The third game saw us only two runs behind at the finish and in the fourth we ran second, but not far behind—one run.

"The last game brought an awful wallop—11 to 2, I think it was—and it didn't look as though the optimist would have any sweetness left in his system. But he marched in to get his shower, flung his glove aside, rubbed his hands and said:

"Well, boys, we can't expect to win 'em all!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 14.—New York is often more snooty than London. Many have found that gazing through the lorgnette or monocle at the Brahmins adds to the feeling of self-importance. They immediately become the center of much patronizing.

It is noticed that the haughtiest customer in an exclusive shop often receive the most consideration and as a result there is a large section of Manhattan that will have no contact with life save through the butler. They flatten their A's and don the high hat.

Snobbishness is not confined to aristocracy or to sundry silk-stocking cognescenti whose grandads peddled polecat skins, half soled their breeches with leather or were killed in tavern brawls. Sudden wealth spawns the majority of snobs.

Frequently one finds families who have lived for years in tenement drudgery who suddenly discover that with wealth they cannot stand the rigors of winter and flee to Florida at the first touch of snow. And a few weeks later they splatter the photogravures, posed on the beach sand

"Paper Collar Joe," once observed that with a silk hat and British drawl he could live on Fifth Avenue in plenty as long as he lived. Manhattan responds to snobbishness, whereas Main street would give it an equine haw-haw.

Cafes with the most superior sort of aloofness receive the greatest patronage. The haughtiest actress in town is the most courted. And a former shipping clerk who acquires manners of a grandee invariably cops choice tables in supper clubs.

Snobbishness is not a general New York idea. It is not found among people who really count, but it has often catapulted a mediocrity into the Horse Shoe Circle.

A young lady was asked to chaperone at a bachelor apartment dinner the other evening. While waiting for the guests she visited his curio room and in a playful moment snapped a pair of handcuffs on her wrists. She then showed him what she had done. He paled and called a locksmith, and it was daylight before the handcuffs had been filed off. He had lost the key.

Five years ago a handcuffed prisoner on way to Sing Sing slipped from his guard in the Grand Central station. All his old haunts were fine combed and it was not until ten days later he was found squatting along the library wall with both hands bandaged and in a heavy sling. The bracelets had not been removed. He was wating for the hue and cry to die down before having them expertly removed. In the meantime he was capitalizing his calamity by picking up extra change as a beggar.

New York today for its size has fewer street beggars than any city. So many medicants exposed as living in hotel grandeur made a public usually generous, sold and sterile. Most professional beggars in the metropolis have turned to trickier pursuits. The old gag of appearing in shabby clothes to display a spurious union card receives only appraising disdain. New Yorkers have been trained to satisfy a request for money to buy food by inviting the supplicent to a restaurant and standing by until the food is eaten. Then such beggars are assured of all they can eat but nothing else. The haven for mendicants on Bleecker street, known as "Beggar's Roost" has been deserted for more than a year.

The beggar has found that with good clothes he can edge into another startum of society, spin a sudden hard luck yarn, borrow here and there and pass on to another set of victims.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

From Dolls To Dynamite.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—A by-product of the lumber industry which has a wide variety of uses, ranging all the way from dolls to dynamite and including linoleum and wall paper, has become of increasing importance in this country in recent months, largely through the efforts of the National Committee on Wood Utilization of the Department of Commerce. It is doubly important in that it not only eliminates a waste but utilizes something that has hitherto been regarded as a liability. Also its increased production in the United States will make it no longer necessary for American manufacturers to send abroad for it in considerable quantities.

It is wood flour, not as yet found available for pastry or breakfast foods, but with scientists constantly finding new uses for it there is no telling where they will reach their limit.

Wood flour is made from nothing more than sawdust, shavings, and other mill waste, which American mill operators for the most part have been spending money to get rid of because it clutters up their plants and is a fire hazard as well.

European lumber manufacturers, on the other hand, learned long ago what they could do with this waste material. They have been converting it into wood flour, exporting it to this country at the rate of approximately 12,000,000 pounds a year, paying duty on it, and evidently selling it at a profit.

It has been claimed for European wood flour that it has certain advantages over the domestic articles, but this is questioned by our government experts. They say that with increased experience and care in the selection of raw material on the part of American manufacturers a domestic product should be turned out that is in every way equal to the product of foreign mills. Its production in this country has been limited to a very few companies, but it is said that it now gives promise of becoming an important industrial product and a profitable economic solution for the disposal of a waste that has been a source of worry and expense.

Wood Substances Similar.

The wood substance of various species of trees differs very little in composition, says Harry H. Steidle, research assistant of the Committee on Wood Utilization. The wood substance of hickory is not unlike that of popular, the chief difference in the two species being in the physical structure of the material. However, there are certain infiltrations of gums and resins in some woods, and in others certain coloring, that preclude their use as wood flour for some products.

Spruce, fir, and pine are the chief woods used in Europe to produce the highest grades of wood flour. Similar species are represented by our true fire, white pines, and spruces. Little investigation has been undertaken regarding the suitability of American species for the manufacture of wood flour, but it is said that the wood of maple, ash, white birch, and basswood, in addition to the species now in use, should be capable of producing a good grade of flour, since they are entirely devoid of resin and possess the necessary light color.

In Europe wood flour is ground chiefly by stone mills which are an adaptation of the old burr stone mills used for the grinding of wheat and other grains. Another type of mill is the steel burr roller mill, consisting of a series of corrugated steel rollers, each succeeding roller having teeth of increasing fineness. The rollers are closely set and revolve in opposite directions at different rates of speed. This type of mill is largely used for the conversion of sawdust.

Among patented devices of American manufacture is a wood pulverizer for the conversion of shavings, sawdust, and hogged wood. The material is fed through a hopper into a grinding chamber in which a high-speed wheel operates and is pulverized by the action of the grinding wheel against the sides of the chamber which is lined with a grinding surface.

One of the features of this machine is the absence of screening apparatus. The material is drawn from the grinder by a current of air, which is regulated so that the slower the air current, the finer the flour that is drawn off.

Uses of Wood Flour.

Approximately 20,000,000 pounds of wood flour is used annually in the manufacture of linoleum in this country. It is employed chiefly for inlaid types, although it is also used in smaller proportions mixed with cork flour for battleship and printed linoleums.

Both imported and domestic flours are used. The imported product is somewhat finer than the domestic, but is less uniform in its properties and is not as light in color as the best grades of domestic manufacture. Generally speaking the latter is preferred by the linoleum industry by reason of its uniformly light color, fluffy and slightly fibrous nature, and unvarying quality. Furthermore, the users are

EAST END

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS MEET

Sermon Delivered Here Last Night by Rev. D. W. MacLeod.

"The supreme task of ministers is to preach Jesus Christ to the world," declared Dr. Donald MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at the union Holy week service in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church last evening. His subject was "The Cross of Christ."

The initial prayer was made by W. T. House with Dr. F. A. Dean, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, making the invocation. The pastor, Rev. George C. Westlake, presided.

A duet, "Christ is Risen," was sung by Messrs Bernie Miller and Carl Warning. The choir was directed by Mrs. Robert Wirth. A spirited song service preceded the night's discourse.

Deprecating the tendency of modern preachers to emphasize the life rather than the death of Christ, Dr. MacLeod stressed the need of the latter viewpoint as the chief fact in the Christian economy. His text were Paul's words to the Corinthians: "I am determined not to know anything save Christ crucified."

Four reasons for stressing the Cross were held by Paul, he said. "Christ declared the Cross should be through his mission," he averred. It was not forced upon the Christ. He chose it. The Lord's Supper in the bread and juice of the grape utilized typified this end of earthly life for him. He taught His deciples that such typified the Cross.

"The Cross in the second place yielded the things necessary to human needs. It revealed in letters of fire the desperate needs of the human soul."

Dr. MacLeod gave a denunciation of the awfulness of sin, indicating the wide grief which in its nature separated those indulging in it from God.

"The Cross," he went on, "alone reveals the incalculable value of the human soul. By the lifting of the Cross we are constantly reminded of the soul's value. God considered man worth saving 'For He so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish."

Tonight's meeting will be in the Second Presbyterian church when Rev. L. J. Davison, of the First United Presbyterian church, will preach.

"TIN HATS" SCREEN WINNER

Conrad Nagel Stars in Picture at American.

When the Armistice was signed, the whole world cheered — and gave a long, pent-up sigh of relief. At least almost the whole world did.

But there were a few, a very few men who were just the least bit disappointed and disgusted to think they never had an opportunity to get into the argument. It is about these few that Edward Sedgwick spun his yarn, "Tin Hats," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture coming to the American theatre tomorrow for a two-day run.

The story concerns three doughboys, one a rich man's son, played by Conrad Nagel, another a New York yegg, drafted into the service, played by George Cooper, and the third the American son of a St. Louis Dutch brewer, played by Bert Roach. These three arrive in the front line trenches just in time to hear the referee announce that "That's all there is, there isn't any more."

However, the plot thickens when they are sent into Germany with the Army of Occupation, and their subsequent adventures make the war look like the Saturday Evening Strawberry Festival, back in Pawtucket.

Claire Windsor as Elsa Von Bergen, a titled German girl, is the heroine of the story, and with Nagel supplies the love interest. Tom O'Brien, remembered for his work as "Bull" in "The Big Parade," plays the part of a tough top sergeant. Lew Lipton did the adaptation, and Donald Lee the continuity.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS:

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. One day a girl who had formerely worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is

LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director,

ALICE, and her baby daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querulous semi-invalid. They all start for California with De Brissac, who suggests books for Hattie to read to "form her mind." On the train she meets

HENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man. De Brissac makes love to Hattie as part of her training for screen work and Hattie seems powerless to resist him. She refuses to go with him on his yacht away from her family, however. O'Malley, to whom she becomes engaged, advises her to try to get work at another studio and invites a lawyer to look over her contract with De Brissac. A rival studio gives her a part and she goes to work for them.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO.

It soon became evident that Mr. Mortimer assumed skill in all who worked for him. What would he say to her when he discovered that she didn't know her job? For she didn't. She didn't know much of anything. De Brissac had coaxed and cajoled, had stung and then patiently guided. But this man merely told her what emotion she had to express, expecting her promptly to express it. She didn't know how; hardly, indeed, heard him. She had never been trained to attentiveness. He would give her lines, offhand, to be uttered before the camera; but she couldn't keep them in her head.

At noon he led aside and bluntly asked what her experience had been. This by an old English stairway. She wondered how the carpenters could make it look like elaborately carved wood. It wasn't anything of the sort. She knew they knocked these sets together in no time at all—a day, or two, or three.

He said—"Sit down here. Now tell me, what did you do before this de Brissac picture?"

"I worked in a printing shop, wrapping magazines."

"You weren't in pictures?"

"No, sir."

"Nor on the stage?"

"No sir."

"No experience at all, eh?"

"Well—no sir."

"But good God, when I undertook to pay you a hundred and fifty dollars a week, I did suppose that you" . . . he kicked angrily at the tread. "So I've got to take time every day for two months teaching you the things I'm paying you to know."

Her head dropped downward. She couldn't lift it.

"Just stop and think what this means. You're selling for a high price something you haven't got. You're getting money under false pretences. Oh my God, can we wonder that outsiders say we picture men are a pack of damn fools? . .. . Well, what're we going to do about it?"

She was crying now, but got out huskily the words—

"I don't know."

"What did de Brissac hire you for, anyway? Just as a type? Has he gone off his head? . . . Oh, well, go and get some lunch and come ready to learn something. Crying isn't going to help us if I can get anything at all out of you. If I can't it'll make a lovely picture.

That was how the gulf between them first opened up. From day to day it widened. And as her sense of failure deepened it seized on her immature faculties like a paralysis. There were scenes on that set, as the days and weeks went by, that she could live through only because her spirit was benumbed. It became, in a defensive instinctive way, calloused. She worked on, because she had to work on. She couldn't speak at home of her failure, couldn't let them see, as she now confusedly saw, the day drawing swiftly nearer on which her salary would stop. They'd never offer her another job here. Even though she was learning a little, doing her best every day, doggedly fighting it out, she couldn't please Mr. Mortimer. She was the wrong kind for him. And she could never go back to Earthwide. They'd hardly forgive her for jumping her contract and leaving a lawyer to tie up the loose ends. She was afraid to meet any of them, even on the street.

It would have helped if she could have had some little information of the progress on the other picture. De Brissac had promised to make her, and she still deeply believed in him. But no on spoke of it. She watched feverishly the notes and announcements of pictures in the newspapers and eagerly bought and read the picture magazines. But there was never a word. She couldn't understand it. The fantastic thought came that they might have suppressed it as a punishment to her. In such moments she quite forgot all it had cost. And she hardly dared speak about it to Henry. She even began, as fantastically, to fear that they might some day release the picture just to exhibit her little self to the whole world for the imposter she was.

Henry, for that matter, needed cheering nearly as much as she. The San Francisco men delayed endlessly. He was beginning to dream of raising the capital in New York. There, after all, was the real money. And she blindly encouraged him. The only small thrill in life for her these days arose from the knowledge that she could cheer him. A girlish ideal of marriage, of the helpmate, was her support.

One morning they went out on location in Pasadena. On the way back they stopped at Frank's Restaurant, in Beverly, three limousines full of them, for lunch. De Brissac was there.

Hattie couldn't eat. She couldn't enjoy a friendly tone of the crowded room . .. . Charlie Chaplin, in make-up and costume chatting vivaciously with Rob Wagner, outlining with a deft little rush of pantomine a play he meant to write one day (she caught a phrase of it here and there)—Agnes Ayres and Lila Lee and May MacAvoy talking from table to table—Conrad Nagel and Jack Holt eating the clawless lobster of the Coast—solemn authors from the East sitting at an end table with the Screen-Writers Guild—at other tables Sir Gilbert Parker and Edward Knoblock and Somerset Maugham—it seemed almost a village scene, everybody knowing everybody else, a gay picture of oddly painted faces and costumes exquisite and grotesque and of friends moving from this table to that for a brief visit, all stared at by a few family parties of Iowans . .. . for there, with two other of the Earthwide directors, sat de Brissac.

She had to fight down a tendency to flush. His hand was all right, though she thought she saw a white scar across the back. He smoked his cigarette with his old easy grace, laughed in his offhand way. He even gave her a careless nod across the room. As if nothing had happened. She felt afraid. Her one thought was to get out without having to speak to him. She couldn't do that. But she couldn't leave before the others in the Plantagenet party, and he managed to catch up with her as she was opening the screen door.

He said then—perfectly de Brissac, without a flutter of the nerves (her pulse was racing like mad)—"You haven't tied up with Mortimer for more than one picture, have you Hattie? . . . No? .. . . Well, don't."

That was all. It puzzled her. He turned to light a cigarette at the gas flame on the counter, and let her go.

The Super-Six Principle freed to the limit

Fast Get-away

The smoothness with which the Super-Six glides from standing start to high speed is totally different from the violent lunge with which high powered cars usually get under way.

And so in all it does there is such effortless ease that driver and passengers hardly realize how great is their performance supremacy.

The smooth, silent and elastic flow of power from the released Super-Six principle has set a new standard of unusual performance. At any speed and for any distance you demand you will never feel the slightest effort is exerted by motor or chassis.

You may never require such speed or power. But it is important that this ability results from absolute smoothness and freedom from vibration. The over-capacity means reserve ability for any task. It means minimum wear and repair need. It means easy riding without fatigue.

Until you ride in the Hudson Super-Six there is a motoring thrill you never can know.

Eight milk producers, whose product is alleged to have exceeded the 60,000 bacteria count provided by state statutes, were forbidden to make further deliveries in East Liverpool by health board officials today.

Samples collected from distributors showed milk delivered here by these producers to contain bacteria counts ranging as high as 250,000.

These producers cannot be reinstated until barns are renovated and cleaned and milk from their herds has been found to be satisfactory to health board officials.

Names of offenders were not made public.

It Really Happened

EVERYONE loves a good story. But how tame and unreal a fiction story is compared with a story that really happened!

The most fascinating characters are those that actually live—people such as we see around us every day. The most dramatic events are those that unfold on the stage of life—events often so thrilling, so strange that we are amazed when we realize that they are true.

Every month True Story Magazine prints 16 or more powerful, gripping, heart-touching narratives lifted right out of life itself. Its stories of love and marriage, of success and failure, of temptation and struggle, of laughter and tears have made this great magazine the favorite with over eight million readers. You, too, will enjoy it. True Story for May is now on the newsstands—price only a quarter. Get your copy today.

More "Inlets" for Electrical Services

YOU read much about electrical conveniences in the home, you see the newest appliances at the stores, your friends tell you how fine they are.

You, too, want to enjoy the benefits of modern electrical services. The extent to which you may enjoy them depends entirely upon the number of "inlets" in your home. No room can be completely furnished without having at least three wall or base plugs.

In the living room, provision must be made for floor lamps, table lamps, radio, vacuum cleaner. In the dining room, the table needs "inlets" for percolator, toaster, waffle iron and other appliances.

Ask the attendant at the lamp counter in our office to show you an ideal arrangement for electrical "inlets" in the modern home.

AUTHORITIES TAKE STAND IN HEWITT TRIAL

Youth Charged With Killing Woman and Child.

BRUTAL CRIME

Widower Overcome With Emotion and Sorrow.

JEFFERSON, O., April 14.—Scratches, reported to have been observed on the face of Floyd Hewitt, 16-year-old Conneaut boy, the morning after Mrs. Fred Brown and her son, Fred, Jr., 5, were murdered in their home in North Conneaut, played a prominent part in the testimony of W. A. Fillinger, Conneaut policeman, in the trial of the youth here today.

Fillinger was sent to the scene of the double crime shortly after it was committed, last February.

JEFFERSON, O., April 14.—County officials will take the stand today in the trial of Floyd Hewitt, 16, charged with the murder of Fred Brown, Jr., 5, at Conneaut last February. Among those who will be called to testify are the coroner, sheriff and two police officers.

A pathetic scene was enacted late yesterday when Fred Brown, Sr., father of the murdered boy, told of returning from his work on the night of February 14, to find his wife, Celia Brown, and his little son, brutally beaten to death with a poker and baseball bat. Tears welled from the eyes of many in the courtroom during the bereaved man's recital, and he, himself was overcome with emotion and sorrow.

Witness Breaks Down.

With tears streaming down his cheeks, Brown told of finding his wife dead. Continuing his story he tried to tell of the finding of his son in the basement of the Brown home, but broke down completely, sobbing: "Oh, God, my poor little boy didn't have a chance."

The defendant, Hewitt, however, sat apparently unmoved during Brown's testimony, and showed little interest when the iron stove poker and baseball bat were introduced as exhibits by the state. He seemed more interested in the time of day, glancing at a watch worn on his wrist, at frequent intervals.

Hewitt is also under indictment charged with the killing of Mrs. Brown, but is being tried first on the charge of slaying the boy.

"Mental Incapability" Defense.

Prosecutor C. B. Cook, declaring that alienists may play but a small part in the trial, says he intends to base the state's case upon Hewitt's confession, made shortly after the double crime was committed and later repudiated, and also upon a button which was found near the scene of the murder which is alleged to have been ripped from a coat worn by the accused youth.

The defense expects to prove that Hewitt is "mentally incapable," saying that the confession could have been obtained from "any ten year old boy." Alienists are expected to appear for the defense in an attempt to prove that Hewitt, although 16 years old and of husky build, has the mind of a ten year old child.

One Man Killed, Three Others Hurt In Fire and Blast

CLEVELAND, April 14.—One man is dead here today and three others are suffering severe burns as the result of an explosion and fire late Wednesday, which wrecked the lacquer plant of the Patterson-Sargent Paint and Varnish company, causing estimated ramage of $20,000.

James E. Maurer, 35, died in a hospital following the blast. Simon Lucas, 56, at Lakeside hospital, may die as the result of burns about the head and body, and Milroy Mcgary, 23, and John Miller, 44, are both in the hospital with serious burns about the head and body.

Auto Thief Nabbed

Patrolman Cole took up a position near Second street, Wellsville, to watch for the Wellsville car which he believed might be headed for East Liverpool or Lisbon. Shortly after 10 o'clock the Whippet car, headed in the direction of East Liverpol, passed. Cole immediately identified it as the stolen car.

In another automobile he gave chase, but the driver evidently realizing that he was being followed, sped toward East Liverpool. After the machine turned from West Eighth street into Dresden avenue, Cole opened fire with his revolver. The bullet passed through the spare tire and glanced off the back of the body near the gas tank.

Chevrolet Car Abandoned.

Steele, frightened, police said, stopped the machine and offered no resistance when Cole placed him under arrest. Police say that he admitted the theft of the car.

Captain Conley, assisted by Chief Fultz, of the Wellsville police department and Mayor Fogo, continued their investigation into the thefts today.

The Chevrolet car stolen in Wellsville was located shortly before noon in the vicinity of Knowville, Jefferson county, where it had been abandoned

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 14—Heavy selling of oil stocks at the beginning of trading today resulted in further declines in prices of the well-known issues in the Independent Oil group. Weakness in Marland, Phillips and Pan-American was accompanied by reports that these companies might not earn their dividends in the second quarter of the year. Due to the dropping of the bottom out of the crude oil markets.

The motor stocks and utility issues were able to make some progress in the upward direction, while the high-priced specialties like commercial solvents surged forward in a brilliant new advance. General Motors, Hudson and Chrysler were the leaders in the rally in motor shares. United States Steel was in demand around 171, and the Independent Steel shares sold at fractionally higher prices. Consolidated gas continued the advance inaugurated in Wednesday's late session.

COLUMBUS, April 14.—Funeral services were being arranged here today for Charles Edwin Carlton, 24, of Columbus, a senior law student at Ohio State university, who succumbed to an attack of sleeping sickness which developed two weeks ago. He would have graduated in June from the law school.

CHINESE ARMY FIRES UPON U. S. GUNBOAT NOA

COLLEGE CLOSED

Conservative Forces Appear in Control in Shanghai.

PEKING, April 14. — Northern troops on the bank of the Yangtse river fired upon the United States gunboat Noa, the American sailors returning the fire with machine guns according to information received here today. The Noa is now anchored about a mile above Nanking.

American Consul Jenkins at Canton reported he was unsuccessful in settling the strike in that city. The Christian college at Canton is closing indefinitely.

Fifty Americans remain in the interior of Kwantung and about 100 in Canton and vicinity, nearly all being men.

Many Killed in Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, April 14.—Although there have been many killed and wounded during the past three days in the Nationalist raids against the extremists, the conservative forces today appeared to be in control, but the situation was still menacing.

Nationalist headquarters declare that the action taken against the extremists in disarming them and in firing on them when they gave battle was necessary for the restoration of peace and order in Shanghai.

It is impossible accurately to estimate the toils of the three days' intermittent fighting between the two factions of the Nationalist party, but conservative foreign observers believe there has been at least 250 killed and probably twice that number wounded. Many of the deaths occurred when mobs attempted to storm the headquarters of the Nationalist armies to regain the arms which had been taken from the irregulars.

Pengpu Reported Captured.

The military situation in the north is still more or less obscure although reports of the capture of Pengbu by the northerners and their continued advance are received here.

Chiang Kai Shek's proposed parleys with the extremists in the Nationalist ranks appear unlikely to materialize. Thus far the extremists have not appeared in Nanking for the conferences and it now seems probable that there may be two Nationalists governments created, one by the extremists in Hankow and one by Chiang Kai Shek in Shanghai.

In view of the military reverses suffered by the Nationalists in the north there are many who anticipate an agreement between Chiang and the northern leaders.

Powers Await Note Answer.

LONDON, April 14.—Awaiting reply to the powers' notes of protest against the Nanking incidents, Great Britain has instituted an exchange of diplomatic messages relative to sanctions to be taken in event the powers' notes are rejected.

Official advices to the foreign office today indicated that the powers may be placed in a difficult position by receiving two distinct replies to their protest. Eugene Chen, foreign minister in the Hankow government, is reported ready to send separate replies, striving to win the favor of France, Italy and Japan and defying the United States and Great Britain. At the same time Chaing Kai-Shek is reported to be ready to offer punishment to those found guilty of the Nanking incidents. Both replies are expected either tomorrow or Saturday.

DONAHEY VETOE WILL BE FINAL

No Measures to be Passed Over Governor's Head.

COLUMBUS, O., April 14.—Majority members of the Ohio senate and house of representatives today apparently were supporting the announced policy of Republican leaders of both legislative branches that no measures are to be passed over Governor Vic Donahey's veto this session.

If this procedure is adhered to, legislative activities at the close of this session will be marked contrast to that characterizing previous sessions when numerous measures were passed over Donahey's veto.

In accordance with a joint agreement reached by Republican members, the senate and house are scheduled to recess tonight until next Wednesday when they will return for two or three days and then recess for 10 days, or two weeks. The work of this session then would be completed at a session lasting a day or two.

Today's legislative calendars call for completion of the work of enacting the major financial program by passing the Aigler and Kumler bills in the house and the Sullivan and Norton bills in the senate.

Seven Husky Gobs In Novel Revue At Ceramic Theatre

Burlesque on Female Sex Will be Featured in Conjunction With Picture, "God Gave Me Twenty Cents."

Herbert Crawley's revue, a burlesque on the female sex, presenting seven husky gobs who saw service in the World war, is the stage offering in conjunction with the picture, "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," at the Ceramic theatre today, tomorrow and Saturday.

NEW ORLEANS during the Mardi Gras! Crowds run riot. Street parades. Beautiful floats. Grotesque figures. Confetti. Music. Dancing. Laughter. Drinking. Romance. Drama. Intrigue, Noise. Gayety. Mardi Gras!

There you have the background against which Herbert Brennon has faithfully transcribed a story of the New Orleans Mardi Gras, "God Gave Me Twenty Cents." A ship has docked and the men have joined the merry-makers. Up the street, laughing, singing, shouting. They pause before a restaurant. Seeing a shy little girl waiting on table, the mob's leader runs in, takes her in his arms, enthrones her on a float and they continue through the town.

It is late when he leaves the child at her door and it is the first time either of them have ever known what it is to love. Five days pass, six—and they are married. She, of the pensive look; and he, of the roistering sailor crew.

The seventh day arrives. The boat is about to leave harbor. He goes to a cafe to say goodbye before returning for a last word with his wife. Cassie enters. She is hard, hard as steel; but steel bends, and he is the only one ever to enter her heart. Her man—married, and going away. She wants, asks, taunts, begs to go with him. Finally, before all his fellows, she dares him to match his luck against hers. She'll toss two dimes in the air. Should both show heads, Cassie goes. If not, she stays.

The coins spin and drop. Both are—but why try to describe what happens? "God Gave Me Twenty Cents," is heralded as one of the season's finest dramas. Louis Moran, Lya de Putti, Jack Mulhall and William Collier Jr., are featured.

Rev. B. R. Johnson's Sermon.

"Unless humanity suffers there can be no genuine obedience to God's will" affirmed Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ at Holy week service in the First United Presbyterian church last evening. "The ministry of pain is an outstanding and necessary requirement in the soul's development in righteousness," he said. His subject was "The Christ of the Cross Today."

In attendance was perhaps the largest assemblage of the present series of downtown union meetings. Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the Baptist church, presided in the absence of Rev. L. J. Davison, the pastor, who had been called to preach in Chester.

The invocation and the benediction were given by Rev. John F. Dimit, pastor of the Methodist Protestant church.

The preliminary musical service was in charge of Prof. John C. Ussher, choral director. With Miss Wilma Warner, he sang, "God's Supreme Grace."

Eloquently and illuminatingly, Rev. Mr. Johnson depicted the suffering of Christ on the cross. He contrasted the easy life that could have been His had he not put behind Him the temptation to undergo the rigors of the crucifixion. "The Christ spared not Himself," he declared. "He did not do as mankind so frequently elects—follow the easier way. He accepted the attendant sufferings of the supreme sacrifice that He might acquire and assimilate in the degree necessary the maximum results of entire obedience of the Father's will.

"Eschewing earthly ambition with emoluments that included a kingdom He chose the pilgrimage that offered suffering, pain, shame, sorrow, humiliation, mocking, Gethsemane, Golgotha and the tomb. We, earth-born, walk the life of least resistence We turn our abilities to that which has material rewards. We will not waste our talents on what is held to be trivial.

Victory of Cross.

"Who accepts the duties of the ministry and the call to mission fields in these days as Christ did in refusing worldly honors tells Salan 'Get thee behind me.'

Man does not have to live to fulfill the reason for his existence. It well may be that his function in the highest analysis may be to die. We, seated in the warm security of our churches, may haphazardly affirm that the missionaries in China should be withdrawn from their stations in this the hour of trial. But they like the Christ who refused to enter, on occasion, Jerusalem, may feel that their hour for so doing has not yet come. Like Martin Luther, once he had taken a definite stand, they can not now retract."

Rev. Mr. Johnson declared that the church of the living God needed the conviction and the stability that assumes the responsibility of the Cross. "It is not he who makes the loudest noise in singing hosannas but they who in the daily tasks of life meets these responsibilities in the spirit of the Master no matter what their crosses may be who vouchafe to themselves the benefits accruing from the Christ sacrifice," he said.

That the victory of the Christ was really had in the garden of Gethsemane and not on the cross was asserted by Rev. Mr. Johnson. "The victory comes to all of us in the hour of decision," he said. "Not at the interval of pain always is this conquering consummated."

The suffering, silent and forgiving Christ was depicted by the speaker as among the impressing features of the crucifixion. "We as did Christ learn through pain, " he averred. "He suffered for the cruelty of the world. He despised shame for you and me. Unless we suffer we can not obey. There is a pain attached to all work in which there is accomplishment. If dumb brutes, following the pain of training, learn to obey their masters how much more should we in our earthly suffering catch the idea of thorough obedience to the Heavenly Father!"

Ability of Christ to Forgive.

The incomparable ability of Christ to forgive, not His friends, but His enemies, was emphasized by Rev. Mr. Johnson. "Though spit upon in the hour of His death, as result of theft venom against Him, He prayed that they might be forgiven. When a friend forgives a friend the act is fine but to forgive an enemy who has encompassed one's end stands out as transcendent spiritual development."

How the Christ maintained a silence that indicated the depths of His spiritual nature in that He made no effort to resent the untoward and cruel treatment accorded Him was pointed out. "Led like a sheep to the slaughter He opened not His mouth. He answered them nothing. He refused them a supernatural sign. There are people like that today who demand that Christianity be bulwarked by some superstitious act. They would have a demonstration of supernatural power ere they will believe. But the power of the Christ is not in the Mount Carmel incidents of life. That occurrence had no real sense of victory for Elijah, for he was forced to flee thereafter. He found that God was not in the wind, the fire or the earthquake that ensued at his hiding, but rather in the still, small voice of the Most High.

Every church man and woman must learn that it is not by power or might, but in the silent, unseen forces God's transforming capabilities work in the human soul. In a duty thus performed is there a consciousness of God's spirit working within the changing soul. The sense of victory will come, not in the loud voice, but doing that which the spirit in a small voice tells us to perform.

"When the Messiah was being sung at Queen Victoria's coronation and the words were reached by the massive choir singing it: 'And He Shall reign forever and forever' the queen, though expected to sit, rose and lifted the crown from her head in deference to her Lord and King.

"In the face and light of the Cross we, too, His followers, acknowledge by our lives Him, the suffering, forgiving and silent Christ."

Airmen Break Record

"It's too wonderful!" she exclaimed when the world's record was broken. She could hardly contain herself.

Throughout the night the flyers caught catnaps on empty gasoline tanks, but neither had a good sleep. Now and then airplanes containing newspapermen and photographers soared up close to them and exchanged greetings through megaphones. Big flood lights and a rotating beacon were shot up from the flying field to guide the flyers to the landing place in event trouble might suddenly develop. But none did.

"Everything running fine," was the last word from the flyers. And conditions this morning were perhaps better than at any time during the flight.

The present flight of Acosta and Chamberlain is in the nature of a test preparatory to their hopping off on a New-York-to-Paris flight. It was estimated that if they flew in a straight line instead of ceaselessly circling above Mineola and vicinity the two airmen could have reached Paris by 9:30 o'clock last night, Constantinople by 6:30 this morning and Leningrad by 9:30 this morning.

PREDICTS NAVAL PARLEY FAILURE

WASHINGTON, April 14.—American efforts to accomplish further naval disarmament, through the three-power conference to start at Geneva in June, will likely prove unsuccessful, Representative Thomas S. Butler (R.) of Pennsylvania, chairman of the house naval affairs committee, predicted today after a visit to the White House.

Helps a Painful Aching Back.

Lumbago and a stiff, aching back suggest at once the need of a good diuretic to stimulate kidney secretions and rid the system of troublesome poisons that cause the distressing aches. Mrs. Black of Petersburg, Va., says: "Before I took Foley Pills diuretic, I could not stoop over nor raise up without great pain. Now since taking them I have none." Ask for Foley Pills diuretic. A prompt improvement will amply repay you. Satisfaction guaranteed. Sold everywhere.

Find Loot Taken from Bank.

VAN WERT, O., April 14.—With the finding of $3100 in bills by two boys near a water tank at Ohio City, authorities today believed that the robbery of the Farmers and Citizens' bank at Payne, Pauling county, would be promptly cleared up.

The boys found the money hidden near a railroad water tank, and turned it over to authorities, according to information here.

LADIES and gentlemen getting divorces in Paris would have been interested to hear a New York supreme court judge say two days ago, "Some day those ladies and gentlemen will find that they are not divorced at all. Some estate coming into court will raise and settle the question. A Gould divorce in Paris, apparently upheld in the United States courts, means nothing, because in that case Paris had been for years the last-established domicile of that husband and wife."

A CONFERENCE of college students has decided against trial marriage, quite solemnly, by a vote of 16 to 7. Wise Providence has decided against it by a vote of about 100 to 0.

When the seven young gentlemen who think they believe in trial marriage fall in love, they will know positively the marriage they plan is to last forever, would detest the theory of a trial, and insult anybody suggesting it.

Or if not, they would not be worth marrying.

COMMANDER UDET, greatest German flyer left over the war, will fly in a gliding plane without any engine from a mountain peak in Bavaria, 2,000 feet high.

This means literally tobogganing from the top of a mountain to the valley below on thin air. It would astonish those long dead and buried that used to smile at the poem describing Darius Green and his flying machine.

COUNTY AGENT KIWANIS GUEST

Work of the Columbiana county farm bureau and kindred agencies were discussed by Floyd Lower, Lisbon, county extension agent, at the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club in Larkins' annex, Market street, today.

The speaker was introduced by John E. Newell, Chester, second vice-president, who presided. Plans for the three-club meeting which will be held at East Palestine on April 26, at which Col. Carmi A. Thompson of Cleveland, will speak, were outlined.

"Agriculture is one of the basic industries of the country today," said Lower, "and none of those basic industries can prosper unless the others prosper, also.

"Fifty years ago the farmer produced everything for his table except salt, pepper and coffee; when he built a house he bought only nails and window glass; for his wearing apparel, thread, buttons and leather boots were purchased. Today things are vastly different.

"Granges have been formed for a fraternal purpose. These organizations have been largely instrumental in the establishment of rural free delivery, parcels post and other legislation which has been a benefit to the rural community.

"The farm bureau is a business organization which co-operates with the granges to help the farmers. In this county the farm bureau was organized six years ago. This organization heads market associations to assist the farmer in selling his products. In this county we have a dairy, live stock and wool marketing organization."

TORNADO-TORN TOWN IN TEXAS BURIES DEAD

Revised Estimates Place Storm Fatalities at 90.

44 IDENTIFIED

Panhandle District Fears Blow From Twister.

ROCK SPRINGS, Texas, April 14.—Rock Springs today resumed the melancholy task of burying its dead, victims of Tuesday's tornado.

Some estimates place the death list as close to 90, when a final checkup is completed, although only 44 bodies have been identified. A number of persons are unaccounted for and some of the injured are not expected to live.

Burial preparations were of the crudest sort, dynamite being used to blast holes in the little cemetery wherein the bodies were laid.

Night brought a cessation of the funerals, which started late yesterday, and the tired residents, worn out from their experiences and the heavy tasks they had performed through the preceding night and day, stood in little groups on what was left of Main street.

Buried as Found.

The dead were buried as they were found, there being no time to prepare the bodies.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 14.—Five of the injured brought here on trains from Rock Springs last night, succumbed today to the fearful wounds they received in the tornado which wrecked that little town Tuesday night. Many more are in a critical condition, and at least five more of the seriously injured were not expected to survive the day.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 14.—Citizens living in Texas' Panhandle were on "pins and needles" today, in drear fear that a death dealing tornado, such as the one that wiped out the little village of Rock Springs, 120 miles south of here, Tuesday night, might strike their own town.

Five Towns Report Storms.

Storm conditions prevailed today over the entire district, centering in the extreme southeastern part of the state. A series of disturbances of the dreaded twister type, were reported from many places. No heavy loss of life occurred, but property damage was heavy, the reports state.

Hebron, Palestine, Belton, Temple and Fort Worth were some of the towns reporting storms of cyclonic proportions late yesterday. One child was killed at Fort Worth and considerable property damage was done.

NAME WINNERS IN ST. CLAIR SPELLING BEE

Three Will Represent Township in County Contest.

APRIL 23 DATE

District Match Was Held in Calcutta School.

Winners in the St. Clair township spelling contest, who will represent the school district in the county spelling bee to be held at Lisbon Saturday, April 23, were announced today.

The contest for pupils enrolled in the township school was held at Calcutta last Friday, Raymond Meek, teacher of the Fredericktown school, pronouncing the words. Two sets of winners were selected, one group representing the fifth and sixth grades and the other the seventh and eighth grades.

"Dear, I want you to know now that S. S. S. has been used for over 100 years—it is made from fresh roots and herbs—growing children sometimes need a tonic, as do their elders—it is helping you, and I want you to take it regularly before each meal."

Try S. S.S . and you will be surprised how quickly your appetite improves. If you are tired, run-down and listless you owe it to yourself and family to give S. S. S. a trial. It helps Nature build up red blood corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the body is nourished. S. S. S. is time-tried and reliable, and is unequalled for restoring strength and vitality.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

That "Kruschen" Feeling?

It's the Little Daily Dose that Does it

Grandpa In High Spirits This Morning

Start the day the Kruschen way and you won't have to envy Grandpa's health and spirits; you'll be enjoying them yourself.

Just drop two little tablets of Kruschen into your breakfast cup of coffee or tea every morning, and before a week is past you'll hardly know yourself for the same person.

It's the little daily dose that does it—and it means no trouble and little expense. The tablets dissolve instantly and you can't taste them.

Did you ask if all this improvement in health and spirits is possible? Of course it is! Science endorses it. Common sense proves it.

Man in his wild state enjoyed the same unflagging energy that you marvel at in wild animals and young children. Then came civilization, lack of fresh air and exercise, unnatural feeding, anxieties, overwork . . . all tending to deprive the system of certain mineral salts without which health is in real danger.

The six salts in Kruschen are identical with Nature's vital salts. They give back natural health to those who lead unnatural lives. They expel all the clogging waste matter that accumulates in the system of everyone who leads an indoor life.

A new sense of health and fitness—"that Kruschen feeling"—will be yours, day in, day out.

Tasteless in Tea or Coffee

Drop 2 tablets in your breakfast cup every morning—1 tablet for children. It's the little daily dose that does it.

Kruschen Salts

Good Health for a Trifle a Day

Kruschen Salts may well be called the Universal Medicine. It is the biggest selling proprietory medicine in Great Britain. In Germany, Holland, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, South America and Canada the sales are enormous—there's a reason—it's the little daily dose that does it. 60 Tablets—60 Cents, at all druggists.

After a week of taking Kruschen Salts you begin to feel an unaccustomed sense of exhilaration—physical and mental. You are healthier. A new driving power within you impels you to tackle your work and your play with a vigor that surprises both yourself and your associates. You become, in fact, an entirely new being, cheery, energetic, self-reliant; and you look back upon the old days of slackness and depression as upon a bad dream which the morning light has dispelled.

Six tubes ~ One Control

FRESHMAN MASTERPIECE

(Less Equipment)

Merely turn the dial from point to point and station after station comes in separately, clearly and distinctly. The one dial is the only tuning device on this new Freshman Radio. Its amazing power allows station from a great

Distance

to be tuned in right through the locals. Its superior construction and efficiency separate the different wavelengths and tune out the undesired stations with startling allowing you to listen to exactly the station that you desire without bother or interference and with fine

Selectivity

Distant stations often broadcast on exactly the same wavelength as locals. This new Freshman set is so powerful that it brings in stations from all over the country. Sometimes it is desirable to cut out the distant station broadcasting on the same wavelength as the local to which you are listening; if so, just use the distance knob in the lower left hand corner of the panel.

Any Receiver May Be Electrified

BASEBALL LOT TO BE FENCED

Local City League Club Lays Plans for Season.

Definite steps toward the construction of a fence to inclose Nicholson Park, near Eighteenth street, and the completion of other arrangements preliminary to the opening of the City Industrial Baseball league, featured a conference of officers and members of the Wellsville Nash Motors club, the Wellsville entry in the circuit, here last night.

The club decided to start construction work on the proposed fence as soon as possible in order that the playing field will be in shape for the opening contests of the campaign, which will be launched Saturday, May 7.

The cost of the fence will run the club in the proximity of $1,000, a large part of which, according to officers, has been raised through the sale of advertising space.

Samuel Hannum, local druggist, is president of the club and C. J. Kraus, garage owner, is secretary-treasurer. Roy Nicholson and J. C. Armstrong, joint managers, are progressing rapidly in the task of lining up a strong squad for the season. Most of last year's performers will be back on the roster, as well as probably a number of new men.

OPEN NAZARENE REVIVAL MEETS

Large crowds attended the opening services of the revival of the Church of the Nazarene, Third and Main streets, last night.

Rev. B. H. Pocock, pastor of the Chester Nazarene church, spoke on the subject, "The Valley of Dry Bones."

The revival services will continue for two weeks. A class of new members will be received into the church on Sunday evening.

A candy treat will be given the children on Sunday afternoon at the close of Sunday school sessions, according to announcement by Rev. J. A. Stewart, pastor.

Victor Edgar, of East Liverpool, will lead song services during the revivals, while music will be furnished by the Hutchinson quartet, the Nazarene Male quartet and other musicians.

FRANKLIN PASTOR TO PREACH HERE

Rev. C. B. Kirby, of Franklin, Pa., will preach tomorrow evening at services in the Free Methodist church, Seventeenth street, Rev. L. C. Andre, pastor, announced today.

Rev. Kirby preached at revival services in the local church shortly before Christmas of last year.

Special music will be a feature of Friday's services.

SALINEVILLE

What's What in Washington

FILIPINO'S REPRESENTATIVE CONTINUES TO URGE FREEDOM

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Are the Philippines fit for independence?

"That depends on whose standard you test fitness by," answered Pedro Guevara, one of the Filipinos' two "resident commissioners" in Washington.

PEDRO GUEVARA

A commissioner's job is similar to a territorial delegate's. He sits in congress but he can't vote.

"As you define fitness here in the United States," continued Don Pedro, "no, I don't suppose we're fit for independence. But then, you see, according to our Filipino standard, you're not fit for independence in the United States."

THE commissioner read, as if absent mindedly, a few headlines from a Washington newspaper he held in his hand.

"'Reed Soon to Take Slush Fund Jail Again.' 'Millionaire Caught in Bootleg Ring.' 'Evangelist Sees Nation's Downfall.' 'Chicago Disarms Following Tuesday's Election.' 'Child Murderer Condemned.' 'Three Dead From Poison Booze.' 'Oil Magnate Faces Jail.' 'Stuffed Pennsylvania Ballot Boxes Charged.'

"No country would enjoy independence," commented Senor Guevara, "if it had to leave it to some other country to decide whether its people were fit for independence or not."

BUT 70 per cent of the Philippines' trade is with the United States.

"That's just it," complained the commissioner.

"So long as we're a dependency of the United States, our trade's largely restricted to what we can do with Americans.

"If we were independent, and could shape our own laws, we'd undertake to keep all the trade we have now with the United States, and to develop a lot more, with Great Britain and Germany and France and Spain and the rest of Europe, and Asia—such as we had even in the bad days of Spanish rule, but have lost today."

BUT an independent Filipino nation might be gobbled by Japan.

"As a member in good standing of the League of Nations," rejoined Don Pedro, "Japan could hardly find an excuse for grabbing us if we were independent.

"It's true that the Japanese probably will attempt it, if ever they have trouble with the United States and we're still an American dependency.

"That's one of the dangers our connection with the United States exposes us to."

"AND at any rate," insisted the commissioner, "we surely are entitled to one of two things:

"1. To independence, or

"2. To become part of the United States in the full sense of the word.

"If independence is denied to us, we ask statehood."

"HOW," queried Senor Guevara, "would you like us as a state—a different people, a different language, a different race, 10,000 miles away.

"We'd have two senators. Our population would give us around 10 representatives. We'd hold the balance of power. The United States wouldn't govern us. We'd govern the United States.

"Caramba! It's impossible!

"All right. You can't give us statehood. Then, in all fairness, you must grant us independence.

"It seems to me so just a request that I don't see how you can long refuse."

Old Canvas Brings $325,000.

Much interest is being taken in European art circles over the story of the finding of the Romney portrait of Lord Nelson, for which the British government is said to have offered $325,000. Bernard Finnegan, the discoverer, is employed in a grocery establishment in Dublin. He purchased some years ago a few "odds and ends" from a workman, now dead, who was excavating ruins at Kilmainham Castle, paying a few dollars for the lot. He preserved a dirty piece of canvas about 12 inches square, and when he read of the recent court action about a Romney substitute and saw a photograph of the missing picture, he showed his canvas to an expert. The expert recognized it and got in touch with others who sold it to the government.

PLANNING CAMP AT YELLOW CREEK

Toronto Kiwanians and the Toronto Izaak Walton League have completed arrangements for their proposed summer camp at Yellow Creek.

The organizations expect to make the summer camp site along the creek a mecca for church, lodge and other groups for picnic and camp parties.

Germany Has Flatiron Block.

Hamburg's new skyscraper is built along the lines of the famous Flatiron building in New York. At one corner the structure resembles the prow of a huge ship. Another feature is an elevated sidewalk. Upper floors of the building have promenades on the outside to be used by workers in the offices. The building is said to be the nearest approach in Germany to the American skyscraper.

When Mother is Alarmed!

CONSTIPATION, biliousness, coated tongue, feverish headache, sick stomach—then is the time when mother relies upon Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. "My son had been constipated and bilious since birth. At the age of five he had such an attack of sour stomach and bad breath I had to take him out of kindergarten. It was then I gave him Syrup Pepsin. He improved from the first dose and soon was back to school completely restored and healthier than he had ever been before. It is a great comfort to have a medicine for children in which we can have such implicit confidence." (Name and address sent on request.)

Wins Confidence of Old Folks

Old people are charmed by the gentle, kindly action of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. No pain, gripe or depressing "flushing" of the bowels. Just an easy movement and the fine feeling of restful comfort. There's seldom any real sickness in the home that learns to use Syrup Pepsin at the first sign of coated tongue, fever, biliousness, headache and such troubles due to constipation. Recommended in a million homes. Sold by all druggists.

Don't Squeeze Blackheads —Dissolve Them

Squeezing out blackheads makes large, ugly pores. The safe and sane way to get rid of these blemishes is to dissolve them. Get two ounces of Calonite powder from your drug store, sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth, rub over the blackheads, and every one, big or little, will disappear at once.

THREE AUTO DAMAGE CASES IN CITY COURT

Thomas W. Causey Asks $1,500 for Injuries.

CRASH AFTERMATH

James Weston and Charles Green Also Sue.

Three suits growing out of automobile accidents have been filed in municipal court.

An action for $1,500 damages for personal injuries growing out of a traffic accident, east of the Second Baptist church, Pennsylvania avenue, on December 16, 1926, has been filed by Thomas W. Causey, Pennsylvania avenue, against Clarence Hanna, Dixonville.

While enroute from his home to the street car stop, Causey claims that he was struck by an automobile driven by Hanna. As a result of the accident he alleged that he spent eight days in the City hospital suffering from a concussion of the brain and injuries to his back and legs. He charged that when injured he was receiving $4.34 per day at the Chestertin mill and that his injuries are of a permanent nature.

The suit was filed by Brookes and Thompson, Causey's counsel.

James Weston, Anderson Boulevard, is seeking $100 for damages alleged to have been done to his Chevrolet sedan, when struck by a Ford coupe driven by Lloyd Barnes Maplewood avenue, on the Park Way road between Thompson Park and East End early in the morning of April 6, 1927.

The Weston machine, driven by Leonard Weston, was headed north of the Park Way road, traveling, it is claimed, about 10 miles an hour when the crash occurred. As a result of the collision the running board, fenders, apron, and hub cap were demolished, and the frame and axle bent, it is alleged.

The suit was filed by Cochran and Crawford representing the plaintiff.

Charles Green, through his attorney, Frank E. Grosshans, has brought an action for $75 damages against William H. Finley, 635 Avondale street, for the repairs t his automobile, due to a collision near the corner of Fifth and Jefferson streets, March 22, 1927. Finley, it is claimed, was driving his Oldsmobile in Fifth street at an "excessive rate of speed" when the he crashed into Green's Ford coupe. The radiator, wheels and tires on the plaintiff's car were damaged, it is charged.

William Rodgers, insurance dealer, of 1414 Pennsylvania avenue, has been named defendant in a suit for $321 damages brought by Donald Glass, Wellsville, as the result of an automobile crash near the Fisher bakery, Pennsylvania avenue, November 19, 1926.

In his petition, filed by Attorney W. A. O'Grady, Wellsville, Glass claims that he was driving in a westerly direction on Pennsylvania avenue about 6:30 p. m. when Rodgers, alleged to have been traveling on the left side of the road, headed in an apposite direction, crashed into him. Rodgers is represented by Attorney W. H. Vodrey.

Japan Sends First Woman to Study Singing Abroad

TOKIO—Miss Yoshiko Nagasaka has been selected by the Ministry of Education as the first Japanese woman vocalist to be sent abroad to study music at the expense of the government. She will leave Tokio in April for Italy where she will study for three years.

Miss Nagasaka is a graduate of the Tokio Academy of Music and has been an associate professor at that institution. The government has at different times, sent pianists and violinist to study abroad but no woman vocalist has been sent hitherto.

Dinner Stories.

It was a keen, frosty morning, and the stout elderly gentleman on his way to catch the early train stepped on the slippery footpath on the street and immediately fell, and was propelled by his weight down the steep incline. A young lady who was coming out of her gate was overturned by the onrushing body, sat upon him, and was carried toward the foot of the hill. As they reached the railway station at the end of their rapid journey, the gentleman panted, "You get off, miss I stop here."

What More Could Be Said?

Johnny had been the guest of honor the day before at a party to which his little chum Tommy had not been invited. After hearing all about it, Tommy said to Johnny: "Have a good time, Johnny?"

"Did I!" answered Johnny. "Why, I'm not hungry yet!"

Out of Date.

"D'you think it's worth the trouble of teaching her — hardly anybody walks much nowadays."

She didn't know what was wrong!

No one had ever told her the reason people avoided her was simply her catarrhal breath. People don't speak of that. They just keep away.

Yet, if she had only known Hall's Catarrh Medicine she might have been saved years of loneliness. For Hall's brings relief—not only from the unpleasant effects of catarrh, but from catarrhal headaches—the throbbing, stuffed-up nasal and throat passages—catarrhal deafness.

If you are a sufferer, get Hall's Catarrh Medicine today. Then note the improvement. Ask your druggist. Price 85c. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Mother! Now You Know How To Help Your Puny, Weak Child

It's Your Duty to Aid Him To Grow Strong, Active and Sound in Body and Mind.

That little boy or girl of yours—that doesn't weigh enough — that isn't strong—has no appetite—lacks vigor and is perhaps backward, listless and timid.

What are you going to do with him?

Have you ever heard of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets sugar coated and as easy for ailing children to take as candy?

Every druggist in America sells them—60 tablets, 60 cents—and the supremely good combination of upbuilding agents surely does help the sickly, run down, puny, frail little ones.

No need to give him any more nasty Cod Liver Oil—McCoy's Tablets, rich in vitamines, are made to take the place of that good but evil smelling, stomach upsetting medicine, and they surely do.

Try them as directed for 30 days, mother; and if at the end of that time you are not delighted with the improvement in your dear little one, get your money back.

You can get them at any druggist and remember, too, they are fine for thin, run down, underweight men and women who need more flesh, strength, vigor and vitality. Demand McCoy's—the original and genuine.

We recommend this paint because

WE made this test ourselves. Deliberately soiling a wall painted with Velour finish, we cleaned it with soap, water and a sponge. After the wall had thoroughly dried, we looked it over carefully and there wasn't a trace of the marks left. That's why we are so enthusiastic about Devoe Velour Finish.

Complete Organization of City Recreation Baseball Loop

14 SOFT BALL OUTFITS JOIN NEW CIRCUIT

Berths are Available for Two Additional Teams.

Organization of the Review-Tribune's City Recreation baseball league was completed last night at a meeting of team representatives at the newspaper office.

Fourteen clubs from all parts of the city, as well as several from Newell formally obtained membership in the organization, and, as a result of the large number of teams, it was decided by the respective managers to split the whole into two divisions, or two eight-team circuits.

This, necessarily, will mean that two more clubs will be added to the official roster.

While one Chester combine and one more East End team from the Laughlin plant there are considering affiliating with the double circuit, the first two applications for the vacant berths probably will be accepted by the league.

Membership now includes:

Northside, Printers, Heinies, Brian Clothiers, Smith News, Y. M. C. A., Homer Laughlin, Bulger Drugs, National Furniture, Laughlin Acmes, Ohio Power, K. T. K. Decorators, Roselawns and Laughlin, East End.

The league season will be launched as soon as possible, following the filing of eligibility lists, entry fees, and the drafting of rules by the rules committee.

Although the game will be made to conform as much as possible to the national pastime, several changes will be necessary because of the difference in equipment and style of play.

Principally, these changes will shorten the distance of the base lines from 90 to approximately 60 feet, and the pitcher's lane to approximately 30 or 35 feet. With the exception of minor details, the game, in other respects, is much similar to organized baseball.

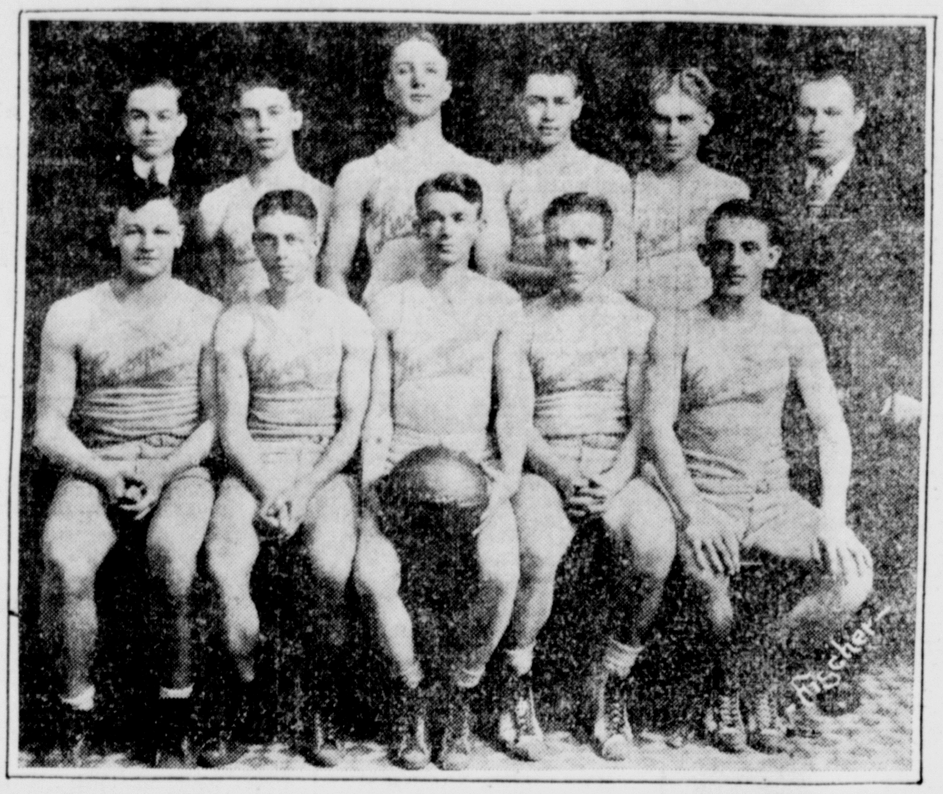

The league elected F. J. Wise as president and T. F. Scheffer as secretary- treasurer.

T. F. Scheffer, N. F. Lorah, Joseph Dickey and Floyd Beckett were appointed to the rules committee. This committee will meet Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. to draft regulations for the season.

On next Wednesday night, the league representatives will convene again at the newspaper office to file eligibility lists, which probably will be limited to 15 players each, submit entry fees and complete other arrangements prior to actual play.

The Yankees booted the Mackmen again, 10 to 4. Simmons got four hits for the losers, while Koenig collected five safeties and fielded brilliantly for the winners.

High Squad to Lose Four Regulars; Win 14, Drop Nine During 1926-27 Season

Sitting—Dick Larkins, Francis McConville, James Hamilton (captain), Elmer English (captain-elect 1927-28.)

Standing—Tommy Maley, student manager, Norman Ankrim, A. Todd, Bloor, Wildblood, Coach N. F. Lorah.

WITH six out of the above group of nine high school basketballers graduating this spring, it appears that next year's cage selections will have to be made largely from the Reserves.

Center English, captain-elect of the 1927-28 combine, is the only regular who will report for duty next fall. Captain Jim Hamilton of this year's squad, Forward Bill McKeever, Center Todd, Guard Francis McConville, Guard Dick Larkins, and Forward Norman Ankrim will don the Blue and White no more.

Wildblood, who played a great many games at forward this year, will be one of next year's best bets. Bloor, of this year's squad, also will be back, as well as Lewis.

In addition, from the Reserves there will be Harry McConville and Dyke to help out "Elmo" English, and Witherow, Feit and Small as forwards. The guards may be culled from among Menge, Deems, Skidmore, Crawford, Bailey and Nease.

Seven of these lads, along with Lindell, another promising chap, comprised the Buckeyes' team that won intermediate honors in the recent tourney at Washington, Pa. The outfit included Wildblood, Witherow, McConville, Skidmore, Feit, Small and Bailey.

Win 14 Out of 23.

Coach N. F. Lorah's squad copped 14 games out of the 23 played during the season and won their only clash outside of regular high school ranks, with the Elks, or a total of 15 out of 24.

Three road games, to start off the season, proved rather disastrous, the locals dropping games to Rocky River, John Marshall and Canton McKinley, although, in all justice, it must be said they were far from peak strength, several members of the squad being unable to make the Cleveland journey.

They complied a total of 768 points or 33.4 points per game, against 602, or 26.17 points per games, by their opponents.

E. L. H. S. 18, John Marshall 19*.
E. L. H. S. 24, Rocky River 43*
E. L. H. S. 26, Canton McKinley 36*.

OTTAWA HOCKEY SQUAD CHAMPS

OTTAWA, Ont., April 14.—The Ottawa Senators are the new champions of the Hockey world. They clinched the Stanley cup by defeating the Boston Bruins, 3 to 1, for the second time here last night in the final game of the series. Denneny made two goals while the Bruins were unable to solve Ottawa's defense until the last minute of play.

A general fistic battle, in which members of the Bruins were prominent, occurred near the end of the game, and after the contest was over Referee Jerry Laflamme was knocked down.

Noted Cue Expert To Perform Here

William Greenleaf in Action at American Parlors.

Proprietors of the American Billiard parlors today announced completion of arrangements for the appearance of William Greenleaf, champion pocket billiard performer of the middle west, in a series of fancy shot exhibitions and special matches today and Friday.

Greenleaf will hold two sessions daily, beginning at 3 and 9 p. m.

He will demonstrate many of the cue tricks that have won him fame all over teh country and will take on several local cue stars in 75-point matches.

He is a cousin of Ralph Greenleaf.

TILDEN 'DONE' SAY EXPERTS

Don't Expect Bill to Reach Wimbledon Finals.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 14.—William T. Tilden, the modern Diogenes with a lantern for a jaw, is all washed up and ready for the sexton, according to pained observers who have watched our Will leaping heavily from court to court in the south. One of them claimed today that Will wouldn't even reach the finals at Wimbledon, provided he was sufficiently ill advised as to go through with his trip abroad; another predicted that the young man's entire comeback program was out like an ex-window.

These are dubious reports, indeed, and their most interesting feature is that you are not compelled to believe them. After observing Will fixedly over a period of years, the writer finds that great satisfaction may be derived from taking nothing for granted about him.

However, if one cares to accept the reports at face value, one also must accept the fact that the Davis cup really is going on a long journey this time and that probably a Frenchman will hold our national championship in singles for the second successive year. Unless Tilden returns as the old dominant personality, the downfall of the American dynasty in lawn tennis is inevitable.

Richards has turned square; Johnston no longer can give you one hundred per cent at will; William is an in-and-outer but usually out when you want him and the others are just young fellows trying to get along.

Favor Tilden's Whims.

The tennis association, conscious of the fact that, without Tilden, American prestige must be prepared to absorb one on the Van Dyke, has put in an active winter placating Will's every whim, even to his flair for the drama. Have the boys been wasting their kind attention, of which they have none too much?

Advices from practical tennis men answer in the affirmative. They say that Will's demountable knee, which dismounted gracefully in the last Davis cup matches and failed to seek the saddle again during the ensuing national championships, is getting no better rapidly. They say that, in consequence, Will no longer is the sprightly buck and wing performer of other years; that, in fact, he is quite slow. In conclusion, they claim that his confidence has been impaired.

The Robins outbatted the Braves, but lost, 4 to 2, because of stupid base running. Brooklyn also broke out into a rash of errors at inopportune moments.

Chicago May Be Site For Next Big Battle

Financial Possibilities There Discussed by Tunney's Pilot and Promoter Jim Mullen.

After assuring Gibson it would be possible to finance the affair in Chicago, either at Soldiers' field or in one of the baseball parks Mullen was told to go ahead and "sign up the best opponent in the heavyweight division.

Gibson said the recent ruling of the New York commission which voids all of Tunney's contracts with Tex Rickard, makes the champion a free agent. After the conference with Mullen, Gibson said:

"A heavyweight championship bout for Chicago would be a big boost for boxing in the middle west. I am sure Tunney will agree to defend his title any place where his price is met."

ZANGE REFEREE IN CAGE TILT

Will Work Elks-Midland Benefit Clash Friday.

Charles J. "Dim" Zange, old Central league referee, will handle the main bout between the Midland Collegians and the East Liverpool Elks tomorrow night in the high school auditorium.

The clash, the final basketball battle of the season here, will be a benefit for Frank Neilson, pottery worker, who is a patient in the city hospital as a result of injuries sustained some time ago in a mine accident.

A fund is being raised throughout the city for Neilson and his family and the entire proceeds of Friday's game will be added to it.

Zange has not worked any basketball games for a long while, but nevertheless knows the game from stem to stern.

With Jess Haines of the Cardinals yielding only two hits, the Cubs curled up and died on the small end of a 5 to 0 score. Thevenow led the attack on Blake with three hits.

HOSKINSON WINS PITCHERS' DUEL

Hoskinson and Simcox staged a pretty mound duel yesterday afternoon at the Chester school ball lot as the Straight Angles defeated the Centrals, 5 to 4, in a league contest.

Bartley was on the receiving end of Hoskinson's slants, while Hindes backstopped for Simcox.

Buick

A 37-30

How far will your car go before the miles begin to tell?

If you buy a new car every 10,000 miles or so, almost any car will give you satisfactory results.

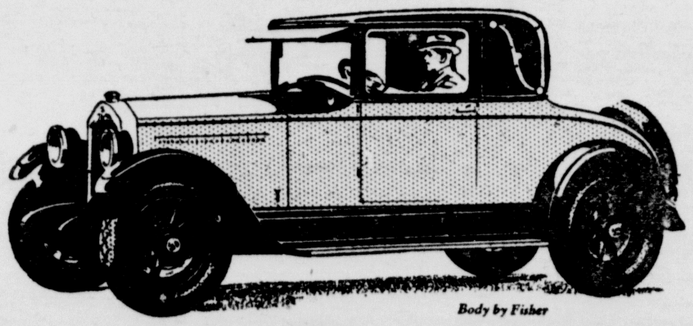

But if you want the same fine service on through the second, third and the many following tens of thousands of miles, buy a Buick!

Accurate tests at the great Proving Ground of General Motors, where all cars are driven and examined, show Buick's sturdy structure and powerful Valve-in-Head Engine still gaining in efficiency at the point in miles where other cars are distinctly on the down grade.

The unremitting care in Buick design, the constant tests at the Proving Ground, the unceasing quest for better performance—these are responsible for Buick's superior efficiency.

Savings resulting from enormous volume production make possible this extensive research as well as the superior construction for which Buick is internationally famous. Buick cars are built for greater satisfaction to their owners.

Buy a Buick for years of exceptional service.

NOTICE TO OWNERS OF PROPERTY TO BE ASSESSED.

The following named owners of the property, bounding and abutting upon the herein designated proposed improvement, and the owners of the property hereinafter designated, are hereby notified that on the 17th day of March, 1927, the Council of the City of East Liverpolo, Ohio, duly passed Resolution Number 403, to improve Thompson Avenue from where the paving now ends on Thompson Avenue across Watson Avenue and on through the Bradshaw Property to the improvement on Vine Street by grading and paving the same with brick on a concrete foundation or with sheet asphalt on a concrete foundation or with brick on a slag foundation or re-enforced concrete or concrete to the full width of the same and by constructing therein all necessary concrete curbs, retaining walls, sewers, ditches, bridges, gutters and drains and doing everything else necessary or essential to make and complete said improvement, as provided for and indicated in and on the general plans, specifications, estimates and profiles, heretofore adopted and approved for improvement of said street, bounded and described as set forth in said Resolution Number 403, and in accordance with said plans, specifications, estimates and profiles, on file in the Office of the Director of Public Service.

That the whole cost of said improvement, less one-fiftieth thereof and the cost of intersections, shall be assessed by the foot frontage upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit:

All lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said proposed improvement, which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specially benefitted by said improvement; and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of the preliminary and other surveys, and of printing and publishing the notices, resolutions and ordinances required, and the serving of said notices, the cost of construction, together with interest on bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures.

By return made by the Assistant Clerk of Council, said owners not being residents of Columbiana County or not having been found and said properties are as follows:

You think perhaps you are suffocating.

You are dizzy and pray for quick relief—what's to be done?

Just one tablespoonful of Dare's Mentha Pepsin and speedily the gas disappears, the pressing on the heart ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally.

Oh! What blessed relief; but why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have them at all?

With this wonderful medicine you can overcome dyspepsia, or that condition of faulty digestion that keeps the stomach in constant rebellion and one bottle will prove it.

Over 6000 bottles sold in one small New Jersey town last year—and the best druggists the country over concede that its phenomenal sales are due to the fact that most cases are promptly relieved. Ask for Dare's Mentha Pepsin, a pleasant to take health-building stomach elixir that all druggists and regular pharmacists anywhere in America guarantee.

In the manufacture of explosives wood flour has its greatest usefulness as a constituent of dynamite. Nitroglycerine in its natural state is extremely sensitive to shock and dangerous to handle, and is, therefore barred from transportation on common carriers. But when diluted with carbon carriers such as wood flour, and oxygen carriers such as sodium and ammonium nitrate, this sensitiveness is greatly reduced, and the mixtures are known as dynamite.

Miners, quarrymen, and other users have learned to associate light color with fresh, high-quality dynamite, hence the wood flour used in the manufacture thereof must be light in color. This is unfortunate, it is pointed out, because many species of slightly colored woods could be made into equally good wood flour. The demand for light colored dynamite is cited as an example of custom and prejudice overruling facts.

One of the new industries requiring wood flour as a raw material is the manufacture of Bakelite, from which pipe bits and sparkling amber-like beads are made. Bakelite is also used in radio dials, cementing material around incandescent electric bulbs, and automobile ignition blocks, radiator caps, level balls, etc.

Wood flour is increasingly used in the making of oatmeal wall papers, and the colored flour is likewise used in the manufacture of velvel wall papers.

Chief among the other uses of the flour is its application as a filler in the manufacture of composite materials which vary widely in their consistency and properties. The more important application of these synthetic compounds includes their manufacture into unbreakable dolls—which have saved a heartbreak for many a little mother — brush backs, candlesticks, checkers, bowling balls, toys, graphophone records and countless other objects.

Various kinds of grinding machines are being perfected in this country for the manufacture of wood flour, and there seems no valid reason for American mill operators to waste their waste, so to speak, when it can be turned to profit.

Even Rice Hurt Stomach, Says Girl

"I had indigestion so bad that I was afraid to eat anything. Couldn't even eat rice. Adlerika has done me so much good that now I eat anything. I have taken a lot of medicine but Adlerika is the best."—Ardenia Howard.

Adlerika gives the system a REAL cleansing and brings out old poisons which may have caused trouble for a long time. Unlike most medicines, it acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and takes away that full, bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily, Adlerika brings out much additional poison which you never thought was in your system and which caused sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At druggists. In East Liverpool at the Economy Drug Store and other druggists.
